AIM SENATE QUIZ AT ILLINOIS

30,000 ATTEND CIVIC WELCOME TO CARDINALS

Governor and Mayor Greet Prelates.

The papal legate and the group of seven other cardinals, now in New York, will leave there in a special train at 11 o'clock this morning (eastern daylight saving time) and arriving in Chicago at 10:50 a. m. (Chicago daylight saving time) tomorrow morning at the Michigan Central Park Row station.

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—After being acclaimed by the great crowds along their route from St. Patrick's cathedral to the city hall, John Cardinal Bonzano, the papal legate to the Eucharistic congress, and six other visiting members of the Sacred college, were formally welcomed at the city hall at noon today by Gov. Smith and Mayor Walker on behalf of the people of the state and city.

Under a canopy of intertwined American and papal flags covering the great throne in the aldermanic chamber, the papal legate was greeted ceremoniously by the heads of the city and state. Mayor Walker handed the legate a scroll engrossed with the official welcome of New York City. Both the mayor and the governor made addresses of welcome to which Cardinal Bonzano responded.

Mammoth Crowd in Park.

A throng of 30,000, said to the largest that ever gathered in City Hall park, saw the arrival of Cardinal Bonzano, the six other visiting princes of the church and Cardinal Hayes of New York. The 165th regiment, the old 69th, stood at attention opposite the city hall steps. Thousands in the crowd stood with bared heads as the scarlet-robed churchmen left their automobiles. Followed by bishops and monsignori, the cardinals made a brilliant procession as they moved up the broad steps of the city hall.

Proceeding up the circular staircase in the interior of the building, the cardinals were led by Grover Whalen, chairman of the mayor's committee of welcome, to the governor's room. Here Gov. Smith and his military staff in full uniform were waiting their arrival. Gov. Smith genuflected at the approach of Cardinal Bonzano and kissed his Episcopal ring. He greeted Cardinal Hayes in the same way.

Arrivals of Cardinals.

Immediately after the brief reception in the governor's room, the public reception took place in the aldermanic chamber. Gov. Smith and Mayor Walker took positions on the dais beneath American flags and yellow and white banners bearing the pontifical arms and the keys of St. Peter.

The crowd which jammed the aldermanic chamber stood up when the cardinals entered. Cardinal Bonzano, accompanied by Cardinal Hayes, walked down the aisle, followed by the six other cardinals, many other dignitaries of the church and prominent New Yorkers, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, of the mayor's reception committee.

Cardinal Bonzano was escorted to the presiding officer's throne of the aldermanic chamber and seated there, while the governor and the mayor stood on either side of him.

Pope's Legate Introduced.

Cardinal Hayes then turned toward Cardinal Bonzano and said:

"Your eminence, it is my great honor and privilege to be called upon to present to you his honor the mayor of the city of New York, Mr. Walker."

The mayor bent his knee and kissed the cardinal's ring.

Then, facing Gov. Smith, Cardinal Hayes again introducing the governor remarked:

"It is a similar privilege on my part on this very glorious occasion to present his excellency, the governor of the state of New York."

Mayor Walker then delivered an address of greeting, following a written copy which he held in his hand.

The Mayor's Address.

"The most cosmopolitan city in the world," he said, "welcomes you, the representative of the most cosmopolitan institution in the history of the human race. The Catholics of the city naturally extend a greeting which is born of their devotion to the religion which they cherish.

"Those of other beliefs, I know, are equally cordial not only because of their regard for their fellow citizens of the Catholic faith, not only because of their respect for that great institution which has so influenced the civilization of the world, but because they see in the Catholic church today the persistent enemy of false philosophies and a mighty force to elevate the standards of human conduct."

Mayor Walker, usually so self-assured, seemed nervous as he made his

Spectators Aghast at Bald Phrases.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Sycamore, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—Dorothy Westervelt took the stand in Judge William J. Fulton's court this afternoon and in one high-keyed, fervent burst of frankness, the like of which doesn't often come from the lips of a woman witness, told her tragic story of what happened the night of April 11, when Leonard Rich, Stanley Hurt, and Emerson Wilson, her fellow students at the Northern Illinois Teachers' college at De Kalb, attacked her.

She didn't shed a tear. She didn't back away from a word. From out of the mouth of the young co-ed came phrases that stilled the listeners—a story of terrible explicitness.

Blurts Out Her Story.

A pale girl, fumbling her way unsteadily into the courtroom, Dorothy fidgeted about in her chair until State's Attorney Cassius Poust, in charge of the prosecution of the three youths, who have already pleaded guilty, asked her to tell her story. Then she blurted out everything in a verbal spasm that lasted two hours.

Later, during half an hour's cross-examination by Attorney Harvey Gunsel of defense counsel, the twenty-one year old school girl flared up and screamed out her denials of any concessions toward the youths' preliminary overtures when they first started their automobile ride that Sunday evening.

The story begins quietly enough, with Dorothy and her chum, Lillian Gray, accepting an invitation to ride with the three boys to the little town of Malta, where Hurt wanted to get some clothes. On the way out, Dorothy recalled, Hurt drove, and she, squeezed into the back seat of the Ford sedan with three others, was obliged to take a seat on Rich's lap.

Says Rich Kissed Her.

He kissed her several times, but she rebuked him. Lillian, too, she said, told Emerson to behave himself. And then the talk turned to school subjects and a discussion of the relative greatness of Roosevelt and Wilson.

The boys drove back to De Kalb, took Lillian home, and then, instead of turning east to Dorothy's home, turned west and began to drive fast.

"Hurt was driving," Dorothy said, "and when he had gone about a mile north of town, near the piano factory and a railroad track, he stopped the car and he and Wilson got out. Rich told me they were going back to town. Then Rich began to act queerly toward me."

Backed Away from Words.

It was then, for the first time, that Dorothy said, loud and clear, the words she declared Rich said to her so many times that night. The crowd in the court room seemed to back away from the words and the girl went on.

"When Rich told me that I said, 'How dare you?' and I kicked, but he kept on."

The struggle—and it was a terrific one the girl declared—lasted some time, when Rich climbed out of the car and Hurt climbed in.

And always, she said, there was the everlasting refrain of shocking language. She repeated it word for word.

Last of three came Emerson. As she kicked and struck at Emerson, she told the court, he warned her that if she hurt his sore finger he'd "get her."

"Accidentally," said Dorothy, "I hit his finger, and he struck me in the jaw, on the nose, and in the eye."

About this time Emerson yelled to her, she says, "Shut up; there's a car coming. Remember, you're only one girl with us three fellows."

Pleaded with Youths.

The girl's voice came as near to a break as it did all afternoon as she told how she said pleadingly to the three, "Don't you realize I am a woman?" and they answered her brutally.

The approaching car, Dorothy exclaimed, caused the trio to run their auto down a side road and again park.

Dorothy leaned forward in her seat as she flung reticence aside and told of the second stop.

"First they tried to suffocate me, keeping my head down so I couldn't scream. Hurt choked me, I was just dazed. I fumbled with the latch on the front door and dragged myself out.

France Seeks 'War' Cabinet; Briand Quits

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, June 15.—France is again without a government. The renewed fall of the franc, which caused the resignation of Finance Minister Raoul Peret, resulted in the entire cabinet quitting this evening.

President Doumergue accepted Premier Aristide Briand's sudden determination to abandon power and leave his country without a helmsman while the nation faces a crucial battle to save its currency. The differences between the government and the Bank of France are said to be responsible for the cabinet's decision to abandon power.

In the chamber of deputies, Premier Briand stated his willingness to continue and merely replace M. Peret with a new finance minister. Later, during the cabinet council, however, divergencies of opinion over the measures to save the financial situation manifested themselves and the premier decided to quit.

Poincare Refuses Job.

Raymond Poincare called on President Doumergue this afternoon, but refused to accept the premiership or any cabinet office. Edouard Herriot, Joseph Caillaux and M. Tardieu also were mention for premier. The majority of the leaders are urging the formation of a national union cabinet, such as was formed during war times. They insist this is the only way the nation can weather the financial crisis and avert complete bankruptcy of the franc.

The final refusal of the Bank of France to use its gold reserve to support the franc artificially on world exchange markets was the cause of the resignation of Raoul Peret.

"Employing the country's precious bullion to sustain the franc by buying up francs wherever they are offered on behalf of the government is like treating a suffering patient merely with injections of morphine," said a prominent financier, explaining why M. Robineau, governor of the bank, declined to gamble with the nation's 3,500,000,000 gold franc [about $700,000,000] reserve.

The franc touched 37 to the dollar this morning, equaling the record low level of May 19, when the government rallied it to 29 to the dollar by utilising a portion of the Morgan $100,000,000 loan. Before the war the franc was worth 20 cents.

Briand Breathing Spell.

The cabinet shakeup was expected to give Premier Briand a forty-eight hours' breathing space. He insisted before the chamber of deputies this afternoon that he could not accept an interpellation on the fiscal policy until the reorganized government obtained a new finance minister. Discussion was postponed by a vote of 309 to 195.

"No measure or no man is able to perform a miracle to reëstablish immediately the financial situation of the country," Mr. Briand said. "Some demand that the government form a national defense cabinet with all parties represented, but Brussels has been unable to maintain the Belgian franc's value. Italy possesses a man of energy, but despite that and the expenditure of several billions, the lire is no stronger than the franc."

Speeder Dies in Auto Crash On the Drive

Speeding at 60 miles an hour on Lake Shore drive at Elm street to escape pursuing motorcycle policemen shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, one man was fatally injured and another seriously hurt when their car struck the curb and crashed into a tree.

The dead man is Walter S. Arndt, 613 Wrightwood avenue, a salesman for the Electric Rotor Machine company, 3800 West Lake street, and the injured man is Benjamin C. Jones, general salesmanager for the same concern.

They were sighted as they went over the Michigan avenue bridge at a high rate of speed by Lincoln Park Motorcycle Policemen Harry Barth and Arthur Wingren. The policemen gave chase, and the fugitives put on more speed, their machine zigzagging across the boulevard as they flew along. A sudden lurch of the machine caused it to hit the curb at Elm street and then strike the tree.

Arndt's head was crushed and Jones suffered severe injuries about the head, face, and body. Both men were taken to the Henrotin hospital, where Arndt died within a few minutes.

According to the police both men had been drinking heavily.

MRS. HUNTINGTON ESTATE VALUED AT $35,000,000

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—The estate of Mrs. Arabella D. Huntington, widow of Collis P. Huntington, railroad builder, and subsequently the wife of his nephew, Henry E. Huntington, was estimated today at $35,000,000.

Because Mrs. Huntington was a resident of California and lived in New York only a few months each year, most of the estate is taxable there, and the exact value was not made known. The value of the New York estate was placed at $5,015,938.

The property here included jewelry worth $1,274,904, the most elaborate collection appraised in New York in recent years; paintings and art objects worth $764,716, and real estate valued at $2,938,156.

While the Metropolitan Museum of Art does not appear as a large beneficiary under the will, the museum, under the Collis P. Huntington will, got his collection of about thirty old masters.

Society Woman Ends Her Life by Hanging

Mary A. Vilas, Despondent, Found by Maid

Mrs. Mary Armstrong Vilas, whose charges in a divorce bill which she filed in 1921 against her wealthy husband, Royal C. Vilas, created a sensation in Chicago society, committed suicide yesterday by hanging herself with a pair of silk stockings in a closet at her home, 230 East Delaware place.

Since her divorce, which was not contested by Vilas, she had lived with her son and daughter. She was 40 years old and was formerly Mary Armstrong of Baltimore, Md.

Dr. H. Edward Sauer, 25 East Washington street, who was summoned soon after a maid found the body, said that Mrs. Vilas had been under treatment for heart disease and that he believed she had become despondent over her condition.

Daughter at Home.

The maid, Helen Steiner, discovered the body at 4 p. m. Mrs. Vilas had twisted the stockings together and tied one end of the improvised rope to a cross pole.

Virginia Vilas, her 17 year old daughter, was at home and the maid called her. Miss Vilas notified Dr. Sauer. The son, Royal C. Vilas II., 20 years old, is a student at the Hill school, Pottstown, Pa. He was notified of the death and started to Chicago last night.

For years Mrs. Vilas was prominent in charity work, being one of the sponsors for the affairs of the Home for Crippled Children.

Had Not Seen Her Recently.

The former husband, Mr. Vilas, is head of the Pyle National company, manufacturers of machinery. He said last night that he had not seen his former wife for three years, and knew of no reason why she should kill herself.

"I have never had occasion to speak to her," he added. "Her alimony was paid her through my attorney."

In the divorce suit Mrs. Vilas charged that she and her children, at the suggestion of the husband, took a trip out of the city, and that when they returned they found Vilas was not at home. Investigation, she declared, showed he was dwelling with a woman known as Mrs. R. C. Vance on Pine Grove avenue.

Husband Is Remarried.

The alimony granted her included $15,000 in cash, a yearly payment of $[illegible],000 for the support of the children and a life insurance policy for $150,000. Mr. Vilas, who now resides at 3730 Sheridan road, was married a year after the divorce, to Mrs. Edna Vance of Houston, Tex., in 1922.

DRYS LEAD IN TWO PRIMARIES IN NEW JERSEY

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—Drys were in the lead early today in the returns in the two outstanding wet and dry battles in the New Jersey primary election held yesterday, both of them contests among Republicans. The vote was unusually light, and because of the slowness of the returns the results of many contests are not yet known with certainty.

In the Sixth congressional district Representative Randolph Perkins, a dry candidate for renomination, led B. Duncan McClave, the wet candidate, by a majority of more than 1,200 in 93 out of the 315 precincts. The vote from these districts was: Perkins, 5,270; McClave, 4,019.

McClave made his campaign on a platform of modification of the Volstead act and the contest was termed "a real referendum" by the Anti-Saloon League.

In Union county Assemblyman Herber J. Pasce, on a modification platform, was running behind Senator Arthur Pierson, a dry, for the Republican nomination for state senator. The vote from 62 out of 173 precincts stood: Pasce, 1,987; Pierson, 2,666.

A wet victory seemed likely in the contest for the Democratic nomination for state senator in Monmouth county, where Mrs. Adeline Lawrence had a big lead in precincts reporting.

Actress in Roadster Hits House and Kills 2

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—Alice Kennedy, 22 years old, an actress, found herself alone in a fast roadster tonight, thought she would step on it and have a spin, and when the machine smashed against a house two children were dead and two others were severely injured. She is held on charges of homicide, felonious assault and driving without a license.

HEAR M'KINLEY-SMITH BATTLE COST A MILLION

Corporation Heads to Be Called.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Sensations that, it is alleged, will rock the state and the Republican party locally and nationally are expected to be the result of the forthcoming investigation of the Republican primary in Illinois. This was a forecast today, as the senate committee neared the end of its inquiry into the Pennsylvania primary.

It is reported that big campaign funds, almost comparable to those used in Pennsylvania, were employed in the Republican primary election in Illinois on April 13, in which Col. Frank L. Smith defeated Senator William B. McKinley for the nomination for United States senator.

More Than $1,000,000 Spent.

Senator McKinley expended between $300,000 and $400,000, according to reliable information, while, in behalf of Col. Smith, the expenditures are said to aggregate between $700,000 and $800,000.

The sources of the funds used to put Smith over are to be the subject of special scrutiny by the investigating committee in consequence of rumors that large contributions to the Smith war chest were made by persons connected with public service corporations over which the Illinois commerce commission, of which Mr. Smith is chairman, has jurisdiction and exercises vast powers of regulation.

Former Congressman Allen Moore, Republican national committeeman for Illinois and manager of the Smith campaign, will be called on by the senate inquisitors to disclose all sources of the money collected and expended.

Will Call Insull.

Samuel Insull, the Chicago public utility magnate, also is to be called for examination as to his knowledge, if any, of contributions made to the Smith campaign by persons identified with public service companies. Others closely connected with Mr. Insull who are to be examined include Samuel Ettelson, corporation counsel of Chicago under the William Hale Thompson administration, and Dan Schuyler, Ettelson's law partner.

Inquiry along this line may extend to influences which are reported to have been exerted for Smith in connection with rulings, authorizations and other official action of the Illinois commerce commission, sought not only by Chicago but by downstate utilities.

Corporations Helped Smith.

Public service corporation officials with applications pending for approval of security issues by the commission, are alleged to have rendered great assistance to the Smith canvass. In some instances, according to the information, action on such applications and other rulings sought, was held up until after the primary.

Smith's huge campaign fund is reported to have swung Chicago to him in the last few days of the primary campaign. The Crowe-Barrett organization had agreed to support McKinley, but the leaders of that group were unable to deliver after the distribution of the Smith fund began. All the big and little leaders connected with this phase of the affair will be interviewed by the investigating committee.

Spent His Own Money.

Senator McKinley furnished all of the fund expended in his behalf. In addition to his own expenditures, Mrs. Medill McCormick furnished $15,000 for the publication of matter in foreign language newspapers, and Albert Lasker footed the bill for advertising costing between $10,000 and $15,000. The McKinley campaign in Chicago is said to have cost $100,000.

The investigating committee will begin the Illinois investigation as soon as it finishes with Pennsylvania, which will be the end of this week or the beginning of next week. The plan is to hear witnesses here until congress adjourns, after which the committee will go to Chicago for extended hearings.

Tells Inside Story.

Harry A. Mackey, city treasurer of Philadelphia, chairman of the Vare campaign committee and practical politician, who admits he is more interested in votes than in expenditures, delivered himself of the inside story of the Pennsylvania senatorial primaries to the committee this afternoon—a story which plainly indicated to the senators they have only scratched the surface of Pennsylvania primary corruption and resulted in the prompt issuance of a new batch of subpoenas.

One of the subpoenas went forth to summon State Senator "Pat" Joyce of Pittston, Pa., who Mackey bluntly charged was an eleventh hour convert to the Pepper candidacy when $269,000 in fines imposed on him as the owner of the Howell-King brewery for liquor law violations were compromised for $10,000.

Blames It on Dry Law.

Waving aside every suggestion that the nearly $2,000,000 Pennsylvania primary fight was one for supremacy in the state Republican organization, Mackey placed it squarely on the wet and dry issue, asserting that Senator Pepper's fight for renomination was backed solidly by "bootleggers, brewers, and any one who is thriving under this detestable Volstead law." Vare, on the other hand, whose platform was dripping wet, had the support of "the decent people who want this law modified."

Mackey, a voluble and willing witness with a bluntness of speech which at times convulsed the senators as well as the spectators, appeared in marked contrast to Thomas F. Watson, secretary-treasurer of the Vare organization, who wriggled and squirmed under a tongue lashing from Senator Reed but refused to admit where he got the $25,000 he personally contributed to Vare's campaign funds.

Reed Was Puzzled.

Senator Reed, puzzled to know how Watson, who asserted his coal business brought him gross receipts of less than $300 daily at best, could contribute $25,000 in cash, as has been testified, finally stalked out of the hearing room in great anger when Watson insisted, "I don't know where it came from."

During the morning Representative Vare concluded his testimony with the admission that he had indorsed a $100,000 note signed by Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia real estate man, and that the proceeds had been thrown into the Vare-Beidelman campaign.

Greenfield, one of the earlier witnesses, who said that the extent of his connection with the Vare campaign was the collection of about $50,000, will be recalled.

Says Pepper Wabbled.

Mackey kept the senators in an uproar as he described in his unvarnished way the efforts of Senator Pepper to play both ends against the middle in the wet and dry fight forced upon him and Gov. Pinchot, the other aspirant for the nomination, by Vare.

"Pepper, wet in the west and dry in the east," said Mackey, "wabbled from side to side, trying to dip a little from each and he wabbled himself to defeat."

"Why, if you analyze Pepper's vote," he declared, in answer to Senator Goff's query as to how the wets and drys actually voted in the primary, "and take away the wet votes he got, you won't have anything left but a few highbrows and social climbers. Pepper was a distinguished senator and a good lawyer, but he didn't fit into the situation."

"One day," Mackey went on by way of illustration, "the good sisters,—the W. C. T. U. and others like that—got Pepper up against a wall and said, 'Where do you stand?' and he answered, 'If the state is dry, I'm dry.' That didn't satisfy the ministers and they got him up against another wall and asked him the same question. 'I stand for the Volstead law,' was the answer they got.

"And then Pepper wrote a letter to the Hotel Men's association and I've got an original copy, asking their support on the ground that he would be a better type for them than 'a radical wet or a hysterical dry.' Pepper's slogan was 'Be wet, but be wise and vote for George Wharton Pepper.'"

The Padlocked Brewery.

Qualifying his assertion that the newspapers and the liquor interests were behind Pepper, "and I know why the liquor interests were behind him," Mackey told the story of "Pat" Joyce's padlocked brewery and the remitted fines as he told it time and time again during the campaign.

"I told the voters that there were 269,000 reasons why Pat Joyce was going along for Pepper," said Mackey. "His brewery had been padlocked and there were fines of $269,000 hanging over his head. After he declared for Pepper there was a stir and the fines, I am told by the district attorney of Luzerne county, were reduced to $10,000."

Vare Just an Incident.

Getting down to the practical operations of the Philadelphia city Republican organization, with its horde of workers and watchers in behalf of the Vare-Beidleman ticket, Mackey declared that Vare's candidacy was a mere incident in the whole campaign and that every cent of $596,000 or more that was spent for the ticket would have been spent if the senatorship had not been at stake at all.

"With all due respect to the senate," declared Mackey, "the Republican organization in Philadelphia can live without a senator—it has for years—but it can't get along without ward committeemen and they are elected directly by the people. You can't identify a single dollar that was spent for Billy Vare alone; we would have spent the same amount to elect the 2,984 committeemen."

Watchers Are Workers.

"We get out the full Republican vote at every election, even if it is only a town constable's place that is at stake," asserted Mackey, turning to discuss the necessity of watchers at the polls. "Watchers are workers in my mind and they are sent to the polls to watch the voters. If there are no voters for them to watch, they should and do go out and bring in the voters and then they watch as much as they like."

Mackey wound up his testimony with the denial that any of the contenders in the recent primary had spent a penny to buy votes, that there was any debauchery of the ballot box in Pennsylvania politics and the assertion that woman suffrage has doubled the cost of campaigns because women demand the same recognition as men—and the same pay.

A hint of what is in store for Mackey in the way of cross examination by Senator Reed came in the latter's announcement that the hearing will be resumed tomorrow morning with Mackey on the stand because the senator said to Mackey, "We are not even acquainted yet."

NIECE WANTS POPE TO MARRY HER TO TITLED DIPLOMAT

ROME, June 15.—(AP)—The pope's niece, Contessina Ratti, whose marriage to the Marquis Eduardo Persichetti Ugolini of the Nicaraguan legation is to be celebrated in October, has expressed the desire, according to the press, to have the ceremony performed by the pontiff. The latter has not yet announced his decision.

Mexico City, June 15.—(AP)—Dispatches from Vera Cruz say that Bishop Jesus Mendez del Rio of Tehuantepec, one of the three bishops residing in Vera Cruz state, has filed an injunction against the recent state order limiting the number of bishops in the state to one.

GOV. AL SMITH HERE MONDAY FOR CATHOLIC FETE

Asserts He Will Talk No Politics.

Gov. Al Smith of New York, accompanied by his wife and daughter, will arrive in Chicago Monday morning to attend the Eucharistic congress. During his stay here he will be the guest of George F. Getz, chairman of the board of directors of the Globe Coal company and a former employer of the New York governor.

The decision of Gov. Smith to attend the congress was made at the last minute and at the persuasion of Mr. Getz when he was a guest at the wedding of Gov. Smith's daughter recently in Albany.

Accompanying the governor, besides his family, will be James J. Riordan, president of the New York County Trust company; his son, James J. Riordan Jr., W. S. Kenney, a wealthy contractor, and Mrs. Kenney.

Three Days in Michigan.

Prior to their arrival in Chicago the gubernatorial party will be the guests of Mr. Getz for three days at Lakewood farm, five miles from Holland, Mich. The party will arrive there Friday.

They will leave Sunday night, arriving in Chicago Monday. While here the party will stay at the Blackstone. Politics are to be tabooed during his stay here, and he insists that his visit is primarily to attend the congress and to spend a few days with his former employer.

DAVIS TO GREET BONZANO

Although duties attendant on the session of congress at Washington will prevent President Coolidge's acceptance of an invitation to attend Chicago's official welcome Friday evening to Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate to the Eucharistic congress, a personal greeting from the President, conveyed by Secretary of Labor Davis, will inaugurate the reception at the Coliseum, it was announced yesterday.

Arrangements Slightly Altered.

Arrangements for the reception of Cardinal Bonzano's party, which arrives tomorrow morning from New York on the special red train, have been altered somewhat to permit the legate and his party to go to Holy Name cathedral, State and Superior streets, where a "Te Deum" will be sung. Cardinal Mundelein will formally welcome Cardinal Bonzano to Chicago and it is expected that the cardinal legate will in reply make his first address in Chicago at that time.

EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS NOTES

By virtue of a special dispensation granted by Pope Pius XI. for the congress, Catholics of the Chicago archdiocese will be allowed to eat meat this coming Friday. In dioceses outside the Chicago area, the privilege will be extended in accordance with the desires of the presiding bishop.

Among the French pilgrims will be the Marquis de Dampierre, grandnephew of Lafayetté, who will arrive here Saturday. He will be quartered at the bishop's boarding school in Oak Park.

Twenty altars are being erected in the Coliseum at which masses will be said continually from 6 o'clock Sunday morning until high noon. At these masses visitors to the city will have an opportunity to receive communion. It is estimated that a mass will start every three minutes during the six hours.

One thousand Knights of Columbus, fourth degree, who will act as honorary escorts of the papal legate, Cardinal Bonzano, on his arrival tomorrow morning, met last night at the Hotel La Salle to receive instructions from Marshal John E. Maloney.

The K. C. members will also be honorary escorts to the church hierarchy at the pontifical high mass ceremonies to be held Thursday morning, June 24, at Mundelein.

Members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians from every state in the Union and some from the parent organization in Ireland are expected for the festivities. At 443 South Dearborn street the office of the national secretary, Michael W. Delaney, will serve as headquarters for the visitors.

In the procession at Mundelein on the final day the float representing St. Columbanus, Irish saint who took Christianity to the people of central Europe in A. D. 575, will be given a prominent place and will be escorted by members of the order.

Approximately 1,500 state militia men will assist Sheriff Ahlstrom of Lake county in regulating traffic and policing the highways of Lake county during the ceremonies at Mundelein, June 23-24.

Gov. Small yesterday ordered Adjt. Gen. Carlos E. Black to send a sufficient number of militiamen to Lake county. Brig. Gen. John J. Garrity of the 65th infantry brigade was designated to command the troops.

Eucharistic decorations in the Chicago union station will greet the eyes of the thousands of visitors who will arrive in that depot. Most of the special trains will not arrive until Saturday and Sunday. The delegations from Cincinnati, numbering 550, and Dayton, O., totaling 100, will reach Chicago on Saturday. Others, including 500 from Columbus, 500 from Richmond, Ind., and other points, 500 from Indianapolis, 300 from Louisville, and 500 from Grand Rapids, will arrive Sunday morning.

But the governor was completely himself. He broke right through the constraint which had marked the proceedings up to that time.

"There's a song," said Gov. Smith, "being sung around the world, called 'The Sidewalks of New York.' It is said this song is for me. But I have two partners in this song — Cardinal Hayes and the mayor."

Cardinal Hayes smiled a broad smile and so did the other cardinals, all obviously amused, but the crowd in the chamber heartily applauded.

"Cardinal Hayes," the governor continued, "was born back of this city hall when the district was strictly residential, and that was not so long ago.

"When you reach Chicago you will meet another man that New York is proud of. I do not know but that partnership ought to be extended upward. I think that Cardinal Mundelein has quite a big claim on 'The Sidewalks of New York.' We are satisfied to let him in on the four cornered partnership.

"Your eminence, I welcome you personally. I welcome you as the representative of our holy father, the pope. I speak for myself with great pleasure and satisfaction and I speak at the same time for the 10,500,000 people in the great commonwealth of the state of New York."

Cardinal Bonzano Replies.

In response to the addresses of the mayor and governor Cardinal Bonzano said:

"Your excellency, your honor, your eminence, distinguished prelates, ladies, and gentlemen:

"First of all, I wish to thank his excellency the governor and his honor the mayor for this splendid tribute to the holy father, which is just and so appropriate, not only in recognition of his official dignity, his moral prestige, and his charming personality, but especially in consideration of his particular affection for America, whose progressive, generous spirit he so greatly admires.

"May my visit be accepted as a reciprocation of courtesy for the many visits of Americans to Rome and to the supreme pontiff. And, in acknowledgement of the gracious tribute thus rendered, I am happy to convey to you the holy father's messages of affectionate greeting and special blessing."

DROPS PISTOL AS SHOT FANS HAIR IN WARSAW DUEL

Skrzynski Refuses to Kill Opponent.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, June 15.—Two counts of Poland, one a former premier of the country and the other a former minister of war, faced one another with loaded pistols at dawn today in an affair of honor.

Rain was falling from a heavily laden sky as three limousines entered the porte-cochère of the riding academy of the 13th Uhlan regiments barracks behind the Belvidere palace garden. The dense mist partially obscured the near by banks of the muddy Vistula.

Ten men dismounted and entered the building. Some wore military uniforms and decorations fluttering at their breasts, with bright polished sabers dangling noisily at their left hips. The rest wore punctilious civilian mourning attire with high hats.

At Fifteen Paces.

The men separated into three groups in the hall. One group deposited two black leather pistol cases and surgical kits on a table. The other groups assisted each of the principals to remove his coat, vest, and collar. Two seconds stepped off a distance of fifteen paces from the center of the hall and made marks at each end by digging their heels in the tanbark.

Two bore the dueling pistols, loaded with a single shot apiece, and presented them to the adversaries, who simultaneously took them from the open cases without examination. Escorted by their seconds, the principals took their positions at their marks in the tanbark and faced each other, fifteen yards apart.

The man wearing military riding breeches, boots and spurs, was Count Gen. Szeptycki, ex-minister of military affairs of Poland, 6 feet 6 inches tall, with completely shaven head and smooth face, except for heavy gray eyebrows overshadowing penetrating dark eyes.

The man wearing striped trousers, patent leather shoes and white spats was Count Skrzynski, ex-premier and minister of foreign affairs of Poland, 6 feet 2 inches tall, of slender build. His dark hair was thick and he wore a closely cropped black mustache.

At the sharply spoken word of a man who stood well back to one side of the hall, between two men, the groups of seconds withdrew, leaving the two principals standing alone, each holding a pistol in his lowered hand, pointing toward the ground.

General's Shot Grazes Count.

At another command the duelists click their heels together, present their right sides to one another, and slowly lift their pistols, looking one another in the eye across their right shoulders. The gray morning light filtering through the rain swept glass of the windows was high on the east walls of the hall. The silence was heavy.

"Fire!"

The tall man's right arm is straightening outward. There is a stab of flame—a sharp report—a rising circle of blue smoke. The military man had fired at the command. The shot grazed Count Skrzynski's head.

The shorter slender man with the white spats was standing motionless. The ex-premier and minister carefully drew aim at the heart of the tall man opposite, but withheld his fire. His outstretched arm was painfully rigid. The muzzle of the still unfired pistol did not waver from its aim at the tall man's heart.

Skrzynski Refuses to Shoot.

While the echo of the first shot rang through the building, the taller man returned his empty pistol to his side and unflinchingly looked into the muzzle of his opponent's weapon, while the referee counted out the seconds with cold monotony.

The eight spectators, including the seconds and doctors, stood breathless during the ordeal. All eyes were centered on the two coatless men.

At the count of ten, the suspense was broken when the man with the leveled pistol slowly lowered his weapon without pulling the trigger, his eyes still fixed on the surprised general. In a voice which bore the traces of emotion, he spoke.

"I do not know how to miss and I don't want to kill. I refrained from firing. Whoever in Poland, in his honor or conscience, thinks he has a right to shoot at me and that which I represent, let him shoot. I won't shoot back."

The referee decided the honor of all parties had been vindicated. The affair grew out of the general's refusal to accept the ex-premier's proffered hand at Cracow ten days ago. Political differences over the Pilsudski revolution brought about the public insult.

NEWSPAPER MAN LOSES LIFE IN CALUMET CANAL

The body of Thomas P. Coates, Chicago newspaper man, was found yesterday in the Calumet-Sag feeder canal at 119th street. He is believed to have fallen into the water Monday night while suffering from amnesia, and striving to reach his home at Glen Ellyn.

It was said that Mr. Coates had not been himself for several days. He left his office downtown on Monday morning. At 5 p. m. he called his home from South Bend and stated that he couldn't remember how he got there. A watchman at 119th street and Calumet aveune later reported seeing a man stumble or fall into the canal and vanish.

Mr. Coates had been connected for many years with the Chicago Herald and Examiner. A veteran of the Spanish-American war, he had served as correspondent in the Philippines and in Mexico. At the time of his death he was head of the promotion department of the newspaper.

Mr. Coates was 47 years old and is survived by a widow and two daughters, Margaret, 12 years old, and Jean, 7 years old.

ANTI-RUM NAVY PERILS INNOCENT ON SEA AND LAND

James' Private Yacht Is Fired Upon.

Newport, R. I., June 15.—(AP)—The private yacht Aloha of Arthur Curtiss James of New York was fired on early today while en route from New York. The first shot went across the bow and the second over it, narrowly missing the bow watchman.

Mr. James, who was en route here to greet Crown Prince Gustav Adolf of Sweden, said he would report the incident to Washington. He believed a rum boat chaser responsible.

The Aloha, a big square rigged craft, was opposite Watch Hill, proceeding slowly to let another boat cross her bow. As the Aloha gathered speed the shots came from an unseen vessel on the shoreward side.

Gunfire Perils Crowd.

Miami, Fla., June 15.—(AP)—Without making any recommendations, the Dade county grand jury today adjourned its investigation into alleged "promiscuous" firing by coast guard patrol boat No. 297, which endangered the lives of several hundred persons last Saturday. The shooting occurred while the patrol boat chased a liquor laden motor boat in Miami bay.

Shortly before the grand jury adjourned, coast guard officials announced a service investigation of the shooting. Capt. John J. Berry, commanding officer of the gulf division of the coast guard, instructed Commander D. G. Porcher of the Fort Lauderdale base to inquire into the affair.

A score or more of shots were fired by the coast guard boat in a chase. A bend in the river between the two craft placed several hundred persons in the fashionable Fort Dallas park section in direct line of fire.

Private Yacht Is Seized.

Norfolk, Va., June 15.—(AP)—The private yacht Laurentian, said to be owned by R. A. Alger of Detroit, was seized in York river off Yorktown, last night, and her commander, Capt. Benjamin Jarvis, placed under arrest charged with violating the national prohibition law.

This became known today when the craft was towed to Norfolk by the coast guard patrol boat CG-193 and delivered to the customs authorities. It is alleged 30 cases of liquor were found on the boat.

The owner was not aboard at the time of the seizure, but a party of his friends with members of their families were aboard on a pleasure cruise.

Renew Indian Moslem Riots; 8 Killed, 23 Hurt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CALCUTTA, June 15.—Serious riots started at Rawalpindi tonight between Moslems and Sikhs, following erection of a cinema near a mosque. Eight Moslems are reported killed and fourteen wounded; nine Sikhs were injured. The grain market was destroyed, and there was much looting.

ONCE AN INMATE OF HOME, MAN GIVES PARTY FOR ORPHANS

Kansas City, Mo., June 15.—[Special.]—Frank Payne knows the heart and mind of the kid of the orphan asylum for he was once one of them. So Mr. Payne today gave a party.

It was no formal affair. Mr. Payne invited the eighty-nine children of the Gillis home, an orphanage where he lived as a child, to his country estate.

When the forty-three girls and 46 boys poured out of the busses the host presented the freedom of the Payne flower gardens, the pride of the district, the cherry orchard, with limbs bending under the loads of "sweethearts"; the eleven acre strawberry patch; boys, satiated with globules peeped from beneath green runners; the woods and the creek.

Boys went up cherry trees, girls ran for flowers; boys and girls went down on their knees in the strawberry patch; boys, saturated with cherries and strawberries, experimented with the red berries of the mulberry grove and found them green. Other boys tore for the woods and still others for the creek, shedding clothes as they went.

Many glorious hours later the kids left. The estate was like a cyclone swept zone. But Mr. Payne was happy.

"If they had broken every tree down and had uprooted every strawberry plant," he said, "it would have been worth it to see the joy they had."

There are aching stomachs in Gillis home tonight, but no aching hearts.

WIFE ASKS RIVAL TO ACCOUNT FOR $75,000 ESTATE

Mrs. Mary R. McGovern yesterday renewed her efforts to gain possession of the $75,000 estate of her husband, James J. McGovern, through the filing of a bill in Superior court. The "other woman," Mrs. Helen Willis, 4430 Clifton avenue, and the latter's two children, James, 4 years old, and Patricia, 5, are the principal defendants. The bill was filed by Attorneys Frank Tyrrell and Samuel J. Klayf.

A flat building at the Clifton avenue address where Mrs. Willis resides is the subject of contention in the suit. Mrs. McGovern alleges that she was misled as to the value of the building, originally owned by her husband, signing a deed conveying the property to Mrs. Willis for $4,000, but later discovering the property to be worth at least $75,000.

Mrs. Willis, according to the bill, has collected $900 monthly in rentals from the property since the death of McGovern, and is asked for an accounting of the collections, totaling $30,000.

Mrs. McGovern says she was married to McGovern in Ireland on July 5, 1908. Immediately McGovern left for America to seek his fortune. Learning of McGovern's death from his brother, she came to Chicago and discovered he had been living for many years with another woman.

FALLS SIXTEEN FLOORS, KILLING SELF AND WOMAN

Window Washer Drops from Marquette Bldg.

Mrs. Katherine Jez, 2520 South Sacramento avenue, a shopper standing at the intersection of Dearborn and Adams streets, was killed yesterday when the body of James Vando, 48 years old, a window washer, 3052 Osgood street, came flying through the air from the sixteenth floor of the Marquette building at Dearborn and Adams streets and struck her. Vando was killed instantly. Mrs. Jez died while on her way to the Iroquois hospital.

Mrs. Jez's handbag contained $16[illegible]. Clutched in her right hand was a dime. She evidently was about to board a street car. Her body was taken to the Central Undertaking rooms at 4[illegible] South Clark street. Vando's body was also taken to the same morgue.

Broken Strap Believed Cause.

A strap on the harness worn by Vando is believed to have broken. He was working outside a window ledge and his partner, Alex Sobolewski, was working inside. Sobolewski told the police that he turned his head a second and when he looked out of the window Vando had disappeared. He said he didn't see him fall.

Mrs. Jez was placed in a taxicab by Policeman J. L. Bobosky. His task was made difficult owing to the large crowd of shoppers that gathered. While carrying her into the operating room at the hospital she died. Her neck had been broken.

Blames Broken Harness.

W. M. Knight, superintendent of the building, attributed the accident to the breaking of the ropes of Vando's harness. "The harness is inspected regularly each month. Vando was a very careful worker and had been washing windows for the last twenty years," he told Lieut. James Skully of the central station. An inquest will be held today at 10 a. m.

HOW $240 BECAME $1,400.

A settlement was recently made on a savings and life insurance account in the Harris Trust and Savings Bank whereby a depositor's family received $1,428.78 on an account which had been carried for twenty-nine months with deposits of $8.40 per month, making a total deposit for that period of $243.60.

The account was originally opened with the intention of saving $1,000 by making small deposits in the bank each month, but before the objective was reached the depositor died. Because of the insurance feature of this plan the $1,000 that was to be saved by the depositor was paid to the depositor's family in addition to $428.78, representing the bank balance and disability benefits received through this plan.

Any one between the ages of 10 and 70 is eligible for this plan, and any amount between $1,000 and $25,000 may be accumulated by making the required monthly deposits. A postcard addressed to the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, 115 West Monroe Street, requesting additional information, will be given prompt attention.—Adv.

HOFFMAN'S OLD FRIENDS FLOCK TO VISIT HIM

Sheriff Holds a Regular Reception in Jail.

When Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman bundled his blankets about him and settled to sleep last night in his cell at the Du Page county jail at Wheaton, he brought to an end a day—his fourth of the thirty he must serve—packed full of assurance that he was just as ever the adored head of his family and very much the active sheriff of Cook county.

It was the first visiting day at the jail since the sheriff entered it last Saturday.

Family first was the order, and, half afraid, the sheriff's wife for thirty-seven years, Emma May Hoffman, stepped inside the jail door into the cellroom, to be swung at once into the sheriff's strong arms for a hearty greeting.

Followed by Family.

Behind her came three of the Hoffman daughters—Mrs. George F. Kinder, Mrs. Wallace Kinder, and Mrs. John A. O'Connell. They, too, were strongly moved, but soon the sheriff, subduing his own emotions, had them laughing with him. And there was Gordon Hoffman, the sheriff's only son, and Bennett Johnson, whose wife, another of the comely Hoffman girls, is seriously ill with scarlet fever.

They all wanted to know how the star prisoner was getting along—how he was sleeping, eating; what he did with his spare time, and didn't he want a lot of things.

Mrs. Hoffman, knowing her husband's tastes, had brought some greens from his garden, a huge armful of radishes, and another of green onions. And in a lull between the greetings the sheriff stole aside a moment and slipped some of the greens between bars to his jailmates.

George Webster Arrives.

Soon George Webster, acting sheriff in Mr. Hoffman's absence, arrived and engaged his chief in a long conversation concerning affairs in the county building. When Sheriff Hoffman had given his directions on various business matters Webster left, but not before he had given the sheriff the news that nearly 100,000 of his friends had come to his aid and had signed the petition addressed to President Coolidge asking that the sheriff be freed from further imprisonment.

A touch of the "remember way back when" days came when Mrs. Winston Golden of Park Ridge came with her husband to see Sheriff Hoffman.

"Don't you remember me, Pete?" she said.

At first Pete didn't remember; then it all came back to him.

Old Schoolmates.

"Why, you're the girl I used to go around to parties with!" he exclaimed. "Forty years ago we were schoolmates, weren't we?"

And it was so. Twenty years had passed since they had met, the sheriff said.

"I just felt I had to come," Mrs. Golden told him. "I wanted you to know that we believe you are innocent."

In the same way came many others, including Emil E. W. Johnson, superintendent of Lincoln park; Dr. Joseph Ross, the family physician; former Deputy Coroner M. G. Walsh, Deputy Sheriff James Talbot, and Bailiffs Henry Neuman and Roger Wilson.

Sheriff Hoffman said he was getting a slant on seeing things from inside the bars different from that he has experienced officially in seeing things from the outside.

The sheriff has made each of the prisoners in his tier tell all about himself. They have initiated him through the kangaroo court—"Judge" Otto Homan, a check kiter, "fined" the sheriff $10, which was promptly expended for provisions.

Last night the prisoners were treated by their prominent comrade to an athletic contest. All in turn linked a middle finger with the sheriff, and one after another he pulled the men over the table, none being able to break his grip. Then they marvelled at the strength of this 63 year old man and nursed aching finger joints. It was a favorite stunt of the sheriff.

Eager to exact at once its full pound of flesh, the federal government, through Assistant District Attorney John E. Byrne, announced that it would compel immediate payment of the $2,500 fine which was imposed upon Sheriff Hoffman in addition to the thirty day sentence. The sentence was for contempt of court in connection with favors which the government held were allowed to Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, beer runners.

PRINCE, SHOT BY BARON IN LOVE DUEL, IS DEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, June 15.—Prince Cyril Orloff of Russia, who was shot in a duel by Baron Klinger, died from pneumonia today.

The affair, which first appeared as a most romantic melodrama of love, elopement, and the suicide of a beautiful baroness who deceived her husband, afterward developed into the story of a penniless Russian adventurer playing on the feelings of a susceptible rich woman, madly in love.

The prince persuaded the husband to divorce his wife and settle large alimony on her. The husband, discovering the prince already was being kept by the wife, changed his mind. The prince and the husband were both wounded in the duel which followed. The baroness committed suicide after being questioned by the police.

RECENT PRIMARY CALLED HONEST, FREE OF FRAUD

Jarecki's Precautions at Polls Cited as Proof.

For the first time since the primary of April 13 some one had a good word yesterday for the honest, efficient, and fair manner in which it was conducted. It was Attorney Henry A. Berger, and he was telling it to County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, who conducted that primary election.

Attorney Berger, representing Robert E. McMillan, one of the twelve successful Republican contenders for Municipal court nominations, was arguing against the necessity of a recount asked by Judge William L. Morgan, who was defeated. He called the election contest "the cleanest and most honest ever held."

Precautions by Jarecki.

He recalled the precautions taken in advance by Judge Jarecki to insure a fair deal to all contestants in the primary and an honest count of the ballots. He called attention to the extraordinary precautions taken by Judge Jarecki in the selection of judges and clerks of election.

Mention was made by Berger of the suspect notices which wiped 100,000 names—many, of course, simply duplications due to changes of address—from the poll lists, and of the extra canvasses made in the precincts by the election clerks.

The charges of intimidation made by the defeated Small-Lundin-Deneen candidates were termed generalities that didn't even glitter. Nothing in them was substantiated by one fact, the attorney declared.

Attorney John Prystalski, representing six of the other successful judicial nominees, informed Judge Jarecki that the petition of Judge Morgan for a recount was faulty and invalid.

Deneen Candidates High.

The greatest proof of the lack of fraud or the suspicion of dishonest counting, Attorney Berger said, in supplementing this argument, was the fact that three of the Small-Lundin-Deneen candidates were high in the list of twelve nominated. Upon this point, also, it was said the other election contests hinge.

In the country town contests for county commissioner, Busse, one of the Deneen followers, was nominated along with four of the Crowe faction. The contest for the nomination for sheriff was between two candidates of the Small-Lundin faction—both state officeholders. The city membership of the county board is affected only in the contest by Commissioner Charles Goodnow, who was defeated by Richard Goins, a Negro.

Expect Decision Today.

So, according to the lawyers, practically all the contests depend upon the decision expected today from Judge Jarecki. If he agrees with the contention that he himself conducted an honest primary, there will be no recounts, the attorneys believe, excepting only the possibility of the Trude-Savage contest continuing.

The executive committee of the Superior court is to announce tomorrow whether Judge McKinley has jurisdiction to proceed with that recount. If they decide he has not, the expectations are that the contest will end.

In that event, there will be only the special grand jury under the leadership of Special State's Attorney Charles A. McDonald to make further inquiry as to the truth or falsity of the charges of election thefts, threats, and false counting.

FILIPINOS FIGHT U.S. MAN'S SCHEME TO GROW RUBBER

MANILA, June 15.—(AP)—The plan proposed by Harvey Firestone Jr. for large scale development of Philippine land for rubber production has failed to receive the support of the national supreme council, a coalition of representatives of political parties. This indicates the American rubber magnate's proposal will not be favorably considered at the next legislature.

Mr. Firestone suggested that public lands be leased for cultivation of rubber for periods of fifty or seventy-five years, in tracts of a half million or more acres. He expressed the belief when here in March that the Philippine law providing that no individual or corporation can acquire more than 2,500 acres would make impossible the interesting of capital for development of rubber plantations.

TEN NATIONS PAY $77,783,127 TO U. S. ON WAR DEBT

Italy Sends $5,000,000 as First Installment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Payments aggregating $77,783,127 were received by the treasury today from ten nations under the terms of agreements for the funding of their debts.

The total included $67,950,000 from Great Britain, $5,000,000 from Italy, $2,094,161 from Belgium, $1,500,000 from Czecho-Slovakia, $750,000 from Poland, $200,000 from Roumania, $132,945 from Finland, $76,578 from Lithuania, $50,000 from Esthonia, and $29,443 from Hungary.

The bulk of the payments were made in United States securities as authorized under the agreements.

Great Britain made its entire payment in securities, including $61,950,000 face amount of three and one-quarter per cent treasury certificates of indebtedness and $6,000,000 face amount of three per cent treasury certificates of indebtedness. The amount paid by Great Britain was its seventh semi-annual payment of interest.

Italy paid $5,000,000 in first Liberty loan three and one-half per cent bonds and treasury certificates of indebtedness as the first annual installment of principal.

Belgium, in making a second semi-annual payment of interest and the first installment of principal on its funded indebtedness, paid the full amount of $2,094,161 in cash, of which $870,000 was for interest and the remainder on principal.

Czecho-Slovakia, Esthonia, Hungary, Lithuania, Poland, and Roumania also paid in cash.

GERMANS BUILDING ZEPPELIN TWICE AS BIG AS U. S. AIRSHIP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 15.—A Zeppelin twice as big as the Los Angeles, with five motors of 420 horsepower each has been started at Friedrichshaven, Dr. Eckener also revealed today that entirely new kind of fuel has been discovered. He said it will revolutionize airships and aviation.

Dr. Lempertz, chemist of the Zeppelin works, after many exhaustive laboratory ests, has succeeded in discovering a gas which completely replaces benzine as fuel. The new fuel minimizes the danger of explosion.

Experiments with the gas in Maybach motors have proven satisfactory.

COED BLURTS OUT TRAGIC STORY OF YOUTHS' ATTACK

Screams Denials That She Encouraged Them.

But they grabbed me and pulled me back."

Right along in the narrative, pushing itself out in amazing frankness, came another alleged excerpt from the boys' conversation, and a recital of details.

"And they laughed and sneered at me," she said as she concluded that episode.

First, she says, it was Rich, then Hurt, last but most brutal, Wilson.

"Then they told me they'd take me home, but that if I told anybody they'd kill me," the girl shouted. "They took me to Mrs. Gray's; somebody helped me to bed, and next morning I couldn't move my head nor my body."

Glares at the Youths.

Her story was over. Dorothy's eyes glared at, rather than evaded, the three boys. She asked for a piece of paper and began to fan herself, and the cross-examination began.

Word for word, sentence for sentence, she fought Attorney Gunsel. She parried his every question.

When the defense attorney wanted to know why, on the drive to Malta, she had sat snuggled up to Rich, leaving one of the front seats vacant, she almost yelled her answer:

"I sat the way any lady would."

When she again volunteered a terribly explicit sentence which, she said, one of the boys had said to her, and the lawyer wanted to know who said it, she repeated the sentence and said that all three had been saying it all that evening.

When he asked her if she recalled a certain incident, she challenged: "How could I remember anything? I was almost dead."

"As nearly dead as you are now?" the lawyer inquired. Her eyes burned into him and the court ordered the remark stricken from the record.

Then the state rested its case and court adjourned until tomorrow morning when the defendants will take the stand in their own defense. They have already pleaded guilty, but will seek mitigation. This mitigation will, it is understood, be based on allegations that Dorothy encouraged rather than repulsed their first overtures.

Judge Fulton is expected to pronounce sentence soon. The charge of criminal assault, to which they have pleaded guilty, carries a sentence of from one year to life in the penitentiary.

PROPOSED OPENING OF MICHIGAN AVENUE BIG TASK, SAYS ENGINEER

While officials of fourteen south side civic and business organizations were laying plans to carry on their fight to force the opening of Michigan avenue between 63d and 69th streets, C. H. Hill, engineer for the board of local improvements, explained the difficulties attached to the task.

The best way to cross the tracks of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads is by a diagonal 800 foot viaduct from Prairie to Indiana avenue rather than to span or dig under the tracks at Michigan avenue, according to the engineer.

This project, he estimates, would cost $1,000,000, while the Michigan avenue route would reach double that amount and would require a 1,500 foot viaduct or subway, which, he says, would be twice as long, twice as deep, and twice as unpleasant from lack of ventilation and dampness as the present subways at State and 63d streets.

DEAD IN GAS FILLED ROOM.

Fred Lindstrom, 60, a stationary fireman, 168 Chestnut street, was found dead yesterday in his room with the gas jet open.

POLISH WAR VET WITH 5 WOUNDS ATTEMPTS DEATH

Ever since he returned from the war where, fighting as a lieutenant in Gen. Pilsudski's army, he was wounded five times, Miecriplaw Sichrawa, 28 years old, a Chicago newspaper man, had been worrying about the girl who had promised to marry him, and who was still willing despite his wounded condition.

Yesterday Sichrawa, who is assistant editor of the Zgoda, Polish daily newspaper, and editor of the Weteron, monthly magazine of the Polish Veterans' association, decided to end his life.

Friend Saves Him from Gas.

In his room at 1346 North Robey street, he closed all the windows, turned on the gas and lay down on the bed to die. Discovered a few minutes later by his friend, Victor Markowsky, he was taken to the county hospital by the West North avenue police, where physicians declared he will recover.

As he lay semi-conscious last night, Sichrawa refused to reveal who had left the immense bouquet of peonies that stood on a table near his bed. Tears came into his eyes as he looked at them. But he murmured something about the "little sweetheart" who had come to cheer him up, and to tell him for the second time she was glad he had not died.

Veteran Dies At Hines Hospital.

Franz Hammer, a world war veteran, died yesterday in the Edward Hines Memorial hospital. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of death due to pneumonia, although Dr. C. B. Mallow, superintendent of the hospital, had said at first he believed Hammer had died after taking a quantity of poison last Friday.

U. S. RUM GUARD SHOT IN BATTLE WITH DRY AGENTS

Zeal of dry agents to clean up Chicago Heights yesterday morning led to a gun battle between two branches of the government prohibition service. William Weinberg, a United States marshal-custodian, was wounded in the right hip.

Before Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley and United States Marshal Palmer E. Anderson had opportunity to compare reports from their subordinates who were principals in the mêlée, the custodians believed they had been attacked by hi-jackers, and three prohibition agents were rejoicing that they had won in a brush with hoodlum gunmen.

The shooting took place during a raid by mistake on the Old Schoolhouse café at 26th street and East avenue, Chicago Heights, which has been under government seizure for several months. Agents Thomas Tolbert, Fred Hoyland, and Paul Shupe were met by bullets when they broke into the place. They returned the fire, wounding Weinberg. His companion, Custodian August Damore, was uninjured.

BOY TRYING TO DODGE TRACTOR KILLED BY FALL

U. of C. Student Dies of Auto Crash Injuries.

Running to get out of the way of a tractor owned by a street carnival company exhibiting at 2919 West 25th place, 8 year old Charles Gondek of 2935 West 25th place fell and struck his head on a curbing last night. His skull was fractured and he died soon afterward at St. Anthony's hospital.

Although the tractor did not touch the boy, the driver, Frank Malfaini of 4333 West 26th street, was held by the police. Other boys who were with Charles asserted that Malfaini yelled to them to clear the way as he started to back the tractor into the carnival lot.

Toll Raised to 349.

The boy's death and two others during the day increased the Cook county motor fatality toll to 349 for the year.

John Wiest, 58 years old, a carpenter, residing at Chicago Highland, Ill., died at Palatine hospital of a skull fracture and internal injuries he received when his automobile was struck by a Chicago and Northwestern railroad train at Barrington.

Charles Mickelberry, 20 year old son of Charles M. Mickelberry, sausage manufacturer, a passenger in one of two automobiles which crashed on Friday during a rainstorm in Grant park, died at St. Luke's hospital. He was a student at the University of Chicago.

Two Others in Hospital.

Miss Natalie Fress, 20 years old, 5450 East View parkway, and William Bowen, 19, 224 South Wesley avenue, Oak Park, other passengers in the auto, were seriously injured and are still in hospital.

Mrs. Hilma Lunberg, 60 years old, 1126 Hughitt avenue, died of injuries she sustained in an auto accident near Chesterton, Ind., last week.

TEXAS RATTLERS AND MISSOURI BLACKS TO FIGHT TO THE DEATH

San Antonio, Tex., June 15.—(AP)—Missouri blacksnakes are to enter the list with Texas rattlesnakes in an effort to prove the contention of J. S. Gates of Sugar Creek, Mo., that the Missouri snake can exterminate the rattler from the Lone Star state.

Ray Lamer, commissioner of parks here, today telegraphed Gates to send two selected blacksnakes to enter the ring with two Texas rattlers. Should the Missouri snakes emerge the winners, Commissioner Lamber said he would be interested in Gates' offer to send 10,000 Missouri blacksnakes to Texas.

Gates' offer was made in a letter to the local chamber of commerce, in which he said the Missouri snakes would rid Texas of rattlers in 10 years. He explained that the blacksnake is a constrictor and its bite is not dangerous.

AURORA & ELGIN ELECTRIC ASKS INCREASED RATES

Setting out that the average increase in cost over 1914 prices has been more than 110 per cent, as compared with an increase over the period of but 24.4 per cent in rates, officials of the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin railroad yesterday filed a petition with the Illinois commerce commission asking permission to increase passenger rates 15 per cent on July 15.

The tariff contends the rate increase would bring electric line fares up to the existing commutation rates of the steam railroads. Rates on steam systems were increased on some roads 15 per cent, and on others approximately 20 per cent Jan. 1.

Britton I. Budd, president, points out that the earnings on the company's investment are grossly inadequate.

"The territory served by this company is one of the most prosperous in this country," he says, "and we must keep pace with its growth."

PRESIDENT BORNO OF HAITI GUEST AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Following a hurried inspection trip of the various government bureaus, President Louis Borno of Haiti was a luncheon guest at the White House today, where he was entertained by the President and Mrs. Coolidge.

Considerable ceremony marked the reception of President Borno and Mme. Borno at the White House. Besides the distinguished visitors the guests at the luncheon included Secretary of State Kellogg, the minister of Haiti and Mme. Price, Secretary of Navy Wilbur, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the secretary of commerce; Everett Sanders, secretary to the President, and Mrs. Sanders, and Dr. L. S. Rowe, director of the Pan-American union.

During the afternoon the president and Mme. Borno inspected Fort Myer and Arlington cemetery, stopping for a few moments in front of the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. In the evening they were the guests of honor at a dinner in the Willard hotel given by the Dominican minister and Mme. Price.

The visit of President Borno, it was thought, was only to familiarize himself with the manner in which affairs are conducted in the United States.

BISHOP TO HOLD REUNION WITH KIN DURING CONGRESS

When the Rt. Rev. Patrick Barry, D. D., bishop of St. Augustine, Fla., the oldest diocese in America, arrives in Chicago Saturday he will be reunited with twelve brothers and sisters, who will have come from all parts of the United States and Ireland to meet him and attend the Eucharistic congress. Two of the brothers are priests, and one sister is a nun.

BISHOP BARRY.

Bishop Barry will celebrate solemn pontifical high mass at the Church of Our Lady Help of Christians, Leamington avenue and Iowa street, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. His brothers—the Rev. Joseph Barry of Nenagh, Tipperary, Ireland, and the Rev. William Barry of Miami Beach, Fla., will assist him. Accompanying the Rev. Father Joseph Barry from Ireland is another brother, Michael Barry.

A nephew of the bishop, Lawrence Barry, is a scholastic at St. Ignatius college, and another nephew, Lawrence Hallaran, is a student at Quigley preparatory seminary.

Bishop Barry's sister, Sister Mary Gerald, is a mother of novices at Adrian, Mich. A niece, Sister Cathleen Marie, is a Dominican teacher in Chicago.

There will be a reunion of the family at Lawler's hall, 3929 West Madison street, Sunday at 2 p. m.

BRICKLAYERS WILL GET $1.62½ AN HOUR ON JULY 1

Wages for Chicago bricklayers beginning July 1 and effective until May 31, 1929, will be $1.62½ an hour, according to an announcement made last night by John Flom, president of the Associated Builders.

Mr. Flom explained that the bricklayers were the first to settle with the contractors this year, renewing their agreement at the old scale of $1.50 an hour. Since then, however, wages in the building industry of Chicago have been increased all along the line. The Associated Builders, Mr. Flom said, feel that the bricklayers are entitled to a proportionate increase.

At a meeting of the Master Roofers' association, James A. Patten, treasurer of the citizens' committee to enforce the Landis award, declared the continued success of the citizens' committee and Landis award contractors was assured.

PAROLED THIEF CAUGHT ROBBING ON SOUTH SIDE

Charles Raymond, 47 year old burglar, who has been three times sentenced to Joliet penitentiary and three times paroled, was ransacking the home of C. E. Ulrich, real estate dealer, 8000 Stony Island avenue, yesterday afternoon when Mr. Ulrich arrived.

The latter's wife is away from home and he was carrying in supplies for a bachelor meal. His arms were loaded with sugar and potatoes and ham.

Raymond stepped from the door just in time to meet Mr. Ulrich. He gave the potatoes and the ham and the sugar a shove and the householder a sock on the jaw. Then he ran. Mr. Ulrich, both angry and hungry, pursued. A block away he tackled the burglar, threw him and sat on his head until a policeman, summoned by a neighbor, arrived.

Records at the bureau of identification show that Raymond, who also used the name Tufford, was first arrested for burglary in 1900. He served two terms in the House of Correction. In 1910 he went to Joliet for the first time and was paroled in four years and twenty-six days. In 1915 he went back and stayed a little more than two years. His third conviction was in 1919 and his third parole on Dec. 12, 1923.

CHILE BALKS U. S. MOVES TO SOLVE TACNA-ARICA ROW

BY GERALD MARTIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 15.—Following receipt of news of the Tacna-Arica plebiscite commission's approval of Gen. Lassiter's motion declaring it was impossible to hold a plebiscite owing to "Chile not maintaining conditions for a free and fair plebiscite," the Chilean government cabled its Washington ambassador to break off the diplomatic negotiations for a settlement of the quarrel with Peru.

Parliament met and endorsed the action of the government. The feeling is general here that Gen. Lassiter is supported by President Coolidge, the arbitrator, and thus there is no chance of ultimately holding the plebiscite.

Thus closes another chapter in the Chilean battle to retain Tacna-Arica, which is practically worthless commercially, both to Chile and Peru. Yet politicians in both countries continued to fight for it, fearing that surrender might mean internal trouble.

Washington Sees Complete Collapse.

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—The Washington program for settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute between Chile and Peru is threatened with complete collapse.

After many months of weary negotiation, initiated by the late President Harding, the two countries have reached an impasse from which officials here see little hope of escape.

Although a day or two may elapse before the disagreement reaches its final issue, President Coolidge's proposal for a plebiscite in the disputed territory apparently has been vetoed by Chile's refusal to accept conditions regarded as fair by Peru and the United States, and at the same time an alternative negotation started by Secretary Kellogg is showing signs of lapsing without an agreement.

May Hurt U. S. Prestige.

How far reaching such a result would be is a matter of lively discussion in Washington. It is conceded privately that complete failure of the American effort would be a blow to the prestige of the United States throughout the western hemisphere if blame for the failure in any way is attached to the American negotiators; and a statement from Washington definitely laying the responsibilitity at the door of Chile is among the possibilities.

"I do not know whether I shall stay here or not," said the Chilean ambassador today when asked what the next Chilean step would be.

CHIEF COLLINS KEEPS HER FUNDS, DURKIN KIN SAYS

Mrs. Marion Austin, widow of Lloyd Austin, who was shot and killed in a gun battle between his nephew, Martin Durkin, and Chicago policemen on Oct. 28, 1925, filed a petition for a writ of mandamus in Superior court yesterday, seeking to compel Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins to surrender to her $8,364.50 contributed by policemen and public as a relief fund for her and her two children. The petition states Collins has refused to give her the money.

It was learned that Chief Collins desired to pay her the money in monthly installments, but that Mrs. Austin desired the entire fund paid her at once.

FALL KILLS AGED MAN.

Herman Broukhorst, 87, an inmate of the Holland home for the aged, 238 West 107th place, died yesterday from the injuries received in a fall several days ago.

START PLANS TO REBUILD OVEN RAZED BY BLAST

Gary, Ind., June 15.—[Special.]—With all dead identified and likelihood that all of the injured will recover, activities in the Gary works where the by-products plant explosion Monday claimed a death toll of eleven, today were turned to rebuilding the shattered structure.

Forty men still are in Gary hospitals, seventeen of the number classed as seriously injured, although none are in a critical condition.

Last of the unidentified colored men to be named was Lemuel Pittman, 2156 Adams street, a bricklayer, whose battered body was identified in the morgue by several members of his family. Other ten dead were identified Monday and Monday night.

Work is to be started at once in rebuilding the plant, most of the debris having been removed by tonight. Actual property loss will be between $50,000 and $75,000, mill men estimate.

IT WILL HURT IOWA.

THE TRIBUNE has received many letters upon the Iowa primary, some agreeing with our diagnosis, others scornfully repudiating it. We are far from assuming infallibility, and are quite aware that we may be all wrong. Our suggestions were founded chiefly on the observations of a skilled and experienced student of American politics who is, besides, an honest man instructed to get the truth of the situation as far as it was humanly possible. We had also considerable corroboration from other sources. Perhaps in spite of that we were betrayed to erroneous conclusions, but we would be more willing to agree that our Iowa critics are right and we wrong if our critics agreed among themselves.

But, whether our diagnosis of the Brookhart victory is correct in essentials or defective or utterly mistaken, of one thing we are certain, and we would commend it especially to such of our critics as seem to think Brookhart's election would be a triumph for Iowa and its people. We are quite certain that the favor shown Brookhart by Iowa voters, whatever their intent in voting for him, is injurious to the state and to all its thrifty and sensible citizens who have a stake in the prosperity and progress of that fine commonwealth.

Mr. Brookhart complains that his speech at Mason City was garbled in report and, specifically, that his idea for the legal restriction on capital returns referred only to the coöperatives. We have the assurance of newspaper men on whose professional conscience we have every reason to rely that Mr. Brookhart was not misquoted, but let us accept his correction on the assumption that there was a conscientious mistake on both sides. Yet we are not reassured by Mr. Brookhart's explanation, and no investor can be, for it goes without saying that if Mr. Brookhart favors restriction of his beloved coöperatives he is not likely to be very liberal to the competitive enterprise he does not approve. At this time we need not go at length into Mr. Brookhart's views regarding the dues of capital and of management. He has given them much publicity and he belongs to a school of political agitation which every one knows is persistently hostile to capital and thoroughly saturated with socialist theories.

But we assert that Mr. Brookhart's success as a politician in Iowa is, and cannot help being, taken as a warning against investment and energetic private enterprise in Iowa. If Mr. Brookhart's notions of economic organization and his temper toward capital and free enterprise are representative of a dominant majority in Iowa, no one with money to invest and no management seeking to establish itself and carry on productive enterprise can feel at ease about the prospects of treatment in law and policy in Iowa. The short-sighted radicalism which has flourished in Wisconsin, with which Brookhart is allied, has retarded the industrial development of that state, and it will retard that of Iowa. If Iowa wants to try experiments in socialistic industry, if Iowa admires with Mr. Brookhart the experiment of soviet Russia and is going to embark under his leadership on a process which is intended to substitute coöperative and communistic for private property and free enterprise, Iowa will find that its own free capital will leave the state, its own enterprise will stagnate, and outside capital and enterprise will shun the state as a healthy man will shun a disease ridden region.

We have no fear that a people like that of Iowa will march deliberately into the socialist bog, and therefore we have refused to believe that Mr. Brookhart's political successes have expressed the reasoned convictions of Iowa, or anything more serious and permanent than an emotional resentment against curable inequities in national policy. But, as an admirer of the sound qualities which we believe are the foundation of Iowa's citizenship and the source of the wide prosperity which, in spite of exceptions and temporary offsets, Iowa enjoys, we urge its thinking majority, its sane and substantial citizenship, to realize the material injury to the state and to their interests which Mr. Brookhart's prominence and political success inflict.

The socialistic tendencies, the half baked economic proposals, the destructive and obstructive temper of radical agrarian and political agitation in Iowa and other mid-western and western states, are retarding their wholesome development. A free industry will create a great fund of new wealth in these states, broadening the base of their prosperity and stabilizing it, raising the standard of living of all its people, and making possible public improvements like good roads, well lighted towns, modern transportation and schools, libraries, and all the factors of individual welfare and community progress we wish all America to possess. Give capital assurance of equitable treatment, encourage enterprising and resourceful management, and it will produce an increase of wealth and a prosperity which the farmer and the wage earner will share as fully as any other class.

Mr. Brookhart's abuse of capital and management, his hints and plans for restriction of earnings, and his bolshevik contempt for the principles of individual initiative and private property are a very poor advertisement of Iowa. We as westerners share the sense of injustice which is prevalent throughout the great valley, and we propose to do what we can to correct it, but by measures consistent with our American ideas of progress through the freedom of the individual and not by schemes which are foreign to our American genius and which, whenever tried as they have been in various forms and often in other countries, past and present, have failed miserably to fulfill their promises or raise the condition of the people in whose behalf they were attempted.

Iowa's true spirit is one of justice, confidence, and faith in American principles and ideals. The permanent scowl of Mr. Brookhart does not express it.

WELCOME.

Roman Catholics from all corners of the world are assembling in Chicago for the Eucharistic congress, the first gathering of the kind ever held in this country. Chicago was chosen for the congress partly because the city is centrally located and can accommodate a vast throng of visitors, but even more because the city is typically American. The tribute to the city is one which Chicagoans have not been slow to appreciate.

The congress will be marked by superb pageantry, couched in symbols which were old when Father Marquette first set foot on the site of Chicago. Americans travel to Europe by thousands every year in the hope of catching a glimpse of such splendors. Now it has all been brought to our doors. To the non-Catholic the congress offers an unusual opportunity to observe the blending of faith with esthetic appeal to which many of the world's greatest scholars, mystics, and artists have contributed through the centuries. Chicago, the youngest of the world's great cities, should profit from this contact with the venerable institution which gave birth to universities and cathedrals and has fostered all of the arts and sciences since the dawn of our era. Our community is only a hundred years old. We shall be the richer for this glimpse into one of the principal sources of our civilization.

To the Catholic the congress is a great demonstration of faith, of which the pageantry is but the outward expression. By hundreds of thousands the members of the church are gathering here for contemplation and prayer. Chicago welcomes them all, knowing that the city will be enriched spiritually by their presence.

THE GREATER SOUTH SIDE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Typical of the growth of Chicago and of the growth of civic consciousness is an organization only a few months old but already strong and productive—the Greater South Side Chamber of Commerce. It is one of many such coöperative organizations of business men in Chicago, founded, as are many, on the community and neighborhood idea.

Among its functions, as stated in its platform, the Greater South Side Chamber of Commerce includes such matters as coöperation in the solution of the city's traction problem, the widening, paving, and cleaning of streets, the procurement of proper schools, proper policing, adequate bridges, adequate railroad service, the abatement of the smoke nuisance, and the abolishment of criminal haunts.

In so great a city as Chicago such organizations of business men according to locality fulfill a necessary need of the larger community. City-wide organizations cannot keep in touch with neighborhood problems. Their task concern itself with broader interests. There must be wheels within wheels. There should be other chambers of commerce of other great sections of the city and smaller chambers of commerce of smaller sections of the large sections.

Each one, urging along its own community business and coöperating with all the others, will go far to bring about community and city betterment.

FIREMEN'S PENSIONS.

Mayor Dever has appointed a committee of citizens of standing in the community to act as trustees for the funds being collected for the firemen of the city. The collection has the formal indorsement of the Association of Commerce. Fifty thousand dollars has already been contributed although the campaign for funds has not yet been begun. No cash contributions are to be solicited; all money is to be sent by check either to the Foreman Trust and Savings bank or the Union Bank of Chicago, which are acting as depositories for the fund.

There are a number of funds which will benefit from the collection. They provide pensions for firemen incapacitated by age or injury and annuities for firemen's widows and orphans. It is unfortunately true that none of these funds is in a sound condition. The pension fund, for example, had a deficit of some $75,000 last year. The deficits have arisen from various causes. The appropriations from the public treasury might have been more generous; the actuarial work has left something to be desired, and there has probably been bad management.

The collection now being undertaken is only a stop-gap. It ought not be repeated yearly and there is no reason to expect that it will be. The risks are now being studied by competent actuaries. The contributions to the fund from the firemen and from taxation should be revised in the light of the requirements. Sound management should be assured. The next legislature is to be asked to revise the law governing firemen's pensions with a view to placing the funds on a sound basis.

Meanwhile there can be no doubt of the need for the present collection. The surplus is being rapidly exhausted and if it is allowed to disappear, pensions will have to be reduced. Nothing could be worse for the morale of the department. Firemen have to take risks in the performance of their duties. The community cannot afford to penalize courage and devotion.

Editorial of the Day

MIDWESTERN STATES NEED A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

[Des Moines (Ia.) Capital.]

To the states of the middle west THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE addresses a suggestion which is deserving of enthusiastic response, especially in Iowa. A mid-western chamber of commerce is proposed. The purpose would be to meet effectively the competition encountered by reason of similar commercial organization in other sections of the country.

It must at once be obvious to all that the real foundation of this plan is interstate organization for general economic advancement of agriculture.

A permanent organization, such as that proposed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, would eventually be able to meet the organized east on an equal footing. The middle west certainly needs the increased bargaining power which would result from this proposed commercial unity.

An interstate chamber of commerce, organized primarily in the name of agriculture, would be a distinct contribution to the American economic system. It would be the first definite step toward a business coalition based on the wiping out of the prejudicial barrier which has caused farmers and city dwellers to regard themselves as natural foes.

COPPER POISONING.

IT is dangerous to cook anything sour in copper kettles. Also to drink whisky and brandy that has been through copper coils. Also to mix your drinks in a copper cocktail shaker.

For several years Dr. F. B. Mallory has been investigating the subject of copper poisoning. There is less danger of acute, violent copper poisoning than there is of such poisoning by arsenic, mercury, and other heavy metals. The old fear of verdigris on copper was not well founded. It is not a violent poison. But in routing out that superstition the movement went to the other extreme. The people went to sleep on the question of danger from copper. What was intended to be an afternoon nap has developed into a deep sleep. While there is little danger of acute, violent, die in a day copper poisoning, there is much danger of chronic, slow disorders due to this metal.

At the far end of the line are the people who have had three severe symptoms: they have sugar in the urine; they turn a deep sunburn color (become pigmented), and they develop cirrhosis of the liver, with the symptoms of that disorder. Cases that develop these symptoms usually die from the poison, regardless of what is done for them.

So far Mallory has written about these extreme cases. Wherever there are extremes there must be everyday cases in larger numbers which are overlooked. In time we may learn more about the milder cases of chronic copper poisoning.

Lythgoe examined 798 samples of hootch and found copper in considerable quantities in almost one-ninth of them. In another batch of eight specimens of liquor Mallory reports copper present in all.

Milk which is pasteurized in copper vats or flows through copper coils is apt to pick up copper. Likewise coffee which is made in copper pots and food which is cooked in copper kettles. Apple butter was found to contain it rather frequently, also canned goods.

In order that the food may act on the kettle it is necessary that some acid be present. Fermenting liquor mashes, foods which contain vinegar, sour fruits and vegetables, and butter that contains some acid—all these may pick up a fair dose of copper from the kettle or the container.

Of course, copper dust may be a menace. Men who work around brass and copper foundries are in some danger. The important question is: What is the poisonous dose of copper?

Brass water pipes and copper coils in hot water heaters will become almost porous in 18 years' use. Mallory found copper in the water in such pipes.

But in his judgment the dose of copper in hot water that has passed through such pipes is too small to do harm to the person drinking it.

FATTENING FOODS.

D. G. R. writes:

1. Is three-quarters pound meat eaten daily without bread fattening?
2. Are peas and beans fattening?
3. Will one quart of milk and a box of soda crackers help to reduce weight if no other food is taken for several weeks?

REPLY.

1. Much depends upon how much other food you eat. Some part of a meat diet can be converted into fat.
2. Yes.
3. A quart of milk and a box of soda crackers a day is a fairly fattening diet. If you want to go on a reducing diet, start by cutting down on crackers and milk.

WHAT IS PELLAGRA?

L. H. B. writes: I have before me an article about pellagra. You don't explain what pellagra is, and I am sure that there is not one of ten laymen who knows what it is.

REPLY.

Pellagra is thought to be a deficiency disease. It is characterized by sunburn when there is no occasion for it, weakness, diarrhea, sore mouth, and mental disturbance.

There are many thousand cases in America. Several hundred die from it every year. Just about twenty years ago it was discovered to be widespread in America. Prior to that time it had been much discussed as a European (principally Italian) disease.

Volumes have been written about it. Newspapers carry many articles about it and have for years. It frequently finds its way into columns other than health columns.

TO REPLACE WINDOW.

Chicago, June 10.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A boy on a bicycle dashed a big piece of strong wire through the window in one of my tenant's flats, which splintered the glass to fine pieces all over the living room. Who will have to stand the expense of replacement, the landlord, the tenant, or the boy?

MRS. F.

In absence of agreement to the contrary, the tenant would be legally obliged to make the repair. The boy would be liable for the damage if it was due to his negligence.

Proprietor of concern complained of has promised there will be no further cause for complaint and location will be kept under observation to see that promises are lived up to.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 16, 1861.

SPRINGFIELD.—Gov. Yates, by special order, appointed Capt. U. S. Grant, late of the United States army, colonel of the Seventh Congressional District regiment, now at Camp Yates, vice S. S. Goode, deposed. Col. Grant's regiment numbers 1,096 men. Maj. Gen. McClellan was here and made a tour of inspection of the camp, leaving in the afternoon for Chicago. It is possible that Illinois will be made an independent military department.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The capital of Missouri was taken possession of by United States troops under Gen. Lyon. No violence was offered to the federal soldiers, Gov. Jackson and other leading secessionists having left the city on the steamer White Cloud for Boonville before the Union troops arrived. Much disappointment was manifested among the federal troops on finding that the enemy had fled. The Stars and Stripes were raised over the capitol.

EDITORIAL.—The prompt and brilliant movements of Gen. Lyon in Missouri following Gov. Jackson's declaration of war against the United States have commanded the attention and admiration of the whole country. But for the unfortunate grounding of a steamboat in the Missouri river, the double-dyed traitor who sits in the executive chair would doubtless now be in his clutches. Notwithstanding the accident the strategic points of the state are now in the hands of the loyal troops. Jackson is reported to have fled to Arrow Rock. We shall probably hear in a few days he has fled the state. We hope Gen. Lyon will follow him and take him. Claib. Jackson has earned his hemp. Let us hope he may get it.

PHILADELPHIA.—A special dispatch from Hagerstown says that the advance guard of Gen. Patterson's division, about 10,000 strong, arrived there, and the whole command is rapidly moving southward.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Schenck has been ordered across the Potomac with his brigade of four regiments. An attack from Beauregard is expected.

CHICAGO.—Maj. Gen. McClellan arrived here on a special train and is staying at the Richmond house.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 16, 1901.

CHICAGO.—"Pool war or no pool war," officials of the Washington Park club declared the horses will run at their course for Derby honors next Saturday, June 22. Judge Tuley refused to grant the injunction against pool selling and bookmaking sought by friends of Gov. Yates against Harlem until the other side is heard. Washington park officials admitted, however, that betting may be cut out. They declared they do not need the revenues gained by the rental of stands to bookmakers.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Thomas T. Johnston of Evanston, wife of the engineer who built the bear trap dam on the drainage canal, sheltered Mrs. Luella Cramer, a lunatic, whom she believed was ill and without friends, and her kind heart got her into trouble. When a physician was called, three policemen dashed past him into the Johnston home and took Mrs. Cramer away, compelling her to walk three blocks. Chief Knight has ordered an investigation.

CHICAGO.—The cornerstones of the University Press building and Charles Hitchcock hall were laid as part of the exercises in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the University of Chicago. From early morning until late at night John D. Rockefeller, the founder of the university, watched the services. Arthur Eugene Bester, president of the graduating class, speaking for the graduates, presented the university a memorial tablet by Lorado Taft to Stephen A. Douglas, founder of the first university established in Chicago.

LONDON.—Lord Kitchener telegraphs that Elliott's column, during the march from Vrede, Orange River Colony, engaged the Boers under De Wet and defeated them. War news is meager, but experienced men believe that peace is near.

JUNE 16, 1916.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—In the presence of a cheering, song singing crowd of 12,000 that packed the Coliseum to its capacity and left a surging, tumultuous mob of ticket holders outside, Woodrow Wilson was renominated for President of the United States by acclamation at 11:50 o'clock. At 11:55 o'clock Vice President Thomas Riley Marshall was renominated by acclamation. Thus, by five minutes, did the Democrats escape their dreaded hoodoo of a ticket named on Friday.

CHICAGO.—Dr. Ralph W. Webster, toxicologist, took the witness stand at the Orpet murder trial in Waukegan and proved conclusively that Marion Lambert died of liquid potassium cyanide. The establishment of this fact beyond a reasonable doubt was the most sensational achievement so far scored by the state. It went a long way, seemingly, toward proving that Marion Lambert was murdered. It does not follow necessarily that Will Orpet was the murderer. It will require other evidence to prove that than the word of an expert in toxicology.

CHICAGO.—President Edmund J. James of the University of Illinois will become a candidate for governor on the Republican ticket if he believes the voters really want him, according to the best information obtainable after he and former Gov. Charles S. Deneen had conferred at the Union League club. President James arrived in Chicago yesterday to discuss the political situation with Mr. Deneen and others opposed to the candidacy of Col. Frank O. Lowden.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Roger C. Sullivan today received the votes of 44 of the 58 Illinois delegates for the vice presidential nomination and then told the caucus that he did not want his name presented to the convention under any consideration.

RED AND WHITE RUSSIANS CLASH DURING FUNERALS

BY RODERICK MATHESON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HARBIN, North Manchuria, May 18.—Harbin was the last city over which flew the flag of the Russian czar, while today it is the only big city outside of Russia where the Red banner, with its sickle and hammer, predominates. Into Harbin, when Siberia was running red with the blood of massacre, poured a hundred thousand White Russian refugees, nearly half of whom remain, the majority too poor to get away.

Some have accepted soviet citizenship in order to secure passports, these being known as "radishes" because red outside only and white within. Others have preferred to become Chinese citizens, preferring all the uncertainties of what passes for a government in China to the certainties of what has been established as a government at Moscow.

The bitterness between these Whites in Harbin and the local Reds is intense. Following Chinese recognition of Moscow has come Red control of the Chinese Eastern railroad, which, with its allied industries, controls practically all the jobs in and around Harbin, and all the White employés have either been fired or forced to accept soviet citizenship. As the schools are financed by the railroad, all White teachers have been forced to leave and Red teachers, engaged to teach communism as the main item of the curriculum, have been employed, thus forcing the Whites to withdraw their children or have them contaminated. Most of the Whites now attend a school run by the Young Men's Christian association, under American auspices.

Sovietism has cast out religion, hence all the numerous churches in Harbin are White, but very poor, with an army of priests consequently heated in their denunciation of everything that is Red.

So far, the main clashes between the Reds and the Whites in Harbin have come during or immediately after some religious festival or funeral, most frequently the latter. Under various names the Red youths and the White youths are organized into bands, between which bloody fights are frequent, sometimes ending in killings. Gangs of White youths will stone a Red funeral and start a riot, or Red firebrands will invade a White cemetery and have a hectic half hour tearing down crosses from graves until the alarm can go out and the Whites dash to the rescue.

Funerals just now are more political than religious. The Whites continue in the old style for obsequies, but as everything about the funeral is white in color—the great cross burns at the head of the cortége, the robes of the priests, the trappings of the hearse horses, and the hearse itself, the coffin and the lilies around it, and the dresses of the women mourners—this is an offense in Red eyes. On their part, the Reds, lacking priests and incense and intoned prayers, go in for color in their funerals. Everything that can be made red is that color, so that when a "comrade" passes to his reward his final farewell partakes of a circus procession.

Any Russian funeral is an interesting spectacle when seen for the first time—a Red funeral particularly so. Ahead marches a "comrade" in decorated laborer costume, as a rule, holding aloft the red flag of the soviet union. Behind him march a group carrying the coffin lid, bright scarlet in covering, and behind these another group carrying the open coffin, also red, with the corpse of the departed one in full view, the white face and hands being the one white note in the procession.

Follows the hearse, drawn by four horses, with sweeping red trappings and red hoods to the eyelids. The harness is wound with red tape and the hearse screams in red from wheel hubs to the great star above the canopy. Why a hearse is needed at all, considering that the coffin and lid are borne by hand from house to graveside, is a puzzle. Behind the hearse march the mourners, in a motley crowd, without order.

A White funeral is the same except for the color scheme, but it is led by one or several priests and a great Russian cross, painted white, replaces the soviet flag. Each White grave carries a cross, with the name of the interred and an appropriate text, while the Red graves are marked with red stars inscribed "to the greatness of the glory," or some other such wording, which may mean something unreligious to a Russian Communist.

X-RAY REVEALS ART

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—On the evidence of an X-ray negative, the Metropolitan Museum of Art announced the recovery in fair condition of an authentic "Portrait of a Lady" by Franz Pourbus the younger. In the room or recent accessions is shown a panel painting by this artist diagnosed by X-ray and now cleaned of its repaints.

To illustrate one of the ways in which this discovery of modern science can be made to serve the uses of connoisseurship, the painting is exhibited with three photographs; one is a photograph of the museum's portrait before it was cleaned; a second shows a typical X-ray film taken from the same portrait, also before cleaning, and the third shows all repaints cleaned away.

H. B. Wehle tells how the problem concerning this portrait presented itself to the museum some months ago, and reviews the X-ray experiment. On the basis of general appearance and on the way the lace collar was painted, the portrait was attributed to Pourbus. Clearly it was an old portrait with a new face, overpainted with newer pigments. The problem was whether on cleaning away the new face, the old would be found underneath or whether this had been lost or irreparably damaged through some accident to the panel.

It was in an effort to settle this question before obliterating the nineteenth century work on the panel that the X-ray photographs were resorted to, and according to Mr. Wehle, the success of the experiment was strikingly manifest.

The X-ray recorded a woman's face differing in several respects from that on the surface of the painting. Closer examination of the X-ray showed that the painted surface beneath the repaint extended intact over the middle portion of the panel, the only damages being a chip out of the forehead and a crack running through the left side of the face. It also was revealed that the original panel had been inlaid in a panel larger by about one and one-half inches on each side.

On this evidence the museum had the panel cleaned of its repaints, and the original panel came to light exactly as the X-ray had recorded it.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, June 15.—"Mexico and the United States are twice as close today as they were yesterday," Eduardo Ortiz, undersecretary of communications, said today at the opening of the new direct United States-Mexico telegraph office here. "Today," Señor Ortiz continued, "a direct wire communication between Mexico City, Chicago, and New York has been inaugurated."

President Coolidge of the United States addressed President Calles of Mexico:

"I am happy to avail myself of the opportunity presented by the opening of the direct telegraph communication between New York and Mexico City to express to your excellency greetings and congratulations upon the inauguration of this important service, which I trust will be mutually advantageous to both countries in the promotion of their common interests."

Señor Calles replied: "With satisfaction I received your congratulations relative to the opening of direct wire communication between New York and this capital, which undoubtedly will bring innumerable benefits to Mexico and the United States in the development of their respective interests. Therefore, I return the congratulations on an event which signifies another transcontinental step in the tightening of the friendly relations between both governments."

Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union, exchanged messages of congratulations with Señor Ortiz.

THE HIGH COST OF TRAVEL.

Champaign, Ill., June 15.—School is out and the wanderlust has got us. But $50 to New York City and return means 80 bushels of corn, and in a short time the hotels get that much more. Some years ago we could travel from Champaign to Chicago for $2.52, but an obliging President or congress—which was it?—raised rail rates here in Illinois from 2 cents to 3.6 cents per mile, 80% at one fell swoop, and yet can do nothing for us farmers.

Hooray for Brookhart, the farmers' hope in this section of the Mississippi valley. Switzerland gives low rail rates which permit continuous traveling both day and night without limit to mileage during the life of the ticket. Germany gives exceedingly low rates for cultural excursions, at intervals, taking in all cities of the republic, with special low admission rates to art galleries, etc. "See America first" is a good slogan, but how pitifully few of us can.

In England no city is more than 80 miles from the sea shore. Imagine some of us farmers wanting to take the family to hear what the wild waves are saying, and figure out the number of bushels of oats for such an excursion, or even to see the Liberty bell at the sesquicentennial. Nothing doing! We must needs stay at home and feed the cows and chickens in order to pay our taxes [which have been boosted from less than $1 to over $13 per capita in 8 years for state purposes alone] and eat.

JUDGE TRUDE.

Chicago, June 9.—Those who have known Dan Trude in high school and university and in the years since will resent heartily the insinuations in your editorial of today. No one who knows Judge Trude will assume that he is "Lundin's man" or any one else's man. To have known Dan Trude in his private or his public life is to know that he is very much his own man, and that he is "possessed of a superior degree of political morality."

DOUGLAS SUTHERLAND.

AGAINST ALL TYRANNIES.

Chicago, June 12.—Does it ever occur to those who so bitterly resent the policy of THE TRIBUNE in respect to prohibition that there are many conservative people who whole heartedly applaud that policy as broad minded and American? Many of us who have watched the results of this present love feast of medievalism in such instances as the evolution trial in Tennessee and the utter failure of prohibition as a law in this country feel that it is time to lift up our voices in protest against the farce of continuing to attempt to enforce a law that is obviously obnoxious to a majority of people.

Let us have a little broadmindedness and intelligence in our next effort in underwriting the sacred American principle of personal liberty, if it is still necessary to tamper with it at all. With the trade unions tyrannizing the economic world, the blue law exponents arbitrarily directing what we may drink and what we may or may not learn, it is time the remaining individuals shall champion the cause of Americanism, that liberty may not perish from the earth.

A LAW ABIDING CITIZEN.

IN MEMORIAM.

Chicago, June 10.—There died in this town the other day and was laid away Mr. J. H. Eustace. In connection with his death I cannot shake out of my mind the story in last Sunday's TRIBUNE by Mr. Mencken. Mencken told us he looked in encyclopedias in vain for facts about industry, and in literature in vain for the stories of industry. Mr. Eustace lived a great story in Chicago, and who would ever guess what it was?

I happened to meet him a few weeks before he died, and he talked of his life. It was a life of forty years in one job and that job was one that touched everybody in Chicago.

What woman, for instance, ever has turned on her gas stove and has been worried whether or not the flame would respond to the match? Then you have the life of Eustace. It was preoccupied for forty years with all the concentrated worries of the whole town on that one theme. With eyes sparkling he told of what to him were major battles—battles to keep the big gas holders that swear out upon our horizon from sinking down. The one battle cry of his life was, "Keep the holders full." He told of battles that carried thousands of men into action for forty-eight hours at a stretch when the gas was sinking low and something prevented refilling. Not a very idealistic life, many would say who like to sneer down industries and industrial men.

Whatever the public thinks of Eustace's life work, I know it gave him a thrill of achievement and made him one of the sweetest and finest men of completed years I have happened to have contact with.

LIGHTING THE TOWER.

Chicago, June 12.—George G. Herst suggests that lights be installed in the top of The Tribune Tower. The space which he finds objectionable, by revealing a bit of sky background, serve to accentuate the exquisite outline, which no doubt was the intention of the architect. The charm and mystery of your tower is greatly enhanced by the softening, mellowing influence of the night, and it is much too fine to be cheapened by tawdry illumination.

DISRESPECT TO THE CITY'S SEAL.

Chicago, June 11.—Every time I enter the Chicago public library building my pride as a Chicagoan is abused by hundreds of people.

At the Washington street entrance there is a large seal in the floor bearing the motto "Urbs in Horto." It would be unnecessary for me to explain the meaning of this seal, or its presence in the library. I take it for granted that those who go to the library for information in one line of knowledge or another know that this motto means "The City in the Garden." Yet, with so beautiful a meaning, these hundreds of people that come daily to the library to use their own property as best they can will ignorantly abuse this large bronze seal which is their property also.

There are just a few people that stop to admire it as they go in and out of the building. This unnecessary abuse should be stopped. It is my opinion that a fence should be made to surround this seal. The presence of the fence will attract those who have crossed it previously and would stop them long enough to consider their mistakes.

GEN. WU MOVES ON KUOMINCHUN FROM 3 SIDES

Unites with Chang After Premier Yen Quits.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEKING, June 15.—Failing to establish a government after five weeks, Premier W. W. Yen prepared today a circular telegram to be sent to the provinces announcing his resignation. He feels he has been made the victim of militarist maneuvering and declines further efforts to serve the country.

In an effort to avert a breach at a time when the Kuominchun (national army) and Kuomintang are pressing on Gen. Chang Tso-lin and Gen. Wu Pei-fu may endeavor to persuade Dr. Yen to preside over a temporary government until the provincial elections are completed.

To Attack in 3 Directions.

Gen. Chang insists the foremost question is the destruction of the Kuominchun, for which campaign Marshal Wu will become commander in chief, with Gen. Chang confining his efforts solely to operations in Dolonnor and inner Mongolia.

Marshal Wu, facing the crisis of his career, is massing for attacks in three directions upon Nankow, Hawlai, and Hsuanhuafu, having Gen. Chang to the extreme right and the Shansi governor, Yen Hsi-shan, to the extreme left at Tatung.

Marshal Wu probably will lead personally the main column, although he will remain at Paotingfu until they have been placed in position. In the last fortnight troops have disembarked fifty-two miles south of Peking for a mountain march from the Manchu western tombs over a trail fit only for donkeys and reaching an elevation of 9,500 feet. This is the most difficult operation in modern Chinese warfare.

No Artillery in Use.

Owing to the nature of the country, Marshal Wu is unable to convey artillery or use a transport boat, but is assisted by camels. The base of operations for the general attack is at Yuchow, near the Chihli-Shansi frontier, where Gov. Yen is delivering 500 three inch guns with 1,000 rounds each, together with rifle ammunition, grenades and forage.

PAIR WED TO AID CAUSE OF SALVATION ARMY

When Ensign James Dermody and Capt. Marion Hoare, both workers at the territorial headquarters of the Salvation Army at 719 North State street, were married last evening they swore their marriage was "not for personal happiness but for serving God and the Army."

Special permission for the wedding was granted from the International headquarters in London. The bride and bridegroom marched down the aisle at Corp No. 1, 1512 West Madison street, surrounded by the dull blue costumes of their comrades, the only color being supplied by bright flags and two flower girls.

As usual in the Army, the wife will assume the title of her husband and become an ensign.

ROB MAN OF $2,600.

James Cerny, 5007 South Western avenue, was held up and robbed early yesterday as he was driving his automobile into a garage at 5001 Western avenue. The men took his jewelry valued at $2,600 and $40.

ALDERMAN SEEKS TO FORCE R. R.'S TO ELECTRIFY

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe [42d], chairman of the committee on city planning, parks and athletics, will present a resolution to the city council today intended to urge along electrification of steam railway terminals. This resolution asserts that a "majority of the railway companies, whose lines terminate in Chicago, are actively considering plans to provide for more modern and more complete terminal facilities."

Ald. Crowe says in his resolution that "all of said companies should be required to immediately abandon the use of steam locomotives within the city of Chicago, because they are admittedly a menace; and install electrical power, which is more economical in operation and better adapted to the needs of a great city."

Wants Tracks Depressed.

After the electrification the alderman has an idea that the railway tracks should be depressed. Miles and miles of these have been elevated at the insistence of the city.

"The principal source of Chicago's congestion," reads a formal typewritten statement of the alderman, "is to be found in the location and construction of railroad terminals. These constitute an evil, the effects of which upon our existing and future generations, nobody could possibly foresee. We have accepted their smoke, their noise and their gases as a matter of course. Also we have refrained from quarreling with them, because of the conveniences they have forced upon us. Their lines radiate through the heart of Chicago, like the ribs of a fan, and cut up and divide the territory of the city in a manner that leaves most of the units thus created all but inaccessible to each other.

"This must be corrected in time. Chicago cannot go forward, increasing phenomenally in wealth and population, without radically altering the physical conditions which are constantly making it more and more difficult to carry on business economically, speedily, and efficiently.

His Plan of Action.

"Railroad tracks will have to be depressed and electrical power installed."

It is upon that sentence that Ald. Crowe's plan of action hinges. Believing and anticipating that electrification and depression of the present elevated tracks will come, his resolution says that his committee "is hereby empowered to make a survey of all the factors involved in the location of new and widening and improvement of existing thoroughfares, which may be accomplished as a result of any accepted plan providing for track depression."

He admits that depression of the tracks would be impracticable without first electrifying the lines. Mr. Crowe commends the Illinois Central and then adds:

"That company already has foreseen the vast values of air rights, which its enterprise has created. Similarly, another great railroad, occupying land in the heart of the city, has publicly proclaimed that its air rights are worth untold millions, but curiously its officers have said nothing about electrifying the company's lines, notwithstanding that the employment of steam locomotives on tracks running beneath buildings, constructed over such tracks, might prove annoying and even detrimental to the occupants of such buildings.

Duty to Electrify.

"It is the duty of the railroads to abandon their steam locomotives within the city of Chicago, and our duty to compel them to do so, if they are not disposed to yield to the demand of public opinion."

The council judiciary committee has Mayor Dever's special message on electrification, and the committee on railway terminals has in charge the new terminal schemes of the Dearborn, La Salle, and Grand Central railroad station groups. Now the committee on city planning proposes to take up another phase of the subject.

CHARGES BANKS WANT RECEIVER FOR CAR LINES

Alderman Says They Seek to Keep Traction Cash.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Ald. O. F. Nelson [46th] will present to the city council today a resolution teeming with charges and insinuations against certain bankers, and directing the purchase of 350 new cars for the surface lines and the construction of at least 60 miles of new track.

A few explanations are requisite for an understanding of the Nelson plan. Under the 1907 ordinances the companies must set aside a prescribed percentage of their receipts for depreciation and renewals. This fund now totals $15,831,832 as of Jan. 31 last, according to Ald. Nelson. The franchises expire Feb. 1, 1927, and protective committees are attempting to obtain an agreement of the security holders for three years, and possibly two years, after the grants lapse. This, the alderman charges, is promoting a receivership. Ald. Nelson's plan—which he asserts is legal—is to spend the $15,831,832 for more cars and tracks before the receiverships arrive.

Says Receivership Is Sought.

In a formal statement Ald. Nelson explains his resolution. He says:

"I find that not only Henry A. Blair, but bankers such as A. W. Harris, Frank O. Wetmore, and their associates are prepared for and are inviting receivership proceedings immediately on expiration of the franchises next February. The bankers are now making proposals to first mortgage bond holders for control of bonds for three years, and possibly five years."

Of the renewal fund, which Nelson calls "idle surplus cash," he says, "I find that over $7,000,000 is deposited in the Illinois Merchants Trust company, of which Henry A. Blair is senior vice president, in addition to being president of the Surface Lines and the Chicago Railways company."

The resolution says that $7,100,388 is deposited in the Illinois Merchants Trust company, $6,231,033 in the First Trust and Savings bank, $814,836 in the Harris Trust and Savings, $630,080 in the Union Trust, $546,549 in the Central Trust, and $436,462 in the Continental and Commercial National bank.

Wants Funds for Service.

"The surface lines are receiving only 3 per cent on these gigantic cash deposits," Ald. Nelson's statement continues. "It is but natural that these banks would desire to keep these juicy profit making deposits for a three year or five year period of receivership.

"There is no reason why this $16,000,000 fund should not be expended to give immediately better transportation service."

The alderman charges that the surface lines promised 460 miles of extensions and that they have given less than half of that amount. If the $16,000,000 is invested in cars and tracks he claims it would earn 8.25 per cent as contrasted with 3 per cent.

"The $16,000,000 in the banks," Ald. Nelson says, "is serving no useful purpose, except for the bankers." He asserts that conditions even outside of the loop are intolerable because of the lack of cars and extensions.

Resolution Demands Action.

His resolution directs the corporation counsel, city controller and board of supervising engineers to confer with the companies at once to institute the necessary proceedings to obtain the 350 new cars and 60 miles of new track. Under his plan the local transportation committee would report in 30 days where the new tracks shall be built.

There also is another provision in the 1907 ordinances which requires the companies to set aside a certain percentage of their receipts for damage claims. This fund now totals $5,997,810. Ald. Nelson proposes in another resolution that the part of the damage reserve which will not be needed for settlement of damage suits shall be invested in good bonds.

INFECTION OF FIGHT INJURY FATAL.

Fred Lothemeyer, 68 years old, of 1410 South Halsted street, died of blood poisoning Monday in the County hospital. The infection developed from injuries to his arm received in a fight about a month ago, according to his stepdaughter, Mrs. Alice Schmidt.

MRS. DULA WINS $100,000 VERDICT FOR LOST LOVE

Charges Mother-in-Law Alienated Husband.

New York, June 15.—[Special.]—Mrs. Elsie Hinman Dula received a verdict for $100,000 today when a jury decided against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Robert B. Dula, whom she sued for $250,000 for alienating the affections of her husband, Robert L. Dula.

The alienation suit is the second case Mrs. Dula has won in recent months. A decree of separation with $5,000 a year alimony recently was awarded to her, although it was brought out in this trial that, owing to an appeal taken by her husband, Mrs. Dula has been getting only $35 a week temporary alimony and has been in straightened circumstances.

The verdict today may not mark the end of the years of litigation between Mrs. Dula and her husband and his parents. Outerbridge Horsey, counsel for the elder Mrs. Dula, moved that the verdict be set aside as contrary to the weight of evidence. Justice Crain reserved decision.

The Dulas were married Dec. 30, 1919, eleven days after Mrs. Dula divorced her first husband, Charles G. Lewis. They separated in September, 1922. The testimony brought out in the trial centered about numerous drinking parties and assertions that the elder Dulas had sought to persuade their daughter-in-law to divorce their son and had otherwise used their influence to separate the couple. The elder Dula, who was formerly vice president of the American Tobacco company, died a short time ago.

MAXWELL STREET BARRISTER WANTS NO MORE JOKING

Attorney Herman Wilke, who has practiced law in the Maxwell street court for twenty years, has declared war on practical jokers who have been tormenting him.

Yesterday he obtained a warrant charging that "one Joe Sutz did hurl a bucket of dirty water on me, and said person did then decorate my head with one brick." Judge Samuel H. Trude, although criticizing the terms used in the complaint, ordered the arrest of Sutz.

Among the other actions of Sutz the attorney lists the tearing off of his necktie, the pulling of his mustache, the cutting of his hair while he dozed and the breaking of ancient eggs on his head.

"I'm tired of it," he declared. "I'm through having these fellows make a keystoner out of me."

LONE FILIBUSTER OF REED BLOCKS LAW'S EXTENSION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.—Action on the bill extending the life of the maternity and infancy law was blocked today by Senator Reed [Dem., Mo.]. The senate during the morning business hour voted to take up the bill. Senator Reed, however, who opposed extension of the law, talked until 2 o'clock when the farm bill automatically became the business before the senate.

The house bill provided for the extension of the maternity and infancy act, originally intended to continue for five years, for an additional two years. As amended by the senate committee on education and labor, it would be extended for only one additional year. Senator Reed opposed any extension at all.

"This bill, in my opinion, has never saved a human life and never done any good to a human being except individuals who have drawn salaries."

PRISONER TAKES NAME OF DOCTOR DEAD TWO YEARS

Belleville, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—Facts tending to show the man held a prisoner in the county jail here under the name of Dr. David Provan, on a charge of abducting pretty 16 year old Venita Maher of Caseyville, Ill., is an imposter were revealed during an investigation held today by State's Attorney H. C. Lindauer and E. F. Reiss, an inspector from the department of registration and education at Springfield.

According to Inspector Reiss, records obtained at Chicago show that Dr. Provan, to whom a diploma was given as physician and surgeon at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, died in Chicago July 18, 1924, at the age of 64 years. The diploma was awarded Dr. Provan on April 18, 1892, when the physician was 30 years old, the investigation disclosed, while the man in the county jail here gave his age as 54.

What would you do?

It had happened twice before—this business of customers writing in to ask that Hargrave be taken off the account as a salesman.

He was a very presentable fellow, too. Well-mannered, agreeable, rather engaging.

Yet there was something that seemed to make him unwelcome as a frequent caller.

The Sales Manager was perplexed. Yet he suspected the reason.

You, yourself, rarely know when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath). That's the insidious thing about it. And even your closest friends won't tell you.

Sometimes, of course, halitosis comes from some deep-seated organic disorder that requires professional advice. But usually—and fortunately—halitosis is only a local condition that yields to the regular use of Listerine as a mouth wash and gargle. It puts you on the safe and polite side. Moreover, in using Listerine to combat halitosis, you are quite sure to avoid sore throat and those more serious illnesses that start with throat infections.

Listerine halts food fermentation in the mouth and leaves the breath sweet, fresh and clean. Not by substituting some other odor but by really removing the old one. The Listerine odor itself quickly disappears.

This safe and long-trusted antiseptic has dozens of different uses; note the little circular that comes with every bottle. Your druggist sells Listerine in the original brown package only—never in bulk. There are four sizes: 14 ounce, 7 ounce, 3 ounce and 1¼ ounce. Buy the large size for economy.—Lambert Pharmacal Company, Saint Louis, U. S. A.

FREAR ATTACKS WATERWAYS AS WASTE OF MONEY

Assails Plan to Build Illinois Link.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Bitterly attacking the omnibus rivers and harbors bill providing for the Illinois link of the lakes to the gulf waterway, Representative Frear [Rep., Wis.] tonight urged the senate commerce committee to kill the whole bill.

The Wisconsin representative asserted that the great lakes commerce was worth more than 150 Mississippi waterways would ever be and for that reason should be protected.

He asserted that there is no use to develop the Missouri river, one of the projects in the bill, or the upper Mississippi river, because 'there never will be commerce worthy of the name on either river."

"I think the bill should be defeated," he told the committee, "because there are so many bad projects in it. Take the upper Mississippi project, for instance. It is proposed to develop it further, but I tell you that if you ha a fifteen foot channel on the upper Mississippi river there would be no commerce to use it. It would be fraud to develop this river.

"There is not a particle of excuse for taking water out of the great lakes, where a great commerce has been developed, to provide Illinois with a waterway."

Illinois to Have Inning.

The attack of Representative Frear on the bill followed a day devoted principally to consideration of the item in the bill providing for the development of the Missouri river between Kansas City and Sioux City, Ia.

Tomorrow the committee will take up the Illinois waterway proposition again, and an attempt will be made to complete consideration of that item. Supporters of the Illinois river improvement will have their innings before the committee tomorrow night, and indications are strong that the hearings on the $90,000,000 rivers and harbors bill will be completed Thursday or Friday at the latest.

Hopes for Report Friday.

Senator Deneen [Rep., Ill.] hopes to have the bill favorably reported to the senate Friday. In that case it will be ready for action by the upper house as soon as the farm and radio bills are off the program.

In arguing for the Missouri river improvement, Representative Willis G. Sears [Rep., Neb.] criticized the present rate of waterway development in this country and appealed for more rapid progress in completing our great water transportation system.

"Waterways should be built for the present generation," he asserted. "It is a waste to delay construction on a project simply because the government wants to finish another improvement first. The government should go about building its waterways like a business man would build them.

Wants Aid for the Missouri.

"We in the Missouri river territory are in the hinterland of this country and we are suffering because we do not have cheap transportation. What we ask is the help of congress in developing the Missouri.

"The items in the rivers and harbors bill are but dolls for children to play with compared with the projects that should be completed."

Representative Edgar G. Ellis [Rep., Mo.] said thirty million people would be benefited by the development of the Mississippi system of waterways. He urged the completion of the nation's waterway system as a whole instead of piecemeal.

C. E. Childe, traffic manager of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, asserted that the people of the Missouri district were in the midst of a practical political revolt because of economic conditions, many of which could be obviated by improvement of the Missouri river.

Spokesmen for the lake states anti-Illinois river waterway bloc will be heard by the senate commerce committee tomorrow morning, it was announced here tonight. Earlier plans, which included a hearing of Representative Burton [Rep., O.], leader of the unsuccessful filibuster in the house against the Illinois improvement, tonight were shelved at the last minute by the committee.

CITY CLUB GIVES CHICAGO SIDE OF WATERWAY FIGHT

Question-Answer Booklet Explains Project.

Apropos the controversy at Washington over water diversion from Lake Michigan at Chicago, the City club issued yesterday a "Catechism on the Lakes to Gulf Waterway and the Sanitary Canal" through Herbert E. Fleming, its executive secretary. It embodies, in simple question and answer form, facts recited in many reports from boards and commissions of engineers, and it was compiled by the sanitary engineering committee of the club, of which M. L. Greeley is chairman. A few samples of the contents are:

Q.—How much did the sanitary district canals cost? A.—Including river improvements, branch canals, intercepting sewers, pumping stations, etc., over $100,000,000.

Q.—How much of this was expended for the lakes-to-gulf waterway feature? A.—The main canal cost over $60,000,000, of which about $8,500,000 extra was spent on river improvements and drawbridges to enable ships to use the waterway as far as Lockport, 36 miles inland.

Chicago Only Slightly to Blame.

Q.—The diversion of water at Chicago has been held responsible for the lowering of the water level of the lakes two or three feet in recent years. To what extent is this true? A.—Secretary Hoover answers: "The United States engineers report that something less than one-sixth of this fall has been due to diversion at Chicago and five-sixths to the climatic cycle. It may be safe to hazard that Chicago is not to blame for the climatic cycle! Moreover, it is plain that Chicago must have some water from the lake."

Q.—Can lake levels be raised? A.—Yes. Secretary Hoover says: "The real question is to hold more water in the lakes. Lawyers and courts cannot hold it there, but the engineers can. Litigation produces feeling, but not water. Our United States engineers tell us—and they are the best engineering corps in the world—that they can restore the levels by curtailing the flow at Niagara until the lakes fill up. They tell us that proportionately to the gigantic flow it is a small job."

How Levels Can Be Raised.

Q.—Just how can this be done? A.—The outflow at Niagara varies with the season and from day to day from about 160,000 cubic feet a second to over 240,000. By regulating works in the Niagara river and at the outlet of Lake Huron, at times of high water, the flow can be held back to raise lake levels, and a more even flow, averaging about 200,000 cubic second feet, can be maintained at all times.

Q.—Why has Chicago been held responsible for all lake shipping ills, and the sanitary district of Chicago been subjected to numerous costly law suits? A.—Due to general lack of understanding of the chief cause of present low water levels and of the only real remedy; to the self interest of the water power companies at Niagara; to the fact that the Chicago "water steal" makes a safe political question for stirring up prejudice and sectional feeling.

Mrs. Scott Again Barred from Starvation Exhibit

Mrs. Catherine Scott, wife of Russell Scott, to be hanged for the murder of Joseph Maurer, if a jury in Judge Marcus Kavanagh's court next week finds that he has recovered his sanity, was stopped again yesterday in her efforts to raise money at a starvation show at 50 cents per look. Judge Hugo Friend intimated yesterday that he would deny an injunction sought to prevent the police from stopping her exhibition at a theater.

EDITOR MAGEE IS ON TRIAL FOR FRIEND'S DEATH

Less than an Hour Required to Select Jury.

East Las Vegas, N. M., June 15.—(AP)—In a setting that curiously intermingled the Spanish and American, Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque editor and stormy petrel of Mexico politics, went on trial here today on a charge of manslaughter. The charge resulted from the fatal shooting of John B. Lassetter, young highway department engineer and a friend of Magee, in the lobby of a hotel here last August.

Of the first twelve prospective jurymen called, all but two were Americans who speak Spanish. The jury was selected in less than an hour and sworn in.

Prosecutor Finishes Quickly.

District Attorney Chester Hunker completed his examination of the prospective jurors in half an hour. All questions were propounded through the official court interpreter. Denial of all knowledge of the case and of friendship for Magee was made by the twelve men questioned.

Defense counsel in conducting their examinations gave indication that Magee will seek freedom on the ground that he fired to protect his own life. A shot fired by Magee at former Judge David J. Leahy, Magee's political enemy, struck and killed Lassetter.

Testimony will be taken tomorrow morning.

Great Interest in Trial.

The court room was jammed with spectators for the opening of the trial which has been a subject of heated discussion in New Mexico since the fatal shooting of Lassetter last August.

It is not Magee's first appearance before New Mexico courts. Once he was found guilty of libel and again of contempt of court. In both instances, Judge Leahy, at whom Magee was firing when Lassetter was killed, was the presiding judge. Magee escaped jail in both cases when he was pardoned by the governor.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES WARLIKE SPIRIT IN MILITARY TRAINING

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—President Coolidge is in favor of military training for young men attending schools and colleges, provided that the training should be given for physical development and not with the thought of encouraging or developing a military or warlike spirit.

This pronouncement at the White House was made simultaneously with the appearance of John Nevin Sayre, outspoken opponent of military training in schools and colleges, before the house military affairs committee.

As a means of aiding in physical development and in the coördination of mind and body which results from military training, for the young men of the country, it is excellent. If it is limited to this purpose and not carried on to develop a warlike spirit, it can be made a helpful part of school and college life.

The President maintains that the army and navy should be kept up to their present standard of efficiency and that aviation is a new factor in national defense which should be taken into proper consideration so as to be developed to the point necessary in the national defense program. But, as the purpose of the United States is to maintain peace and tranquillity in this portion of the world without any thought of attacking other nations, there should be no concerted movement which might develop a warlike spirit throughout the nation, he holds.

Man and Wife, Both 60, Weep, but Can't Make Up

John Witske, 3605 Augusta street, and his wife, Emma, who lives at 3227 Potomac avenue, wept yesterday in the Court of Domestic Relations while Judge John J. Lupe tried to reconcile their differences. Both are 60 years old. Mrs. Witske asserted that the husband would not support her, and he in turn charged that she had tried to take his life with poison. The wife was willing to become reconciled, but Witske declared he'd rather go to jail. He was told to reconsider and report his decision later.

COMMONS VOTES BALDWIN O. K. ON COAL POLICY

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 15.—The house of commons this evening following a hectic session this afternoon, voted confidence in Prime Minister Baldwin's policy for handling the British coal strike. The vote was 299 to 138.

Amid persistent interruptions and heckling by the Labor members, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, before a crowded house of commons this afternoon, made his much awaited statement of the government proposals concerning the legislative and administrative recommendations of the coal commission for reorganizing the British mines and ending the present coal stoppage.

"I have laid before the house," Prime Minister Baldwin said, "the steps which the government proposes to take whether a settlement is reached or not. We are going on."

"You're going out!" yelled a Labor member in stentorian tones. "This means a general election."

Prime Minister Baldwin's legislative program for making effective the coal commission's report, which he announced he would introduce in a few days, consists briefly of four points:

1. Leaving the seven hours act regarding work in the mines on the statute books, but introducing legislation enabling an extra hour to be worked during a period of time.

2. Empowering the mines department to take the initiative for effecting an amalgamation in any cases where after three years this process is deemed desirable.

3. Enforcing increases in contributions from those persons who drew royalties from their ownership of mineral rights; such contributions to be devoted to general welfare at the pit heads.

4. No temporary assistance in the form of a subsidy.

BURGLAR DIES OF WOUNDS.

Joseph Stone, 45 years old, 2341 Calumet avenue, died at the Mercy hospital yesterday of a bullet wound. He was shot by Joseph Aherns, janitor of a building at 325 Belden avenue, when the latter saw him escaping after a burglary.

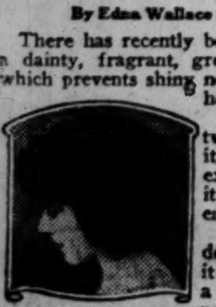
Nose Shine
Now made impossible
By Edna Wallace Hopper

There has recently been discovered a dainty, fragrant, greaseless cream which prevents shiny noses and foreheads.



Edna Wallace Hopper

It does this in two ways. First, it absorbs the excess oil, then it reduces the enlarged pores.

It is a perfect delight. I apply it once or twice a day. Then I never powder nose or forehead, and I never worry about shine.

Every dainty woman will want it, so I have had it prepared for you under the name Edna Wallace Hopper's No-Shine. Toilet counters now supply it at 60c per tube. You will find it one of the greatest helps that experts have created.

It was a great day for women

WOMEN HAVE WORRIED about moth-damage for at least 5000 years. Up to a few years ago there was no sure way to prevent it. Then a few men with a scientific bent got together, experimented for 18 months, and produced Larvex—that amazing liquid which mothproofs anything woolen.

But before a bottle of Larvex was offered for sale it was tested for many months more. Samples of woolen cloth were mothproofed with it. Those samples were covered with moth-worms. (Only moth-worms eat. Moths are harmless. They merely lay eggs which hatch into moth-worms.)

Other samples which were not treated with Larvex were eaten. But in the hundreds of samples which were mothproofed with Larvex there wasn't a sign of moth-damage—not one hole

No more moth-holes! spend $1. and save $200.

Your husband's overcoat, your coat, woolen dress, every woolen thing you own—make them all mothproof with Larvex. Use Larvex to mothproof—

A million women today use Larvex to protect every woolen thing they own from moth-worms and carpet beetles. Do likewise! Spray your woolen articles thoroughly with Larvex. It penetrates the wool fibres and makes the cloth itself proof against all moth-attack. One thorough spraying lasts an entire season.

That's all there is to it. No packing things away. Further protection is unnecessary. Keep your clothes always available—simply hang them in the closets. Moth-worms will not touch them. And they come out free from odors. For Larvex is odorless. Non-inflammable, too!

HOW TO BUY LARVEX

If you have never used Larvex, first buy the combination package containing the improved Larvex Atomizer, $1.50. Then buy the refill sizes of Larvex only; the pint at $1, or if you have many things to mothproof, buy the ½ gallon at $3 or the gallon at $5. At drug, department, and furniture stores. Buy Larvex today. The Larvex Corporation, 55 Rodney Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

LARVEX
prevents moth-damage because
IT MOTHPROOFS THE CLOTH ITSELF

Patents Pending

Leading dry cleaners, carpet cleaners and laundries are authorized service stations for Larvex mothproofing of rugs, blankets, etc.

"Does It Pay? It Does"

Mr. C. C. Otis of the Otis Real Estate Agency, Plainwell, Mich., has used The Tribune during the last four months to advertise farms for sale. This is one of his Ads which appeared in a recent Sunday issue:

"A gentleman from Hammond, Ind., called at my office and said he was thinking of buying a small farm in Michigan. He was driving through to Grand Rapids, but when he reached Plainwell and saw one of my road signs he said to his wife: 'Otis, Otis? Isn't that the fellow who advertises so much in The Tribune? Let's stop and see what he has.' So they stopped and I sold them this farm. That one sale more than paid for four months' advertising. Does it pay? It does," writes Mr. Otis.

BONE DRY LAW ACTION OFF FOR THIS SESSION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—With leaders in congress opposed to further agitation of the prohibition question at this time and the date of adjournment drawing near, dry leaders in both the house and the senate have abandoned hope of passing bone dry legislation at this session.

This was admitted today by Representative Louis L. Crampton [Rep. Mich.], leader of the drys in the house and acknowledged spokesman of the Anti-Saloon league. He admitted privately that in view of the fact that the senate leaders have thus far refused to consider the Goff bill, the administration's tightest enforcement measure, there is little use for the house to push through similar legislation.

League's Call Futile.

Late last week the legislative committee of the Anti-Saloon league sounded a call for immediate action on the administration dry bills by congress. This message seems to have found no substantial support in congress and doubt is now expressed as to the final enactment into law of even the Andrews bills providing for the creation of a separate bureau of prohibition and the placing of prohibition agents under civil service.

It is possible that a last minute effort to push the civil service bill and the treasury reorganization bill through the senate may be made by the dry leaders, in view of the fact that both measures have passed the house. A meeting of dry leaders will be held later in the week, and at that time the final decision as to what will be done at this session is expected to be reached.

Promises a Sensation.

Should the Goff bill reach the floor of the senate then, of course the Graham measure, its counterpart in the house, would be forced to a vote.

"If the senate should pass the Goff bill," said Representative Crampton, "there would be open warfare in the house if the leaders try to stifle it over here."

Representative La Guardia [Progressive Soc., N. Y.] has promised the house alcoholic liquor traffic committee he will produce at a hearing tomorrow a witness who will swear that 6 banks in various parts of the country negotiated loans directly with bootleggers.

VERDICT ORDERS CALLAN FREED.

A coroner's jury yesterday ordered that Harry J. Callan, bootlegger, charged with manslaughter following the finding of Mary Hood, a telephone operator in the Congress hotel, dead in his room several weeks ago, be released.

CONFEREES IRON OUT DIFFICULTIES IN BANKING BILL

House Refuses Consent for Quick Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—After ironing out all difficulties, the conferees of the house and senate on the McFadden bill completed their work today, and their report was filed with the house.

Representative McFadden [Rep., Pa.], chairman of the banking and currency committee, asked unanimous consent in the house for the consideration of the conference report tomorrow, but was met with objections, and action probably will be deferred until next week.

Under the procedure as agreed upon Mr. McFadden will ask for the approval of a partial conference report which will include all matters in controversy except the branch bank provisions. After the partial report is approved he will offer a motion which will permit a separate vote on the branch bank compromise, prohibiting branches in cities below 100,000 in states which do not now permit branch banking but may do so hereafter, and providing a graduated limitation for larger cities up to five branches in cities above 1,000,000.

While Representative Wingo [Dem., Ark.], the only conferee refusing to sign the report, will make a fight against the branch bank compromise and will be joined by Representative Morton D. Hull [Rep., Ill.], author of the so-called Hull amendments, indications are that the house will give its approval.

U. S. EMPLOYMENT REPORTED FAIR; DOWNWARD HERE

Washington, D. C., June 15.—[Special.]—Although reporting that employment conditions in the country as a whole are on a fairly satisfactory basis, the United States employment service of the department of labor in its monthly report today noted a downward trend in Illinois and Chicago.

"A preliminary survey of May factory employment by the Illinois department of labor revealed a downward trend for 330 establishments," says the report in commenting on Illinois conditions. "These firms are located in all sections of the state and represent a wide range of industry. Many factories, of course, added to the number of their workers. The combined offices of the state free employment service which deal with workers, in addition to those seeking factory employment, reported improved conditions.

MORRIS' WIFE ABLE TO LEAVE HOSPITAL BED

Mrs. Alex Richard Morris, wife of Charles F. Morris, stenographer at the Central Trust company and who was stenographer for the reparations committee of Vice President Charles G. Dawes on its European trip in 1923, has recovered sufficiently from her attempt at suicide on June 6 to be removed from the Evanston hospital.

She was taken from the hospital Monday night and is being cared for by friends.

She was found unconscious in her home, 906 Dempster street, Evanston, from the effects of an overdose of sleeping potion and gas fumes.

McCUTCHEON AND GEORGE ADE GIVEN DEGREES

Honored by Purdue as 500 Are Graduated.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lafayette, Ind., June 15.—[Special.]—It is now Dr. George Ade and Dr. John T. McCutcheon. Purdue university, their alma mater, made the author of "Fables in Slang" and the creator of J. Raglan Patchmore and the Mysterious Stranger doctors of humane letters at commencement exercises today, thereby breaking a tradition of many years' standing in the granting of honorary degrees.

At the same time, Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, writer and explorer, and C. H. Robertson, Y. M. C. A. representative in China, were given bachelor of science and doctor of science degrees, respectively. Mr. Osborn received his honor "as of the class of 1880,' 'as his college days were interrupted. Mr. Robertson was graduated in 1895, Mr. McCutcheon in 1889, and Mr. Ade 1887.

Liberal Policy Is Popular.

In the fifty-two years of its history only four other honorary degrees have been given by Purdue. That the more liberal policy of President Edward Charles Elliott in this regard is popular was shown by the applause that was accorded the four candidates as they went to the platform in the memorial gymnasium this morning. Mr. Osborn was presented first by Stanley E. Coulter, retiring dean of men.

"Mr. President," said the dean, "a student may enter a university and, because of untoward circumstances, be unable to complete his course, yet who in his relatively short stay develops a lifelong love and loyalty to his alma mater and receives an intellectual stimulus that is abiding and which in after years carries him far beyond the requirements of the university curriculum. It is my privilege to present to you Chase Salom Osborn in order that you may confer upon him the degree which he sought years ago and has since so richly earned."

Reporter, Scientist, Writer.

Mr. Osborn was a reporter in Chicago and Milwaukee, later acquiring a newspaper in Michigan and entering politics. Since his retirement he has become a world traveler and scientist and is now preparing a book on a new theory of earth movement. He has studied and written of primitive people and is the author of "Madagascar the Land of the Man-Eating Tree."

In presenting Mr. Ade, Dean Coulter spoke of his loyalty to the university in many ways [the Purdue stadium is one instance] and said he had won distinction in letters.

The president addressed him as "journalist, author, and playwright" and told of the joy he had added to the world.

John McCutcheon Honored.

"A man notable in art and letters who with keen insight and kindly spirit has portrayed the great events of his generation in such a way as to make the world happier and better," was the dean's introduction of the black gowned McCutcheon.

The cartoonist's diploma for doctor of humane letters bore this tribute "In recognition of his distinctive achievements as a reporter of great events of peace and war in the life of this and other nations and as the master of a magic pencil with which he has created a new art enabling men to understand the world in action."

Purdue graduated 580 students in science, agriculture, mechanical engineering, civil engineering, chemical engineering, industrial education, and pharmacy. The commencement address was given by Frank Baldwin Jewett, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

R. R. DISPATCHERS VOTE TO ASK FOR WAGE INCREASE

Fifty general chairmen of the American Train Dispatchers' association, representing the train dispatching on the railroads of America, yesterday finished a three days' conference to determine the policies of the organization under the new railway labor act.

Plans were formulated to establish a standard wage of $275 a month for train dispatchers of all railroads and an increase for assistant chiefs and chief dispatchers that would maintain the differential between these positions. This action, it was said, places the train dispatchers in the general wage movement which has been under way by some of the brotherhoods of railroad employés for several months. J. G. Luhrsen, president, presided.

URBAN FABER.

It is a matter of common knowledge that Urban [Red] Faber is not much of a batter. He has been known to hit one here and there, but never so many that he isn't able to figure his batting average without resorting to pencil and paper. But he hit one square on the nose like a full fledged slugger yesterday and selected such an opportune spot for the heroic drive that it boosted the White Sox to victory over the champion Senators. The score was 4 to 1.

When Faber makes a base hit with three mates on the corners it is a pretty fair day's work for him, but he didn't stop with that achievement. Instead he buckled right in to show his diamond versatility and he showed it so well that at the conclusion of nine rounds only five blows had been made against him. One of these happened to have enough length to sail into the right field seats for Washington's lone run. Sam Rice was the contributor.

Sox Bunch Hits.

The Sox had old Stanley Coveleskie, also a spitballer, to contend with, and they didn't damage him to any extent. The Shamokin [Pa.] Pole stuck to the task for seven rounds and kept the hose fairly quiet on six hits. He didn't have the needed luck, however. Two of the hits were wrapped around an error and pass in the second inning for three runs, all of which Faber drove home. Two other blows were paired in the fifth for the remaining Chicago tally, the actors in this episode being Mostil and Hunnefield.

Arrangements for Faber's appearance as a clean-up batter were started by Sheely with a single at the start of the second inning. Falk followed with a hopper to Peck, who was so anxious to make a double play that he fumbled. Then Barrett forced Falk, and on Kamm's infield tap Sheely was cut down at the plate.

Schalk was next and Covey refused to give him a good ball to hit at. "Cracker" wouldn't bite on the bum ones, so walked and filled the bases. Covey figured the rest was so easy that there was no reason to exercise caution. He threw one right through the heart of the plate, and Faber gave it a terrific smack on a line to center. Rice touched it with his finger tips, but the ball kept right on traveling for two bases, and Barrett, Kamm, and Schalk hiked over the plate.

Hunnefield Scores Mostil.

Mostil and Hunnefield collected the fifth round tally on the strength of a couple of doubles. Mostil drove his down the left field line, and Hunnefield selected the opposite side. After this the victors gathered in only one hit, and this also was Mostil's work. He bumped the left field fence with a liner in the seventh, but neglected to stop at second so was nailed at third.

Rice hit his homer in the fourth, and there was only one other inning in which the champs had a real promising chance to do something. They spoiled it themselves. Joe Harris walked to open the seventh, and Bluege beat out a scratch hit. Then Stewart went to second to run for J. Harris, and was exterminated immediately because he foolishly tried to steal third while Faber was holding the ball. Peck popped out, and Ruel was fanned.

Mrs. Melvin Jones Leads W. W. G. A. Tourney with 87

BY MORROW KRUM.

Mrs. Melvin Jones, champion of the Olympia Fields Country club, led the field with 87 strokes in the first round of the W. W. G. A. annual medal play championship at Midlothian yesterday. Women's par in 84.

VIRGINIA VAN WIE

Second on the list was seventeen year old Virginia Van Wie with an 88. Mrs. Lee Mida was third, her card carrying the story of 89 wallops.

Mrs. Jay Cassiel, Illinois state champion, had a 91.

Drives Out of Water.

There was one shot in Mrs. Jones' round that kept the verandas of the Midlothian clubhouse buzzing with conversation. The fourth hole of the course measures 378 yards. It's a fair enough par 4 hole. The green is well trapped, so the one who approaches must be cautious and accurate.

Mrs. Jones was well down the middle on her drive. She took her four iron and slammed at the next one. The ball went into the trap at the left to the green. Mrs. Jones arrived at the trap to find four inches of water covering the sand and her ball reposing on the bottom. Mrs. Jones has been playing golf for a few years and she is an experienced campaigner. There was no hesitation. She took her spade mashie and waded into the water. Standing in it over her shoe tops, she slammed at the ball. The pill jumped out of the water, bounced on the carpet, and stopped within one yard of the hole.

Traps Worry Miss Van Wie.

Mrs. Jones was out in 46, two over par, and back in 41, one over for the in nine. Miss Van Wie said she wasted several strokes. The traps caused her trouble. Her tee shots were not as long as usual. The course was wet and slow. The field will play another 18 hole round today and another tomorrow.

The cards of Mrs. Jones and Miss Van Wie follow:

Red Sox and Browns in Last Minute Trade.

Cleveland, O., June 15.—(AP)—One of the biggest baseball trades in the American league this season was consummated here today on the final day in which major league clubs may indulge in trading.

HOWARD EHMKE.

Pitcher Howard Ehmke of the Boston Red Sox goes to Philadelphia; Pitcher Slim Harriss and Fred Heimach of the Athletics go to the Boston Red Sox with Outfielder Baby Doll Jacobson, and Outfielder Bing Miller goes to St. Louis.

Players Change Clubs at Once.

Robert Quinn, president of the Boston club, who reached Cleveland today in advance of the Red Sox, closed for his club.

The Philadelphia players had boarded a boat for Detroit, before the completion of the deal and Quinn sent an emissary to the pier to notify Heimach and Harriss to join the Boston club, which opens a series with the Indians here tomorrow.

Instructions were telegraphed to Ehmke at Detroit to join the Athletics there. Jacobson is to join the Red Sox here.

Senators Get Palmero.

Kansas City, Kas., June 15.—(AP)—Sale of Emilio Palmero, Cuban southpaw of the Columbus team of the American association, to the Washington Americans was announced tonight by Charles Thomas, secretary of the Columbus club. Palmero will join Washington at St. Louis Thursday.

U. S. Golfers End Drill for British Open

SUNNINGDALE, England, June 15.—(AP)—The Americans who are to start in the qualifying rounds for the British open golf championship here tomorrow had their final practice today.

Bobby Jones played in a threesome with Abe Mitchell and Harry Vardon. Mitchell scored 75, while Jones and Vardon each took 76.

Bill Mehlhorn of Chicago, who played around with Silas Newton of the Lido club, New York, likes the Sunningdale course and is confident of returning low cards in the 36 holes of qualifying play tomorrow and Thursday.

Robert Harris, who lost the amateur title to Jess Sweetser, and W. G. Brownlow, who carried Sweetser to the twenty-first hole in the Muirfield semi-finals, have scratched from the open.

Joe Carr, Pro Football President, Visits Chicago

Joe Carr, president of the National Professional Football league and head of the American Professional Basketball league is a Chicago visitor. Joe, whose home is in Columbus, O., reports that a tour of cities holding franchises in the football league shows that public interest in the gridiron this fall will be greater than ever before.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS

SUZANNE SUPREME.

Suzanne Lenglen, by her crushing victory over Miss Mary Browne, American, in the French hard court final, still reigns supreme in women's tennis.

Eliminating patriotic partisanship, as well as hope substituting for conviction, one can hardly feel that Miss Wills could have wrested the honors away from the versatile French expert even had she been able to compete.

After the first match between Suzanne and Helen, in which the latter made a better showing than expected, there was a feeling she might reverse the result in their next meeting. Helen's play since had justified that hope.

Possibly Miss Wills might have done so. Mlle. Lenglen, against her, might not have played what is called the greatest tennis of her whole brilliant career. But when a player of Miss Browne's class can garner only one game in two sets it proves conclusively the skill of her opponent, especially as Miss Browne was not and did not claim to be off her game.

Mlle. Lenglen stands alone, with none capable of opposing her world premier title this season. Miss Wills, the only one with a chance, must wait another year because of her recent illness.

Crusader's Belmont.

Crusader, winner of the Suburban handicap, who has been mentioned in this column as a possible rival of Bubbling Over for the 3 year old title, won the Belmont stakes at a mile and one-half like a good colt. Off none too well, he came from behind and defeated a pretty capable field on a track which was not fast in 2:32 1-5. It ought to be quite a hoss race if Bubbling Over and the son of Man o' War ever hook up at this distance.

Meantime neither Cubs nor Sox are traveling up to their early season pace. Yet both are going along at about the gait which others than partisans would think their strength warranted.

My Creed.

"I'll take my fun where I find it,"
Leave nary a stone unturned;
Try hard to smile when I'm lonely,
It's all for the best, I have learned.

Though heartaches return in the twilight,
Like ghosts of a happier day,
With a song I shall try to forget them,
For tomorrow's another day.

Still, tomorrow may bring added heartaches,
But these thoughts do not follow my creed;
Nay, "I shall take my fun where I find it,"
And laugh (though my lone heart doth bleed)!

SANOLA WINS BY NECK IN FOURTH AURORA VICTORY

Triumph May Give Her Sprint Championship.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aurora, Ill., June 15.—Sanola wins. She beat Pillager by a neck. A head back came Monday Morning in third place, but that made no difference to 6,000 race goers here this afternoon.

WALTER ANDERSON

For Sanola had run one of the gamest races of her career to come from behind and snatch victory in the last strides in the Carr handicap which featured stock yards day at the races.

It was the fourth triumph the game daughter of Sain-Anola has rolled up here this season.

Wins Race at Finish.

Sanola as usual was the post time favorite, although a fat roll of comeback money on Thundering reached the track. It cut the price on this horse, owned by Mrs. T. J. Regan of New York, from 10 to 1 to 2 to 1, but Thundering quit in the stretch after running close up for five furlongs.

Jack Alexander jumped into the lead as the barrier lifted, but Sanola ran closely lapped with him until they were rounding the turn. Then Jockey Barnett rushed Pillager up into the lead, and a furlong out he was two lengths in front.

Jockey Walter Anderson began hand riding Sanola at this stage and she crawled up stride by stride until she was just able to drop her head down in front at the finish.

Deadfall Wins Easily.

Several hundred folks from the yards came out for the program dedicated in their honor. They saw Jockey Tommy McElroy share the spotlight with Sanola, for this brilliant youngster scored another double when he had Deadfall home an easy winner in the Vaughan claiming stakes and later in the afternoon made a show of his field on the veteran campaigner Ticker in the Gehrmann claiming handicap.

Charley Boots Durnell also got into the picture when his speedy two year old The Hovel won the William Daniel Juvenile stakes.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.

Charlie Hoff sends his third telegram asking the chiefs of the National Amateur Athletic union to give details of why he has been suspended or rescind the suspension. He threatens to sue the association for $50,000 if it does not accede to his request.

To the average sport fan the committee's charges against the extraordinary pole vaulter must seem a bit vague. The association may be right when it bars the cloud chasing Norwegian from further competition in this country, but it has done nothing to convince the public that it is. The association's only explanation has been that there was a mixup in Hoff's expense charges and that he failed to keep a date at a California track meet. Hoff has denied the first charge and explained the second with a doctor's certificate showing that he was too ill to compete in the meet.

Mr. Hoff may be wrong in this unfortunate controversy, but we wonder if the sport fans will ever believe so while the National Amateur Athletic union refuses to state its case.

Martin Nathanson, whose ability to serve as presiding steward at the Aurora race track with commendable success is based on 32 years of experience with the running horse, talks interestingly between events.

"The country is growing more enthusiastic over racing each year," he says. "In Kentucky, in Maryland, in New York, and here in Illinois, at Collinsville and Aurora, the crowds are larger than they've been in many years.

"Racing men say that they expect the most successful meets of history this summer. And they agree that there's only one big hazard ahead. They fear that the financial success of the existing tracks will excite promoters of much greed and small experience to build new tracks or revive old meetings. Men of this sort will kill racing again, and this time it will be many, many years before it can be reëstablished."

The mere threat of boxing in Chicago has made wrestlers stage their groaning gyrations in other climes. The news dispatches tell of Wayne Munn tossing an inexperienced Slav out of a ring and fracturing his jaw. Wayne put on his act at Houston, Tex. Joe Stecher stages a match tonight with Pa Poddubny, the Russian canvas rolling celebrity. Joe and Pa have wrestled several times now, but their act is fresh in Los Angeles.

Passage of the boxing bill has done good already in Chicago.

The feature of the sectional qualifying round of the national open golf tournament was the hardihood and skill of the contestants. They played under as difficult weather conditions as one can conceive. The links were soggy, and rain fell in torrents during the play. None of the entrants withdrew, and the scores were low. Golf under those conditions is no sport for weaklings.

Unless the Cubs get back on the winning trail, there's a good story that may not be printed. Jim Crusinberry is going to write it, if it's written. It's about Joe McCarthy. Jim says that Joe is about as interesting and smart a manager as he's met in baseball. He says he has unique ideas about how to keep a ball player's attention fixed on baseball; that he always gives his team the percentage of chance favorable to victory; that he doesn't associate with his men off the field; that he commands their respect and gets a great deal out of them.

All this Jim will tell you—when the Cubs find themselves. And maybe he'll write it anyway, because Joe McCarthy seems to be an interesting fellow even if his club isn't.

ACTION FOLLOWS VIOLATION OF TRAINING RULES

Won't Let Him Break Up Club--M'Carthy.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 15.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran star of the Cubs' pitching staff, tonight was indefinitely suspended by Manager McCarthy for breaking training rules. At 10 o'clock tonight Aleck hadn't been found by the manager or Secretary Seys, but as soon as he is located the notice will be served on him and he will be sent back to Chicago.

The decision on this drastic action was made by Boss McCarthy tonight following an incident of the afternoon when Aleck appeared at the Phillies' ball park out of condition. McCarthy refused to let him dress for field practice or even to permit him to enter the Cubs' dressing rooms.

Sixth Offense in 10 Days.

"This isn't the first time by any means," said Boss McCarthy in explaining the action. "This is the sixth time it has happened in the last nine or ten days. Aleck has a sore arm and was left at home for treatment, then joined us in New York. He can't hope to get his arm cured by such things as he is doing, and those things don't fit in with my plans to build up a team.

"I absolutely refuse to allow him to disrupt our ball club and will not have him around in that condition.

Must Produce Results.

"Any player may drink and get away with it if he is winning. Aleck was winning for Pat Moran and for Bill Killefer. But no player can drink and get away with it if he isn't winning. I don't know what will happen to him. If he goes home and gets himself into condition and proves it to us later on, then it will be time to decide. He has been drawing a big salary and hasn't been useful to us. I refuse to stand for it any longer."

HOW CUBS LOST

Without creating the least excitement among 1,500 listless fans, the Phillies today trounced our faltering Cubs in the second game of the series by the decisive count of 8 to 1. One would think that good cause for rejoicing, but Philly fans are past the stage of rejoicing years ago.

CLARENCE MITCHELL.

The Cubs looked awful and there is no chance to trade them off, unless it can be done before midnight tonight, as this is the last day of wapping among the major league magnates.

Mitchell Still Can Pitch.

Only one reason was apparent for the Bruins' showing. That was the presence of old Clarence Mitchell on the slab for the Phils. Clarence has been cast off and passed along for many years, but he still can pitch.

The Cubs made ten blows off him. With that many wallops they generally score six or eight times. But when any one is on the bases, this old left handed fox always has something in reserve. It may be a sharper hook on his curve or a bit of added speed on the fast one or slower fade away on the slow one. But one thing is certain, it will be over the plate and will be something that the batter isn't expecting. The old southpaw walked only one man all afternoon.

And in five of the nine innings the Cubs got the first batter on base. In three others the second batter started something. Only in one round did Mr. Mitchell set the boys down three in a row. In the fifth, with one out, Brooks, pinch hitting, singled. He was forced at second by Adams. Then Cooney was safe on an error which should have been the third out, and Scott followed with a single that sent Adams home.

Cub Hurlers Poor.

In contrast to the pitching of this old left handed castoff was the work turned out by two of the Cubs' young and strong men, Percy Jones and Bill Piercy. Between them they had a terrible day. They gave the Phils fourteen hits, they walked ten men, hit one, and the boys behind gave them bum support in a couple of spots.

Percy started. The first three fellows in the first hit safely. He had fine control. Just what they liked. The bases were filled then he lost control and walked a man, forcing in a run. But he made the next three pop up.

In the next round the game went blooey. Friberg's single, Mitchell's sacrifice, Sand's double, a pass to Nixon, a single by Mokan, an error by Cooney, and a single by Wrightstone produced four runs. Percy was excused after the fourth. In the sixth hits by Harper, Henline, and Mitchell scored two runs off Piercy and in the seventh one more counted on a pass to Harper, a single by Wrightstone and a double steal.

DECISION BOUTS OR NO DECISION? COMISH PUZZLED

Code Will Be Ready in a Few Days.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Rules and regulations which will govern legalized boxing in Illinois under the supervision of a commission will be made known the latter part of the week according to Chairman O. W. Huncke.

Most of the rules adopted by the commission have been returned from Attorney General Carlstrom. They will be published in booklet form. Before the complete set of regulations is sent to the printer the rules will be given to the press so that fighters, managers, and promoters may become acquainted with them before the first shows are held next month.

It appears that the biggest task of the commission is to determine whether or not bouts shall go to a decision. Most of yesterday's session was devoted to this point.

Fans Like Verdict.

There are arguments in favor of decision contests and some against it. The decision clause has made the game popular in New York and has bolstered it in Michigan, which had a no decision law for a time.

The giving of a decision by the referee or judges may result in rowdyism if the verdict does not please some of the spectators. This, however, could be overcome by having the proper number of police at the ringside.

The commission is deluged with applications for permits. Seventy promoters want the first permit while hundreds of persons want to be referees, deputy commissioners, timekeepers and judges.

First Show Next Month?

If the commission completes its task of drawing up the code by the end of the week there is no good reason why the commission cannot grant its first permit early next week. If such a procedure is followed the first bouts under the Illinois law can be staged early next month. A promoter must have at least two weeks' notice to put on a good show, while a contest involving a title demands more time.

Promoters, fighters, managers, and the boxing public have waited patiently for the commission to complete its work and, now that the rules are practically drawn, it is hoped the commission will reward the fans by issuing permits in the near future so that boxing enthusiasts can see shows staged legally in Chicago for the first time in more than twenty years.

PETROLLE ARRIVES

Billy Petrolle of Fargo, N. D., who meets Frankie Schaeffer of the south side in the windup of the Elks boxing show at East Chicago on Monday night, will show his wares to the public at Mullen's gymnasium this afternoon starting at 2 o'clock.

Petrolle arrived in Chicago yesterday. He intends to box at least four rounds today and will engage in similar work every day until Sunday. Like many other clever fighters, Petrolle believes the best way to get in shape for a bout is to do plenty of boxing.

Ray Rychell of the south side, who meets Midget Smith of New York in the ten round semi-windup, has been promised a match either with Bushy Graham of Utica, N. Y., or Peter Sarmiento, the Filipino, if he wins over Midget. Jerk Doran, the St. Paul promoter, wants Rychell to appear in his first open air show in St. Paul next month.

Benny Valger, the New York 135 pounder who took part in the lightweight elimination tournament which made Jimmy Goodrich the successor of Benny Leonard, retired lightweight champion, is in Chicago. Valger will be seen on some of the local cards this summer and early fall.

Tod Morgan, the world's junior lightweight champion, is training here for his ten round bout with Babe Herman in Boston next Tuesday night. Morgan and Manager Frank Churchill leave for the east on Friday.

Frank Churchill, manager of Sarmiento, Tod Morgan and many other fighters, has taken up a residence in Chicago. Churchill believes some interesting shows will be staged in this city this summer and fall and hopes to have his fighters on the cards.

Lane Defeats Bowen, 9 to 2; Nears Title

Lane Tech further cleared its path to the baseball championship of the City league yesterday by defeating Bowen, 9 to 2, at De Paul field. The victory was Lane's second in the title series. Only Harrison remains between the north siders and the title.

McKinley and Harrison, the other teams in the round robin series, both have been defeated, and with Lane having what appears the strongest club of the four, it is likely that the Techs will clinch the championship in the final game with Harrison Saturday. Yesterday at Cermak Mills park, McKinley handed Harrison its first defeat, 1 to 0, in eleven innings.

With Graboski, Achepohl, and Birschbackers hitting the ball hard and Thorp and Sommerfield pitching superbly, the Techs experienced little trouble in beating Bowen. Birschbacker drove out two home runs.

Thorp and Sommerfield worked on the mound, and Bowen made only five hits, nine of the south siders fanning.

The game between McKinley and Harrison was one of the best pitchers' duels of the season. Santucci held Harrison to three scattered hits, while Kaspar, though he was touched for seven safeties, kept them well separated until the last inning. In the eleventh La Pota singled, stole second, and raced home when Cilella drove out his third hit. Score:

Berlenbach-Delaney Bout at Ebbets Field July 15

White Sox Notes

THE Senators will conclude the series today by playing off the game that was postponed Monday on account of rain. Walter Johnson and Ted Lyons are the probable hurlers.

Two of Collins' athletes were sent on their way yesterday. Outfielder Tom Gulley was ticketed for Shreveport, La., of the Texas league, and Pitcher Gorham Leverett for Portland, Ore., of the Pacific Coast league.

The White Sox share of the profits were donated to the Firemen's benefit fund, but no anouncement was made as to amount.

The Senators got two men to base on a pass and hit with two out in the ninth and Reuther was requested to bat for Peck. He rolled to Sheely to end the show.

Dirt Roads Impassable After Floods

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Earth roads throughout Illinois and Iowa were reported practically impassable yesterday as the result of floods, but the main state pavements were safe for travel. The Grant highway, leading northwest from Chicago through Elgin, Rockford and Freeport, in the heart of the flood district, was reported open by the Chicago Motor club and all other main paved roads out of Rockford were back in service.

Illinois highway 9, the new cross-state trail leading west from the Indiana state line through Hoopston, Paxton, Bloomington, Peoria, and Macomb, has been opened to traffic from Gibson City to Bloomington. The road is also open to Macomb and the detour at Spoon River has been improved for traffic. Detours on Illinois highway 31 near Abingdon and Galesburg are reported fair. The unfinished section of Illinois highway 19 out of Cary, northwest of Chicago, is scheduled to open next Saturday. The short stretch of the Mannheim road, Illinois highway 46, north of Lake street, has also been completed and will be opened before the end of this week.

C. E. Gambill was re-elected president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association at its annual meeting and banquet held in the Congress hotel. George Bied, vice president; W. E. Butler, secretary, and Thomas J. Hay, treasurer, was also re-elected to their respective offices.

GIANTS MAKE IT THREE STRAIGHT OVER REDS, 3-2

New York Ties Score in 7th; Wins in 8th.

New York, June 15.—(AP)—The Giants made it three straight from Cincinnati today by taking a tight pitching duel, 3 to 2. New York tied the score in the seventh when Snyder tripled and Mueller, the newly acquired outfielder, hit a single while pinch hitting for Ring. Young's single, Lindstrom's double, and Kelly's sacrifice fly gave the Giants the winning run in the eighth. Score:

Miss Sport Wins Ascot Stakes by Spurt at Finish

ASCOT, England, June 15.—(AP)—Royal Ascot week, always notable because of presence of the king and queen, and other members of the royal family, opened today with the running of several of England's classic stakes. Despite the gloomy weather predictions, the sun broke through in the afternoon, giving the famous meet the brilliancy of a garden party.

The Ascot stakes, over a course of two miles, was the first event on the card and in a stirring finish Miss Sport, owned by H. Cottril, crossed the line a neck in front of C. M. Wolf's Catalin, with M. M. Calmann's Tournesol third.

Jockey Hurt; Horse Killed.

The course was somewhat soft, owing to recent rains, and the sixteen contenders were well strung out at the end. An unfortunate accident marred the Ascot. Near the royal stand, James De Rothschild's filly, Vionnet, collied with some of the others and fell and broke her back, while her jockey, J. Sirett, was badly trampled. He was unconscious for a long time. Vionnet had to be killed.

Much unfavorable comment was caused by the crowding at the start and again at the finish several of the leading horses were at close quarters. In the final sprint there was desperate work between Miss Sport and Catalin, and Steve Donoghue, who had the leg up on the latter, lodged a complaint against the winner on the ground of boring.

Protests Are Overruled.

The gold vase, given by the king, another two mile event, was won by High Art, owned by Sir George Noble.

The St. James' palace stakes, over the "old mile" went to Lord Woolavington's Cornash, winner of the derby. It had been expected that Caloradol, favorite for the derby, but which finished only third, would oppose Coronach today, but owing to the heavy going, he was withdrawn.

YANKEES WIN OVER BROWNS BY 6 TO 1 SCORE

St. Louis, Mo., June 15.—(AP)—Urban Shocker allowed his former teammates, the St. Louis Browns, only five hits today, and the New York Yankees won, 6 to 1. Score:

Tent Barring Skeeters Real Camping Need

BY BOB BECKER.

Campers who are preparing to take to the north woods for a back to nature life under a canvas roof are advised to make their tents mosquito proof before they start, as the heavy rains which have irrigated the landscape recently are bringing forth a dandy crop of the pests. Practically every tent on the market today is made insect proof but outdoorsmen who stick to the old reliable wall tents which have been manufactured for years usually without netting can rig them up with mosquito netting so as to fool the sharp fanged skeeters.

When we were prowling around the Amazon river, Brazil, where the mosquitoes are so vigorous that they can all but drill through a pine board, we found that the old fashioned wall tent open at both ends and equipped with heavy netting at the front and back and an awning in front made an ideal "dining room" and a much appreciated retreat after fighting biting insects all day. For absolute comfort in the woods a fellow must have sleeping quarters that are insect proof and a chance to eat without swatting mosquitoes.

ANYTHING CAN BE PROVED BY DATA ON U. S. WEALTH

BY HARPER LEECH.

Confusion and conflicting statements followed the speech of a senatorial candidate the other day when in the course of his remarks he undertook to discuss a proper rate of return for co-operative, or maybe all capital, and at the same time declared that the annual rate of increase of national wealth is around four or five per cent. Context and circumstances considered, most of us would draw the inference that somebody intended to say that capital was hogging the country, if the rate of return upon capital exceeded the rate of increase of the nation's wealth.

Obviously such a statement, whether it was made or not, would confound two distinct things—national wealth and national productive capital. Come to think of it, however, it is no wonder that statesmen, reporters, even columnists, are in danger of falling into error when discussing the rate of growth of national wealth or the average return upon capital. The data are so vast, the statistics so meager, and the whole subject so complex and approachable from so many angles that it is easy for the tongue to slip or the typewriter to run away with the brain.

Let's consider some of the estimates about national wealth. The census estimates for 1912 and 1922, when price changes are filtered out as nearly as possible, would indicate that in a decade national wealth increased only 11 per cent, just a bit over one per cent a year. Population gains were greater, so we grew poorer, if the estimate is sound.

Those who follow the estimating and reasoning of Walter R. Ingalls will not find that conclusion violent. Those who follow the estimates of savings by Dr. David Friday find it difficult to swallow. Those who follow their own observations find it inexplicable.

But perhaps consumption has been gaining and living standards rising without a corresponding gain of "national wealth." That brings up the question of what are consumption goods, what production goods. Obviously wheat and cotton cloth are consumption goods, and their output has not increased much relative to population. Which brings us to the self-evident proposition that after primary bodily wants are satisfied—as they have been for the first time in human history under modern caiptalism—further rises in living standards must consist mainly in services to the consumer rather than goods. When we reach a point like that the distinctions between the different kinds of goods are less clear.

Our bewildering gain in automobiles represents a gain in consumption goods, producer's goods, or in transportation services, as you prefer to consider it. The same applies to the gain in gasoline consumption, the leap of electrical production from 2,500,000,000 kilowatts to 60,000,000,000 since 1902, the building of schools, movie theaters, and all that sort of thing.

A gain in steel production amounting on the average per year to six or seven times the gain in population represents not only increased consumption of services by those now living but "consumption" for a century to come in bridges and buildings.

PLAN POPULAR PRICE FLATS FOR STREETERVILLE

BY AL CHASE.

Streeterville is to have its first tall, modern one room popular priced kitchenette apartment building according to Arthur W. and Irving E. Sommers who state they will erect it at 211 East Delaware place, just east of and adjoining Charles F. Henry's skyscraping flat building.

The Sommers brothers, who already operate the Streeterville apartment hotel at 195 East Chestnut, say the average monthly rental of furnished flats in their new building will be $100. They say that if their new venture is as popular as their present Streeterville hotel they will erect several more of the same type.

Ready in April, 1927.

The building, standing on a 50x110 site, will have 135 suites, according to the plans by Oldefest & Williams. Completion is set for April, 1927. The Fidelity Bond & Mortgage company has underwritten a $525,000 bond issue at 6½ per cent. The total value of the property is placed at $878,162.

Each of the suites will contain a living room, dinette, kitchenette, dressing room, and bath. The first floor will have an elaborate lobby, ladies' parlors, office, and service quarters.

To Build 8 Story Flats.

Edward M. Levin has bought the 50x140 at 661 Sheridan road from Thomas Coburn for a reported $45,000 and will erect an eight story apartment building to contain 100 suites of one and two rooms each. S. E. Terman and Albert J. Hay were brokers. Sidney C. Nierman was attorney.

The Builders' Mutual Life Insurance company has purchased from Richard W. Hood the residence at 3221 Washington boulevard, formerly occupied by one of the Cudahys, which it will use as its main office. Extensive alterations are planned and the firm plans to move into its new home from its downtown location about Jan. 1.

The reason given for the move is that the firm can have three times the space at about a half the cost of its present quarters. When the alterations are finished the firm will have invested about $60,000 in the property.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Prices firmed up today on steady buying for outside account and covering of shorts on the advance in lard and grain. Active months closed 11@17 points net higher. Sales, 12,500 brls. Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow, spot, 15.90c bid; July closed 15.90c, September 14.93c, October 13.39c, December 11.57c, January 11.45c.

WALL STREET NOTES

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP)—Trading in today's curb market showed a moderate expansion in volume, but the price movement displayed marked irregularity. Operations for the rise were conducted in several issues, but in many cases they encountered a large volume of offerings.

Oil shares started forward at a brisk pace, but the buying movement died down. Most of the active Standard Oil issues showed only small fractional changes. Net gains of a point or more in Pennok and Wilcox featured the miscellaneous group.

Motors displayed a relatively firm undertone. Ford of Canada advanced 3 points, and Auburn and Federal each closed a point higher. Moderate gains also were recorded by several of the food shares, including Central Aguirre Sugar, Continental Baking A, and Pillsbury Flour.

Dresdner Bank of Berlin and Standard Publishing attained new high levels for the year, although the latter lost all of its gain on profit taking. There was little interest in the public utility group, Northeastern Power and Light being among the few issues to show net gains of a point or more.

Bond prices drifted irregularly lower in today's colorless trading. Fractional recessions in French obligations reflected uneasiness over the latest cabinet crisis at Paris. Belgian issues declined sympathetically, but other European bonds were firm. Rheinelbe Union 7s were further strengthened by reports that new financing for the United Steel Works Corporation of Germany, Jurgens Margarine 6s advanced more than 2 points to a new high for the year at 113.

Buying interest was at a low ebb in the railroad group, although a few semi-speculative issues scored moderate gains. Chicago and Northwestern 4s, some of the St. Paul issues, International Great Northern adjustment 6s, Wilkesbarre and Eastern 5s, and Lake Shore 3½s were firm.

The strength of oil and copper stocks aroused fresh buying interest in some of these bonds. Pan-American 6s, Sinclair 6s, Chile Copper 6s, and Anaconda 6s and 7s were in demand. Other points of strength in the industrial division were the American Writing Paper issues, Anglo-Chilean Nitrate 7s, and Central Steel 8s.

Unusual bond needs are the usual thing

"I FOLLOW a definite investment plan," said a New England capitalist; "70% of my funds are in common stocks, 20% in bonds, and 10% in cash. Is this good balance?"

The obvious answer is that so large a holding of stocks is too risky for a sound investment policy. Compton representatives do not make obvious answers. Upon analysis it was found that this investor's needs were unusual, and no change was recommended in his policy.

Yours is an unusual investment case. No two men have the same investment needs. The Compton thirty-nine-year-old policy is to help you invest to suit your own personal requirements. A Compton salesman will be glad to help you better your investment position.

Salient features as summarized by Mr. E. S. Kassler, President of the Company:

Business: The Nevada-California Electric Corporation's system has been engaged since 1905 in generating hydro-electric power on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada Mountains and in transmitting such power over an extensive transmission system extending throughout southwestern Nevada and the entire eastern section of California from the middle of the State south to the Mexican line. The system serves a large and growing territory with customers in widely diversified activities.

Properties: The system owns and operates eleven hydro-electric plants having a total installed generating capacity of 93,420 horsepower, together with supplementary steam and gas plants which bring the total generating capacity up to 106,620 horsepower. Further development of water rights now owned or controlled will, it is estimated, adequately provide power requirements for many years to come.

The main hydro-electric plants are located in California, on Bishop Creek, in Inyo County, and on Owens River, and Leevining, Rush and Mill Creeks in Mono County. These developments are among the best examples of true hydro-electric conservation to be found today. The Bishop Creek water, by means of connecting pipe lines, passes consecutively through five generating plants (aggregating 43,520 horsepower generating capacity), the discharge from one plant being immediately caught up and delivered to the next. There is, therefore, a minimum loss in flowage and in energy. Both the Bishop Creek and the Mono County water sheds are situated well up in the Sierra Nevada Mountains where the deep winter snows furnish natural reservoirs which the summer sun melts, causing the water to run down into the impounding reservoirs and thence through the power plants. The system has 1,671 miles of high-tension transmission lines and 808 miles of distribution lines.

The system also operates 650 miles of telephone and telegraph lines and has ice manufacturing plants, storehouses and refrigerating plants at various points in southern California.

Security: Upon completion of present financing the First Trust Mortgage Gold Bonds will be secured by deposit with the Trustee of all the outstanding bonds of the subsidiary companies, aggregating $23,550,000, thus making the First Trust Mortgage Gold Bonds the only secured debt of the Corporation and its subsidiaries outstanding in the hands of the public and, in effect, a first mortgage on all the fixed properties comprised in the system. In addition, a total of $16,455,800 par value (99% or over) of the capital stock of the subsidiary companies will be deposited with the Trustee as further security for these First Trust Mortgage Gold Bonds.

Earnings: The earnings of the consolidated companies applicable to interest charges, depreciation, etc., in each calendar year since January 1, 1915 and in the twelve months ended April 30, 1926, have been more than twice the total interest requirements of the total secured debt of such years, with the exception of the calendar year 1924, which was 1.92 times. The average for the entire aforesaid period has been 2.12 times interest requirements of the secured debt. These earnings for the twelve months ended April 30, 1926, are equal to 2.33 times the annual interest requirements of the $23,000,000 First Trust Mortgage Gold Bonds, Series of 1956 and show an increase of 53% over those of the calendar year 1921.

Value of Properties: Colonel F. Emerson Hoar, consulting engineer, San Francisco, Cal., a recognized authority on western public utility values and formerly in charge of the gas and electric department of the California Railroad Commission, has completed an independent appraisal of the utility properties as of December 31, 1925. Based upon this appraisal, together with other independent appraisals of non-utility properties, the total valuation of all properties as of December 31, 1925, is established to be in excess of $37,000,000. This compares with $23,000,000 bonds of the Series of 1956 to be presently outstanding.

Franchises: The franchise situation is satisfactory. The expiration dates of all franchises under which the companies are operating are later than 1956, the due date of Series of 1956 bonds, with the exception of franchises of minor importance.

Purposes of Issues: The proceeds from the sale of the $23,000,000 First Trust Mortgage Gold Bonds, Series of 1956, and $3,000,000 Fifteen-Year Debentures will be used to retire $9,341,800 6% First Lien Series "A" Bonds and $8,804,000 6% First Lien Series "B" Bonds of The Nevada-California Electric Corporation, $1,289,000 First Mortgage 6% Bonds of The Nevada-California Power Company and $1,774,500 First Mortgage 6% Bonds of The Southern Sierras Power Company, which now constitute the total bonded debt of the system in the hands of the public, to defray the cost of new construction and for general corporate purposes.

The proceedings relating to the issuance of the bonds will be passed upon by Messrs. Masten & Nichols, New York. We offer these First Trust Mortgage Gold Bonds, Series of 1956, if, as and when issued and received by us, subject to prior sale.

Mass Production Cuts Truck Costs

Sales of Graham Brothers Trucks have reached such enormous figures that buyers profit by unequaled low initial costs.

Note the price of the G-BOY, the new one-ton truck.

Only mass production, unapproached building and buying power, plus years of experience, could produce a truck so staunch and sturdy at so low a figure.

Starting in decidedly weak, yesterday's hog trade improved, with the finish at the best of the day excepting on big heavy packers and heavy mixed, which were in excessive supply. Quality graded poorer than usual. Prices were generally 10c lower, yet some heavy packing kinds were off as much as 25c. Top and average at $14.65 and $13.95, respectively, stood 10c lower, with only one other day this month when the average was lower. Big packing drovers averaging 276 to 309 lbs cost $13.51@13.92.

Brisk local and outside competition added tone to the cattle trade and more beef steers sold above the $10 mark than on any previous Tuesday in more than two months. Prices ruled steady to slightly higher, with 1320@1404 lb Nebraskas at $10.55@10.65. Yearling steers averaging 932 lbs reached $10.40 and fifty 748 lb heifers went at $10.35. Butcher stock ruled fully steady, while bulls declined 10@15c. Calves closed $1.00 lower than late last week. Stockers and feeders were strong.

Lamb Trade Demoralized.

Buyers in the lamb trade took off another 50c, best Idahos selling $16.50 or $2.70 below early last week, when they topped at $19.20. No natives sold above $16.00, the general trade being somewhat demoralized. Feeding lambs showed less decline, selling at $13.50@14.50. Yearlings sold $1.00 below last Friday, some averaging 87 lbs reaching $14.50. Aged sheep were in small supply and slightly changed.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 12,000 cattle, 14,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep, against 8,221 cattle, 18,480 hogs, and 12,798 sheep the corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

HARTMAN CORP. PLANS ISSUE OF DIVIDEND STOCK

Stockholders of the Hartman corporation have been called to a special meeting to be held July 15 to authorize the creation of 200,000 shares of no par class A stock. The new stock is to be used in part as a substitute for cash in the payment of dividends on the present common stock in order that the company may use funds for a vast expansion program recently prepared.

In his communication, David May, chairman, tells the stockholders that if the plan is approved it is the purpose of the directors immediately to declare dividends on the present stock for an entire year on the basis of one share of new no par class A stock for each ten shares of common held, to be paid quarterly. The directors will also declare, reads Mr. May's statement, a full year's dividend on the new stock which will be placed on a $2 annual basis.

The new stock will be callable at $30 a share and accrued dividends and in case of liquidation will share equally with the common up to that amount.

PRICE OF WHEAT HELPED BY FEAR OF WET HARVEST

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Fears of a wet harvest in the southwest with heavy rains in parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas with development of export business in old crop winter wheat via the seaboard, with France the buyer combined with a better class of buying lifted wheat prices 1½@1⅞c from the early low point with July touching $1.40¼. The finish was at the top with net gains of ⅝@1¼c, with July $1.40⅛@1.40¼; September, $1.35⅞@1.35¾, and December, $1.38⅛@1.38¼.

July corn sold down to 70¾c early or within ¼c of the lowest figure on the crop, but rallied later with wheat and on short covering, and the finish was at net gains of ⅜@⅞c, with July 71⅞c; September 77 to 76⅞c, and December 77¾ to 77⅝c. Oats were ⅝@¾c higher, with July 41⅞ to 42c and September 42¾c. Rye was ⅛@⅝c lower, with July 91½c and September 94⅝ to 94½c.

Cash Wheat Holds Firm.

The firmness in cash wheat in the face of the impending movement of new wheat in the southwest caused considerable comment, as new hard winter at Wichita, Kas., sold at $1.64, equal to about 25c over Chicago July, suggesting that a radical readjustment would be necessary between cash and futures, and some traders looked for the July to gain on the cash. The July-September spread was about 4⅝c at the last, against 4c at the finish on Monday.

French cables were sensationally bullish, some claiming that the crop was in a critical condition, and the unfavorable outlook in that country was reflected in the purchase of 175,000 bu old crop No. 2 red in the last week from more eastern points, said to have been the first sales of the season. At the same time the general demand at the seaboard was relatively slow, with business in all positions estimated at 300,000 bu.

Scattered rains were reported in the American and Canadian northwest and northwestern markets failed to show the strength here. Selling against offers was a factor in checking the upturn. Houses with eastern connections were on the buying side early and absorbed the surplus in the pit. The local shorts became uneasy toward the last and covered freely.

Liquidation in Corn.

Liquidation was on in corn early, with some stop loss orders uncovered on the way down, but the market developed an oversold condition and rallied 1¼@1⅝c from the low point. Weather conditions over the belt generally favorable for the crop, but the recent heavy rains has slowed down the movement in the interior materially. Spot basis here was unchanged to 2c higher.

Oats showed stubborn resistance to selling pressure, and while lower early with hedging pressure a factor, the market rallied quickly. There was changing between September and December at 1½c difference, while the July-September spread narrowed ¼c. Crop reports were generally unfavorable, especially from parts of the northwest.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

In the past week there has been export business in old crop winters, with France credited with having taken 175,000 bu No. 2 red, the grain being sold from Ohio points. The seaboard reported a small demand from Europe with sales in all positions around 300,000 bu, including some old crop. There were several bids at New York for new crop winters below a workable basis. Some new hard, July 20-Aug. 5 shipment, Galveston; sold at 11c over Chicago September.

Chicago handlers sold 1,000 bu wheat, 57,000 bu corn, and 87,000 bu oats to the domestic trade, with 50,000 bu corn and 25,000 bu oats to go to store.

Milling demand for cash wheat continues fairly good, with the spot basis here steady to 1c higher, while hard winter at Kansas City was unchanged to 2c higher, as compared with July. No. 2 hard there selling around 25½c over the future. Omaha basis was 1@2c higher. Interior mills bought wheat at Oklahoma points at equal to the Kansas City spot basis, with a car of new wheat sold at Wichita at equal to $1.64 Chicago, or about 25c over July. Minneapolis mills reported as out of the market. Spring wheat at Minneapolis was 1@2c lower as compared with futures.

Demand for cash corn here was better and the basis steady to 2c higher, with low grades showing the most strength. No. 2 grades sold at ¾c over to ¼c under; No. 3 grades, 1½@4c under, and No. 4 grades, 3½@6½c under July. Outside markets were unchanged to ½c lower.

Offerings of cash oats were not large, but demand only fair, with the basis ¼c higher to ½c lower. No. 2 white brought July to ½c over and No. 3 white July to ¼c over.

HOGS AND CORN

The relationship of price of hogs and corn is being freely discussed in various quarters because of the high price for hogs and the low price for corn. Bartlett-Frazier company say records of a long series of years show there is nothing uniform in the relationship of the two. In less than three years it has ranged from 6@7 to 17@5. High priced hogs have merely evidenced that hogs are scarce, and as corn is largely used for feeding to hogs a scarcity of hogs means a smaller outlet for corn. It is well to say that farmers can get high prices for their corn by feeding it, but this is only true when they can get the hogs to feed corn to. Both logic and experience show buying corn merely because hogs are high in price is not only unsound in theory but is exactly contrary to the real meaning of price disparity between the two.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The way in which the wheat market resists efforts of the bears to force prices down and its sharp comebacks at times have made it more two sided and to some extent it has gained friends on the buying side. This is especially the case with operators who watch the foreign crop and weather situation. The general belief is that the market is a trading affair for the time being and that wide price changes are not to be expected.

Allen Logan of Logan Bros. Grain company, Kansas City, one of the best posted men on southwestern crop conditions, estimates the wheat crop of Kansas at 137,692,000 bu. It is based on reports from every country in the state. He says that possibly Kansas may have 140,000,000 bu as the result of recent rains. Mr. Logan joined the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday and will be on the Bartlett-Frazier company wire.

Wilbur W. Young, manager of the Southwest Grain Growers' association, was elected to membership in the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. His headquarters are at Kansas City, but the chief offices of his association are at Wichita. Mr. Young estimates the wheat crop of Kansas at 115,000,000 bu. "We are selling new wheat in Oklahoma to mills at $1.38," said Mr. Young. The grain growers' association has a 1,000,000 bu elevator at Kansas City and a 500,000 bu house at Wichita. They propose to do a regular commission business, handling grain for farmers, but do no speculating.

A Paris cable via Winnipeg that came late in the day had a strengthening influence on the wheat market and said the wheat crop in France was bordering on disaster. Several Chicago houses cabled last night for a confirmation of the report.

The wheat situation on the north Pacific coast is unsatisfactory. The crop is in excellent condition, and while wheat is being shipped out that was bought some time ago new business with the orient and Europe is not in evidence, and reports from Portland yesterday said there would be a carryover of 10,000,000 bu from the 1925 crop.

Broomhall in his international wheat review says North American crops are the chief influence there and are considered bearish. The new European wheat crop in some parts is below the average, but otherwise is thought to be fair to good. Continued reports are that European native wheat is nearly exhausted and much will be required to be imported until Aug. 15, and further quantities if harvest is delayed. The present large world shipments, he says, are giving the buyers more confidence, and they are interested in only nearby positions.

PROVISIONS ADVANCED

Packers and shorts were good buyers of provisions, and, with lessened selling pressure, owing to the recent break of 60@70c in lard, there was better feeling, despite the break of 1s@1s 6d in lard in Liverpool and lower prices with larger arrivals of hogs than expected.

Closings were at the best of the day, with lard up 15@20c, short ribs 7½c, and bellies 30@32½c. Cash trade was fair and values easy. Local stocks increased 4,685,000 lbs in two weeks, to 42,585,000 lbs, against 66,657,000 lbs last year. Export clearances of lard were 2,017,681 lbs and of bacon 870,250 lbs. Prices follow:

COTTON SELLS OFF

Buying support was limited in cotton and with an increase in selling pressure and favorable weather, prices declined and closed with futures in Chicago 7@10 points lower and New York off 1@10 points. Spots in the latter market were off 10 points to 18.05c, and in New Orleans 22 points down to 17.03c.

Liverpool closed at 2@5 points higher. Temperatures of 100 were reported in Texas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas, with showers to good rains where the crop will be benefited, especially in the Carolinas. The trade impression is that a crop somewhat as large as last year's will be raised, and buying is slow except on breaks.

Trade reports in the main were pessimistic, with New Bedford mills operating at 75 per cent capacity. There is more cotton on shipboard than a year ago. Prices in leading markets follow:

DRY GOOD MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP)—Cotton goods markets today were quiet, with a further weakening tendency seen in print cloths, sheetings, drills and other unfinished lines. Hot weather is expected to stimulate retail distribution of styled fabrics. In wool goods lines trade continued quiet, with a little more interest developing in fall dress fabrics and cloakings and in some of the tropicals for another spring season. Burlaps were unchanged and quiet. Little change was noted in linens in primary channels, but distribution was said to be increasing in relation to past seasons.

"Concrete for Permanence" —and Commercial Banking

MODERN progress owes much to the increasing use of concrete. Concrete highways make city markets accessible to the farmer and the country accessible to the city dweller. Concrete bridges, viaducts and tunnels have made railway travel much safer. On the farm it is put to more than one hundred uses.

Cities obtain distant water supplies by means of concrete dams and pipe lines. Houses of enduring beauty are built of concrete. Lofty skyscrapers are erected on concrete foundations and fireproofed with concrete. Many of the greatest engineering feats of today would be impossible—were it not for concrete.

Such seasonal activities require great flexibility in storage facilities—and great financial flexibility in order to continue production evenly when sales are low and to carry stocks totaling millions of barrels. The banker extends commercial credit and the cement manufacturer and dealer work together in such a way that cement is always available to the buyer when and where he wants it.

Salient Facts About The Portland Cement Industry
- Capital investment estimated at $900,000,000.
- Ranks third among all industries in capital invested per worker.
- Shipments in 1925 valued at about $285,000,000.
- Production in 1925 more than 160,000,000 barrels.
- Used 40,000,000 tons of raw materials and 11,500,000 tons of coal in 1925. The largest user of pulverized coal.

First Mortgage 6% Fee and Leasehold Gold Bonds
(Safeguarded under the Straus Plan)

Being part of an issue of $3,100,000 of which $150,000 are general mortgage bonds subordinated to the balance of the issue

Dated: May 15, 1926.
Interest Coupons Payable: May 15th and November 15th.
Denominations: $1,000, $500 and $100.
Registerable: As to principal.
Maturities: Five to fifteen years.
Callable: On any interest date at 105 on or before May 15, 1931; at 103 subsequent to May 15, 1931 and prior to May 15, 1936 and at 102 subsequent to May 15, 1936.

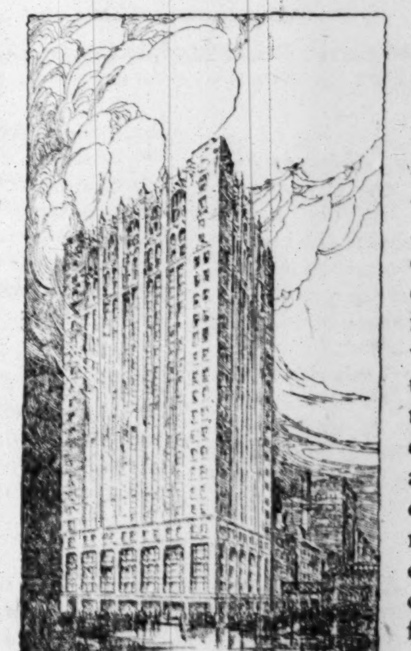
The borrower covenants to pay present or future state, personal property taxes not to exceed 5 mills on each dollar of principal and present and future state income taxes not exceeding 5% of the annual interest upon proper application. 2% Federal Income Tax paid by borrower.

An unusually attractive issue on a downtown Chicago office building, with a strong appeal to the conservative, intelligent investor.

1. Security: A direct closed first mortgage on a 23-story office building to be erected on the southeast corner of North Wabash Avenue and East Lake Street, and land thereunder held in fee and leasehold.

2. Rental Demand: We have financed many projects of this character in other cities, and have found them unusually successful. While Chicago has long been recognized as one of the principal medical and dental centers of the world, it is one of the very few large cities that has never had a building exclusively devoted to the needs of these professions and industries which produce their supplies and equipment. This building is being erected in response to a long standing and very definite demand and is said to be unique in that it is the first building undertaken by the two professions instead of by commercial interests, as well as the first to provide a professional center which would combine their commercial and social, as well as their professional activities.

3. Location: This is particularly well chosen for a building of this character. There has been a strong tendency among these professional men to concentrate in buildings along Wabash and Michigan Avenues in the north part of the loop. The transportation facilities are excellent.



The Chicago Medical Arts Office Building
(as it will appear when completed)

4. Character of Building: A handsome structure of Gothic design, it will be a notable addition to the outstanding buildings of Chicago. The first floor will contain stores and shops, the remainder will be devoted to sales and display rooms, offices of various professional and technical societies and associations, a two story banquet room, the quarters of the Chicago Medical Arts Club and office space especially equipped for physicians and dentists.

5. Earnings: Conservatively estimated at $371,518 net, which is in excess of twice the greatest annual interest charge.

6. Valuation: The lowest independent appraisal is $4,330,972, making the issue 68.2%.

7. Borrowers: The bonds will be executed by the Chicago Title and Trust Company as trustee for the Medical Arts Club, whose officers and directors include many of the leading physicians and dentists of the Middle West.

Priced to Yield from 5.95% to 6%.

We recommend these bonds. Call, phone or write for circular describing this issue in detail and ask for Circular L 137

6.60% with Safety
for Your July Investment

GOOD BONDS are scarce. The trend of interest rates is downward and it is the opinion of authorities that the decline will continue for some years to come.

As we approach the July Investment Season, we find ourselves with the most limited supply of bonds in years. Issues meeting the Stone standards have been extremely difficult to obtain.

But the securities we are able to offer are First Mortgage Bonds suitable to the requirements of the most conservative. They yield as high as 6.55 to 6.60 per cent.

Assure yourself of this most desirable yield for as long as twelve years by immediately requesting a list of these choice offerings, so that your selection may be reserved for you pending the receipt of your July funds. We will hold any of our bonds for you until July 15th.

Let us suggest that you call at our banking quarters, or, if more convenient, telephone Franklin 5600. To get this list of exceptionally fine long-term and high rate bonds by return mail, fill out and send us the blank below.

Please mail to me, without obligation, an advance copy of your July list of safe, high yield bonds.

New York, June 15.—(AP)—Switching of speculative interest from the steel and railroad shares to the oils and coppers featured today's stock market. Heavy profit taking, inspired by the belief that the market was entitled to technical reaction after the sustained advance of the last few weeks, and sporadic bear selling, based on the theory that the rally, having regained half the ground lost in the March reaction, was nearly over, brought about some irregularity. Trading showed a slight falling off in volume despite signs of increasing public participation, the day's sales aggregating 1,831,000 shares.

Heavy buying of the oil shares was generally attributed to the strong trade position of the industry, reflected in reports of large current earnings by practically all of the leading companies and to favorable merger and dividend rumors. New high records for the year were established in this group by Marland, Panhandle Producers and Refiners, Lago, and Texas company, the extreme gains ranging from 1 to nearly 3 points.

New Life in Coppers.

Coppers took on a new lease of life as a result of the stiffening tendency of nonferrous metal prices, an increase of 15 points in lead being announced during the day. Federal Mining and Smelting jumped over 3 points to 71¾ and American Smelting moved up over 2 points to 128, but the others showed only small fractional changes.

General Motors continued its remarkable advance by touching another new high record for all time at 142⅝, yielding later to 141⅞, up ¾ net on the day. Mack Trucks, selling ex dividend, crossed 117 and then slipped back to 116¼, up 2½ net. Hudson showed a net gain of 1 point at 67, after having fluctuated between 65¼ and 68⅜.

U. S. Steel common encountered heavy realizing sales, closing a point lower at 135¾, after having touched 137 earlier in the day. Profit taking also brought about recessions of a point or more in Allied Chemical, American Locomotive, California Packing, Gotham Hosiery, Interborough Rapid Transit, Montgomery Ward, Pullman, U. S. Rubber, and Woolworth.

Pools Active in Specialties.

Easier money rates stimulated pool activities in several specialties. Case Threshing Machine was bid up nearly 4 points to a new high at 97¾, and Ward Baking B advanced nearly 3 points to 35 on a fairly large volume of trading. Net gains of 2 points or more also were recorded by Christie Brown, G. R. Kinney, National Tea, and Texas Gulf Sulphur.

Optional at 100 in numerical order on any interest date. Both principal and semi-annual interest (May 27 and November 27) payable in gold at the fiscal agency of the State of Washington in New York City. Coupon Bonds in denomination of $1,000, with one bond in the amount of $699.57. Legal opinion will be furnished upon request.

Longview is situated about ninety miles south of Seattle at the confluence of the Columbia and Cowlitz Rivers. It has a frontage of 7¼ miles on the former, and is a port of call for ocean-going vessels midway between Portland and the Pacific Ocean. Excellent rail transportation is furnished by four railroads and the Longview docks are accessible to the largest ocean-going vessels. The Columbia, which ranks second among the rivers of the United States both in length and volume of water, is from 2,500 to 3,500 feet wide and 30 to 65 feet deep at this point, forming a turning basin in which the largest cargo ships may turn under their own power. Because of its natural advantages and proximity to the timber stands of the Long-Bell and Weyerhaeuser interests, Longview was selected as the site for the vast lumber manufacturing plants of these companies. Plants have also been erected by other concerns, including the Longview Concrete Industries, the Pacific Straw Paper & Board Company, the Magor Car Corporation, and the Standard Oil Company. Longview, with a population of 11,000, has now more than 36 miles of paved streets, 115 miles of graded and gravelled streets, 68 miles of concrete sidewalks, 56 miles of water mains, and 30 miles of storm and sanitary sewers. The city has been laid out along model lines, and has excellent schools, a motorized fire department, a thoroughly modern hospital, and other public buildings. Two banks report combined deposits of $1,357,360.

These Bonds are issued by Longview, Washington, Local Improvement District No. 11 in payment to the Longview Company, a subsidiary of the Long-Bell Lumber Company, for a sewer system installed by the Longview Company and acquired from it by the City of Longview.

Guarantee: By agreement with the purchasers, these bonds are unconditionally guaranteed by endorsement as to principal and interest by the Long-Bell Lumber Company, subsidiary of the Long-Bell Lumber Corporation whose consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 1925, shows total assets of $104,463,001. Net profits of the former for the year ended December 31, 1925, were $4,445,454.

TRADE BALANCE FOR MAY SHOWS IN FAVOR OF U. S.

BY O. A. MATHER.

After four successive months in which the American people bought more from other countries than they sold to them our purchases of foreign goods was contracted sharply last month. Our exports also fell off, but not so sharply. The net result was that our world trade showed the first favorable balance since last December.

Our total foreign trade in May was $674,000,000, which was about $111,000,000 less than in April and $24,000,000 less than in May, 1925. It is likely that the British general strike during the first two weeks of last month was responsible for some of the slackening, altough trade usually contracts at this season of the year. However, our trade produced a favorable balance of $38,000,000, which compares with an unfavorable balance of $10,000,000 in April and a favorable balance of $43,000,000 in May, 1925.

Exports Drop $31,000,000.

Our exports last month were $356,000,000 a decline of $31,000,000 from April and of $15,000,000 from May, 1925. But our imports last month were only $318,000,000, a decline of $80,000,000 from April and of $9,000,000 from May, 1925. Our May imports, in fact, were the smallest for any month since November, 1924. Our imports, although smaller than a year ago, were larger than in 1924, 1923, and 1922.

Last month we sold nearly $19,000,000 less cotton than in April. But this was offset by our buying $10,000,000 less rubber and $9,000,000 less coffee.

As showing the approach of a world trade balance, our exports for eleven months of the current fiscal year totaled $4,414,901,000, while our imports were $4,126,752,000. Our favorable balance of $288,149,000 was $754,171,000 less than last year, and also the smallest since 1913, except in 1923. Compared with last year, exports declined $126,332,000, while imports increased $627,840,000.

Commercial Normalcy at Hand.

Signs of a commercial normalcy throughout the world are noted by the federal reserve board, which pointed out yesterday that gold is again the standard of value in most trading countries. The analysis is based on a study of conditions a year after Great Britain reestablished the gold standard and a majority of the commercial powers have followed suit.

The board said there has been a much more free movement of gold in recent months, although gold stocks are still under domination or control of many governments or their central banks, a condition which tends to hamper its free flow. This situation is somewhat responsible for the lack of harmony in commodity price levels in various foreign countries, although there has been a larger volume of international trading than in recent years.

Tuesday, June 15, 1926.

Day's sales...25,000 Year ago...34,000 Total, 1926...5,634,596 Year ago...6,137,852

Active shares in Chicago stocks were generally weak yesterday, with Illinois Brick leading the decline with a drop of 2¼, to 29½. U. S. Gypsum, selling sans dividend 40 cents, was 1⅛ lower, to 153. Auburn Automobile was off ⅝, and Yellow Truck and Balaban & Katz each closed ¼ lower. Kraft Cheese advanced 1⅝, to 60½, and National Standard was up ⅝. Borg & Beck was active, but closed unchanged despite the statement from the company that net earnings after all charges for the first five months of 1926 were $382,370, equal to $3.06 a share on 125,000 shares. This is in excess of the entire year's dividend requirements, the stock recently having been placed on a $3 annual basis. On small sales, Omnibus declined 1⅝. The six months' earnings statement of B. Kuppenheimer, made public during the day, shows net income of $265,145 after all charges and taxes, compared with $12,349 in the same period last year. Increased volume of sales and economies in operating costs were responsible for the improvement in net earnings, according to B. J. Kahn, chairman of the board. Initial trading in Kellogg Switchboard and Supply new stock was registered at 17.

Cleveland Plain Dealer,
Cleveland, Ohio

Attention: Mr. B. A. Collins,
National Advertising Manager

Gentlemen:

We have always believed firmly in the value of local newspaper advertising as an important adjunct to our national advertising campaign. In over forty trading centers, which we term "key" markets, we have selected one or more metropolitan newspapers to carry the Celotex advertising to the trade served by such publications.

In Cleveland, our investigation clearly indicated that the Plain Dealer was the advertising medium which we should select, and when our branch sales manager at Cleveland, Mr. G. S. Waddington, had established distribution in the Cleveland trading area, we inaugurated a substantial advertising campaign in the Plain Dealer.

Our first advertising was on a small scale in 1924. In 1925 our campaign was considerably more comprehensive and vigorous than the '24 campaign, and the results were unusually gratifying.

In 1925, we increased our sales organization in the Cleveland office and expanded the advertising program with the result that our sales record during 1925 showed increases in every month over the month of the preceding year. For example, April, 1925, showed an increase of 33% over the same month of 1924 — May, 190% — June 366% — September, 800% — November, 850%.

In 1926, our first quarter has showed a gain of 540% over the first quarter of 1925. During these three months our Cleveland office has sold 54% of its entire business in 1925. This despite the fact that their business in 1925 amounted to several hundred thousand dollars.

These results speak for themselves, and we attribute a substantial portion of our success to the influence exerted on our trade by reason of our advertising in the Plain Dealer.

Yours truly,
B G Dahlberg
President

BGD B

HERE is an outstanding sales success that should interest every advertiser who wants to stimulate his sales in Northern Ohio.

Read the letter at the left. It is from B. G. Dahlberg, president of the Celotex Company, nationally known makers of insulating lumber.

Note that like many progressive manufacturers, Celotex maps out its sales plan on the basis of "Key Markets," advertising in one or more newspapers in each. Note, too, that like 964 other national advertisers in Cleveland's great 3,000,000 Market, Celotex uses the Plain Dealer ALONE.

"In 1925," says Mr. Dahlberg, "our Cleveland office showed increases every month over the same month of the preceding year • • • • • •

"In 1926, our first quarter has shown a gain of 540% over the first quarter of 1925. During these three months our Cleveland office has sold 54% of its business in 1925 • • • • • •

"We attribute a substantial portion of our success to the influence exerted on our trade by reason of our advertising in the Plain Dealer."

Here, the Plain Dealer ALONE will sell it.

The Plain Dealer has done as much if not more than any other newspaper in America to analyze its market from the standpoint of advertising response. The entire summary of facts and figures is available to you. Write us or call the nearest Plain Dealer representative.

The Law of the Talon

By Louis Tracy.

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Parke, Hudson Bay company's agent at Moose Lake, is greatly disturbed by a news item in an English paper announcing the coming marriage of Alistair Spencer Panton to Eileen Grant and referring to the prospective bridegroom as the heir apparent of Lord Oban, whose only son, John Bridgnorth Panton, disappeared some years ago and whose death is about to be presumed by law. Parke decides to leave Moose Lake and go back to England. Arrived at Edmonton, he tells Mr. Leslie, the temporary head of the Hudson Bay company, that he is John Bridgnorth Panton. Maple, Leslie's daughter, is a sympathetic listener to the tale, and she encourages her father to help young Panton.

In the meantime Eileen Grant is married in London to Alistair Panton. Immediately after the ceremony she learns that John Panton is alive and is on his way to England to claim an inheritance left him by his aunt. Lord Oban, John Panton's father, tells Eileen that his son had been dismissed from the army for cowardice under fire and drunkenness and that he is unable to forgive him. Eileen goes off to Inverlochtie with Alistair as planned, but she tells him that she will not live with him as his wife until the matter about John is settled to her satisfaction.

John, accompanied by his dog, Spot, arrives in England. He carries a letter of introduction to Mr. Leslie's brother, a lawyer living at Wimbledon. The Leslies invite him to stay with them, and he accepts their hospitality. Shortly afterward Maple arrives.

While walking through the streets of London John meets an old army friend, Sir Arthur Frensham, who tells him that he has evidence that Panton had been drugged by one of his men on the fatal day he refused to lead his men out of the trenches.

John imparts this bit of information to Mr. Leslie, and the latter calls a meeting at the house of Inspector Winter of Scotland Yard; his assistant, Furneaux; Mr. Mountford, judge of the Probate court, and Frensham.

Eileen reads letters which come from John to his father and to Alistair, and she is confirmed in her belief in his innocence. She quarrels bitterly with Alistair.

INSTALLMENT XXXIII.

A MEETING IS ARRANGED.

The telephone rang. Mr. Leslie handed the receiver to John.

"Mr. Furneaux wants a word with you," he explained.

"Free this evening, Mr. Panton?" he inquired.

"Yes. That is to say, I had planned a long walk with Spot, and a belated meal somewhere up the Thames valley."

"Sorry to disappoint Spot. Tell him I'll forward a young rabbit, nicely skinned. I want you to come slumming with me. You will probably meet Connington."

John had grown sensitive these days. He shrank away from the phone as though its mere physical contact was disagreeable.

"Is that really necessary?" he said.

"Well—I think so. Wear your oldest lounge suit. And bring Spot. That intelligent hound should be introduced to the burrows of Soho."

"Are you serious?"

"I am never otherwise. It's awful to go through life being misunderstood, but that seems to be my lot. To prevent anything of the sort marring a pleasant evening, let me make clear that you and Spot are invited to dine with Winter and me and another of our men named Sheldon at the Ristorante Milano in Dean street, kept by one Vittorio Pucci. Eight o'clock sharp, first floor, first door. If there is any festivity at Wimbledon you can promise to be home by ten-thirty."

"Of course, I shall be glad to dine with you——"

"But you're half hearted about the other fixture. Why not? Still, it may be helpful, and kindly remember that we're doing things for you which might lead to a departmental row if they get known higher up."

"Sorry. I am not unmindful of that aspect of the business. I—er——"

"Yes. Don't say it! If we pull off anything worth while I'll tell you Winter's favorite brand of cigars. I'll not let you off so cheaply. I've had my eye for months on a half dozen of 1815 brandy—one of the last consignments in the market of a genuine corpse reviver. A single tot would make Tutankhamen sit up in his gold coffin and take notice."

Nevertheless, John sighed as he replaced the instrument.

"I'm an ungrateful blighter," he said. "Every one wants to be kind, and I stall them off."

"Not quite so bad as all that," said Leslie. "Make up your mind to turn over control to me for a month, and you'll be surprised to find how the tangle will unravel itself. What did Furneaux want? . . . Ah, that may be quite important," he went on when John had explained. "I have known the little man many years, and cannot recall one absolute failure when he allowed any case in dead earnest. He has some extraordinary theory, based on telepathy, I suppose, that when two people vitally bound up in some mystery get together some magnetic subconscious current comes into play between them, and it affects him. Of course, as a hard headed Scot, I scoff at such nonsense, yet if I had wronged you and Furneaux got us together in the same room I should be worried, afraid of making some slip, needlessly careful of what I said or how I acted. Therein, perhaps, lies the true explanation of his almost uncanny guessing, for it can be nothing else."

Some one knocked on the door.

"May I come in?" cried May Leslie's voice.

"No," said her uncle.

The door opened, and the girl popped her head inside.

"Just one sec'," she bubbled. "Arthur is here, John, and wants to know if you will make up a four for Hurlingham tomorrow. It will be a rather good knock—Indians vs. Argentines."

"It's the last thing I would dream of doing," was the ungracious answer.

"So I said, and auntie doesn't care for polo—it frightens her. So Arthur is taking little me. I just invited you so as to stop you from being peeved because you were dropped for the afternoon."

"I asked for that, and got it," was John's comment when the door closed.

"Frensham strikes me as quite a nice young fellow," said Leslie, indulging in his favorite trick of saying something apparently not bearing on the point at issue.

"One of the best," agreed John, heartily. "He seems to have cottoned onto your niece. If they make a match of it they will be an ideal pair. May will put just the right amount of pep into Arthur."

Leslie nodded. He had not expected so direct a challenge. He wondered what May herself would have said had she heard.

"You may be right," he said. "Of course, you must have acquired some knowledge of the ways of Canadian girls, but I don't think you are a Solomon when it comes to understanding the feminine complex. May has been here now three consecutive summers, and has given what she calls the 'once over' to scores of young men, but I haven't noticed that she is eating her heart out in secret sorrow."

John felt he had been snubbed effectually. He did not care. The prospect of meeting Connington had soured him for the day. Indeed, the notion had occurred to him that May Leslie would listen if he began to whisper in her ear, but it was obviously impossible that he should marry any nice girl while he was under the cloud which threatened to darken his whole life. It was exactly this nebulous belief, or half impression, which had begun to soften his harsh judgment of Alistair. If his own blackened character were the real bar, wherein did Eileen differ from May, or either from any other woman? His father was right. The mere idea was "preposterous" in itself. He passed Lord Oban's letter across the table, and rose.

"Answer that as you think fit, sir," he said. "I'll obey orders, never fear."

Leslie, left alone, busied himself at once in drafting a reply.

It did not take him long. Writing noncommittal words had made up a large part of his business career. Yet, when the text was to his liking, he did not hurry off to the city but sat for some minutes in deep thought. And it is probable, if his thoughts had been given utterance to, they would have taken some such form as this:

"When a proud man has been crushed by an almost intolerable disgrace he seldom or never recaptures the joy of life. Some heedless natures would become convinced of their own innocence, and, having washed clean the slate for themselves, would assume the same leniency from all the world. But such people were never really proud in spirit. John is different. He cannot ever be brought to hope that his lost honor may be retrieved. If it is—and I see a fair prospect of ultimate success in the pending investigation—what will be the outcome? There I am wholly at sea. The one thing I do know is that Miss May Leslie must be content with a baronetcy, if she can get it, instead of a barony. At any rate, John is a good lad, and worth saving, and, if I can help it, he will neither break the entail nor give any fantastic pledge of celibacy in favor of the Inverlochtie gang."

So Mr. Leslie was not only rather annoyed by Alistair's maneuvering but more than a trifle hard on Eileen if she were included in the comprehensive discourtesy of the word "gang."

Good morning!

The plot is the one with an "ia" kingdom in it. You know—the plot where the royalists are dead set on marrying the princess to somebody she doesn't like—hell bent on separating her from the young American she loves and who, in the nick of time, breaks into her old castle, saves her from plotters, revolutionists and the stately white haired grande dame who has so carefully chaperoned her, and marries her to democracy and himself. Sure—you know the plot!

The name of the little kingdom is, this time, Spendosia, I think. Anyhow the name begins with an "S" and ends with an "ia." The princess meets the young American during the war. He is a doughboy, whose face his nurse has never seen because it's all bandaged up. The princess is the nurse. Patient doesn't know nurse is princess.

What remains for the picture to show you is how the American finds the princess. The adventures of Mr. Dix et al in their quest are ridiculous and conducive to much light laughter.

The star proves himself again a pleasing entertainer. Chester Conklin as the unwanted bridegroom, Gunboat Smith as a belligerent buddy, William Ricardi as the prime minister, Alyce Mills [she looks and acts just like Doris Kenyon] and others in the cast furnish intelligent and likable support.

The subtitles are snappy. The action is fast. Scenery and costumes are nicely tailored to fit the occasion. Photography's okay and the director, good humoredly endeavoring to brighten the corner where you are, succeeds admirably in his attempt.

"SHIPWRECKED"

THE CAST.

Schildkraut, Alone, Makes This Worth Seeing

Joseph Schildkraut's fine acting is the main reason why you should see this picture.

Also the director's pretty good. Also, the supporting cast is capable and scenery and photography are quite the berries. The plot, however, isn't much.

A woman wanted by the police is saved from drowning by a fascinating chap, who for some reason you learn not of, has shipped on a trading vessel as cook's helper. The woman shows up there as a stowaway and the captain, "a white man turned yellow," makes violent and unregenerate love to her.

The fascinating helper again comes to her assitance and for his valorous efforts in her behalf is imprisoned in the hold. A storm wrecks the boat. Captain and sailors take to the boats. The woman, the helper and the cook are left on the wreck and are finally cast ashore on a tropic island called "Devil's Haven."

Here live—besides the natives—a kindly old white trader [like the chap in "Rain"] and the flotsam and jetsam who are the outcasts of all nations.

The captain and crew also make the island. Melodramatic events ensue. The woman and the helper, however, emerge tranquil at last from the emotional storms that stress everybody, take the old trader's advice to forget the past and, in this obscure corner of he world where they're not known, make a clean start and—finis!

Mr. Schildkraut, looking in this film like Priscilla Dean, Peter Pan, "The Spirit of Evil" in "The Miracle" and the Boy Christ successively, does brilliant work throughout and in some of the café scenes on the island puts over some of the greatest bits of dramatic portrayal you've seen in many a day. His technique is unusual and full of charm.

Without him "Shipwrecked" would qualify as a mediocre thriller. With him it becomes a film quite worth seeing.

See you soon!

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question, Mrs W. B. Gill, 121 East William street, Hammond, Ind., was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you agree with Booth Tarkington that women will wear garb like men in fifty years?

Where Asked.

Wacker drive, at Wabash avenue.

The Answers.

Miss Helen Harmon, 7216 South Shore drive, home girl—Agree with that idea? No. Women are too vain for that. They will not wear the same type, style, cut, color of clothes the year around as men do. It would be more like women to have a new style, in one particular or another, every day of the year.

F. L. La Rock, 443 Oakdale avenue, printer—No. The feminine sex never will dress like the men. Few women are inclined to go to extremes in dress. There have to be oddities in all things, and some people take particular pride in being odd. But women in general are not odd enough ever to dress like men.

Miss Mollie Sommerfield, 2510 West Lake street, Minneapolis, Minn., stenographer—I wouldn't be surprised if they did. Some of their sports clothes are much like men's now. Their swimming clothes are about alike. Some of their haircuts are absolutely the same.

George Moorman, 1048 McCormick building, advertising solicitor—I don't agree with Mr. Tarington. I imagine he is trying to kid us. Perhaps he is looking for some free advertising. Anyhow, his imagination is working. I would hate to see my wife dressed like a man.

Miss Mabel Catherwood, 807 31st avenue, North, Minneapolis, Minn., stenographer—Women are getting closer to that every year. In Minneapolis there is greater extreme and variety in woman's dress than you see in Chicago. In some ways men are better off; but we don't have to wear as many clothes as they do.

Gold Coast Children to Give Two Plays for Tribune's Ice Fund

With a generous boost of $188.50 as the proceeds of the benefit given Monday by the old convict ship Success, in spite of the downpour of rain, and with two more benefits in immediate prospect, the chances appear to be favorable for a considerable measure of success this season for THE TRIBUNE free ice fund.

Next on the program to help out this philanthropy, which provides many days of comfort despite the summer heat in homes where the family purse is too slim to permit the luxury of ice to preserve the food for working adults and the milk for growing babies, will be given by the junior pupils of Miss Grace Hickox. They will stage a double performance next Saturday morning and afternoon for the fund.

These gold coast children will produce at the Hickox studio in the Fine Arts building, 410 South Michigan avenue, the two plays they presented more than a week ago at the Juvenile Detention home—"Jack and Jill," and the fairy scene from "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Fifty cents will be charged for admittance to either of the performances, and the entire proceeds will go into the ice fund. The children who will take part in both plays, all of whom are possessed of unusual talent, are Josephine Spiegel, Audrey Latham, Ruth Williams, Ellene Bartels, Ruth Spiegel, Juanita Niehoff, Betty Carey, and Margaret Beebe.

The second benefit to be given for the fund will be a vaudeville show, to be presented by the Lake Shore Athletic club for members and their guests, at the Furniture club, on the top floor of the Furniture Mart on June 30. Five turns of Orpheum circuit entertainment will follow a dinner to be held early in the evening.

Yesterday's gifts to the free ice and the Camp Algonquin funds were:

Freckles Barry and Bride Stop for Chat

Honeymooning back to Hollywood, Wesley Barry, 18 year old film star, and his bride of a day, Mrs. Julia Wood Barry, 23 years old, stopped over in Chicago yesterday between trains and beamed happily upon the crowds that met them at the Union depot.

"No, my wife will absolutely not appear in the movies," the freckled faced star declared. "I'm going back to play the same kind of 'kid' parts, but I want Julie for my best friend and severest critic and nothing else."

Sweetly acquiescing to her husband's remarks, Mrs. Barry explained that they were engaged for six months, that they met in Terre Haute, Ind., two years ago, where she was in vaudeville, and that they will start housekeeping in Hollywood immediately.

CLOSEUPS

A press note informs me that "Cecil De Mille has chosen 'The King of Kings' as his next pictorial achievement. The Life of Christ with all of its dramatic import will be an integral unit of this newest masterpiece."

What is your reaction—if any—to this announcement?

Beatrice Lillie and Jack Buchanan, whom you saw in "Charlot's Revue," have been signed by Mr. De Mille to appear in pictures. The name of the film they are to make will be announced shortly.

Tomorrow, at 4:15 p. m., Balaban and Katz's new theater, the Norshore, opens. It's located at Howard avenue, between the "L" and Clark street, is beautifully decorated, and has 3,500 seats—mostly on the main floor. Northsiders are cordially invited to come on over and have a good time.

THEATER

"Betsy Nobody" is something new that's to be put into the Cort July 4, when Miss Flora Le Breton will make her Chicago début. Stanley Riggs also is to be prominent in the cast. . . . Miss Le Breton was brought from the other side some time ago by Henry W. Savage to perform as a star in a piece named "Lass o' Laughter," for which nobody seemed to care much.

Miss Judith Anderson, who spent weeks and weeks and weeks of last season in Chicago as co-star with Holbrook Blinn in "The Dove," is to be the bill-topper next week in the Palace, where she will perform in a sketch named "Thieves," by Vincent Lawrence.

Miss Leona Hogarth, Claude Copper, and Frank Sylvester are well-knowns who will be with Frank Keenan in "Black Velvet," bulletined for July 5 in the Playhouse.

Charles Washburn, who used to check up the assignment-book on the daytime city-desk of THE TRIBUNE, is having a piece of his writing, "Stray Sheep," tried out near New-York, and expects to have it performed soon in that town.

Miss Laura Hope Crews' name appears with Harry Wagstaff Gribble's in the credit-line of a play called "Steve's Return," wherein Eugene O'Brien is to be exhibited. . . . He had a measure of cut-rate popularity in Chicago about three years ago in a piece named "Steve," wherein Mrs. Whiffin took part.

Morris Harvey, who was a good comedian in revue when I last saw him in London, seems to have taken the fancy of New-York by his performing in "The Merry World," a show made up about half-and-half of London stuff and what are known in the trade as "American features."

Miss Mary Eaton, for whom Mr. Ziegfeld has done a deal of training in the notion that the American drama would be all the better for another performer like Miss Marilyn Miller, is to emerge as a pro-forma star under Mr. Dillingham, who is having something made ready for her by Miss Anne Caldwell and Jerome Kern. These busy persons are making the vehicle for Miss Beatrice Lillie, also. . . . It is added that Mr. Dillingham is bargaining with a "well-known comedian" to assist Miss Eaton; and, with all good-wishes for the frail little dancer's success, she will have fewer vicissitudes in her venture if the "well-known comedian" prove to be a good com[illegible] also.

Shelley's "The [illegible]" which is printed proof that the author wasn't a playwright, has been taken off after what any authentic little-theater addict would call a run in New-York. I forget if the theater wherein it was performed seats twenty-seven or forty-one persons: I merely recall that its capacity is in excess of sixteen persons, not counting room for two standees.

Reginald Denny Here to Pick Elks' Beauty

Reginald Denny, moving picture star, who arrived in Chicago yesterday and acted as judge at the first of a series of reviews of Elks' Beauty Derby candidates at the Trianon ballroom last evening, will be the guest of the Elks at a luncheon this noon at the Hotel Sherman.

While Mr. Denny is in town, he will serve as judge in the contest to find the most beautiful girl in Cook county to be "Miss Fidelity," queen of the 1926 Elks convention, it was announced by Max Hyman, chairman of the contest committee.

Emmett Faulkner of the firm of Collins & Inglis, 159 North Michigan avenue, denies he had anything to do with the assault on Policeman West in Melrose Park Sunday, June 6, as mentioned in THE TRIBUNE of June 7. U. of Chicago Fund Is Raised to $13,000,000

767 Receive Degrees at 141st Convocation.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

New gifts of $1,027,250, bringing the total in less than two years since the development program began to $13,000,000, were announced yesterday by President Max Mason at the one hundred forty-first convocation of the University of Chicago, held under canvas at Hutchinson court.

With the announcement of funds received came the statement that the university would establish a new school for nursing leading to the degree of bachelor of science and designed to set a standard for nursing in the country. An agreement has been made with the Illinois Training school for nurses by which, through a gift of $500,000, the properties of the school will be transferred to the university after arrangements are complete for the care of Cook county patients now attended by nurses in the school. An endowment of $1,000,000 is yet to be sought for the school. The establishment of a graduate library and the founding of five distinguished service professorships to enable men of eminence in science or letters to pursue important investigations at the University of Chicago are enterprises made possible by some of the gifts announced, it was said.

The new contributors to the university and the amounts of their gifts follow: Robert Law Jr., $200,000; Frank P. Hixon, $200,000; Edward F. Swift, $50,000; J. S. Runnells, $10,000; Chauncey Keep, $50,000; Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, $50,000; Sewell Lee Avery, $250,000; B. E. Sunny, $36,000; Ernest E. Hamill, $50,000; D. Mark Cummings, $10,000; H. H. Porter, $10,000; H. H. Hitchcock, Silas H. Strawn, Louis E. Asher, Angus Roy Shannon, Benjamin V. Becker, Mrs. H. E. Goodman, James H. Douglas, John A. Holabird, Clyde A. Blair, Roy D. Keehn, Weymouth Kirkland, Mrs. Elizabeth Rankin Crossett, L. B. Vaughn, $5,000 each, and anonymous gifts, $45,000.

The donations of Robert Law Jr., Andrew MacLeish, previously announced; Frank P. Hixon, Sewell Lee Avery, and Charles H. Swift, previously announced, are to be used for the distinguished service professorships and $50,000 of Mr. MacLeish's gift to a visiting professorship.

The condition has been met for the receiving of $2,000,000 from the general education board, which is included in the total of $13,000,000.

Degrees were awarded to 767 students yesterday, bringing the total number of degrees for the year to 1,769. The attendance at the university for the year exceeded 12,000.

"Notwithstanding the large gifts the university is still inadequately supported," said President Mason. "More money is needed for social service, the medical school, for additional buildings, and for improvement in the salary scale."

Mrs. Arthur Aldis Is Reviving Playhouse Out Lake Forest Way

BY NANCY R——.

The season is well started out at the Compound, that gay little corner of Lake Forest over which the Arthur and the Graham Aldises preside. The head of the family has returned from his European jaunt; Mrs. Arthur Aldis is established for this month in the Playhouse; although the young Graham Aldises have slipped off for a fortnight in New Mexico and California, they aren't going to leave their pair of youngsters for long. The name of the newest arrival in their family, by the way, has been chosen; he is to be called Owen, for his great uncle, the late Owen Aldis, whose death in Paris last summer brought such sorrow to his family and friends. The wee bundle of humanity who is to have this name doesn't yet realize its dignity and importance, but as he grows up he will understand more and more the value of his heritage.

I didn't think, when I heard that Mrs. Aldis was going to live at the Playhouse during her early summer sojourn in these parts, that she could be there long without starting something interesting. And here she's at it right away.

She's already busy organizing, supervising and getting ready a charming little play to be given there next week, on the twenty-third, fourth and fifth of this month [unless a last minute change in dates is made on account of the visit of the crown prince and princess of Sweden]. For years, as you perhaps remember, the Playhouse was the center of dramatics in Lake Forest, and several of the "old guard," among them Mrs. Sam Chase, her sister, Mrs. Cecil Barnes, and Mrs. Charles T. Atkinson, are to take part in this summer's undertaking, a revival of one of the most popular enterprises in that community.

Day's News in Society

A children's horse show is to be given in Lake Forest on Sunday, July 4. Mrs. Austin F. Niblack is the moving spirit of the affair. Benjamin Leslie Behr and Capt. Dirk Van Ingen of Fort Sheridan are to be the judges and there will be eight or nine prizes for the youthful aspirants for equestrian honors. The show is to be at the Niblack place.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stanton Monroe of 64 East Elm street are in Ithaca, N. Y., for the graduation of their son, Henry S. Monroe, from Cornell. Mr. Monroe is also attending the reunion of his class, that of 1890. The Monroes are to return on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed of 191 East Walton place were in New York City last week to meet Mr. Goodspeed's mother, Mrs. Wilbur F. Goodspeed of 200 East Pearson street, when she landed from a trip abroad. They have all gone to Osterville, on Cape Cod, Mass., where Mrs. Goodspeed is to remain for the summer and where the younger Goodspeeds are to spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whitman of Evanston, accompanied by their son, John R. Whitman, and their daughter, Mrs. Manly S. Mumford (Helen Whitman), set forth yesterday on a motor trip east. Mrs. Whitman and Mrs. Mumford are to attend their respective class reunions at Smith college, after which they will proceed to Plymouth, Mass., where the Whitmans plan to remain for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Revell of the Drake were to sail last night for Europe, where they plan to spend the summer.

Mrs. Albert E. Leight of 435 Surf street and her young son, Edward Paul Leight, have departed for their annual summer stay at Pike Lake lodge at Fifield, Wis. Mr. Leight plans to join them for week-ends until their return about Aug. 1.

C. W. Spofford Re-elected Head of Music Festival

C. W. Spofford was reëlected president of the North Shore Music festival at a meeting in Evanston last night. The members voted to confine the festival next year to a single week. This year the usual number of concerts were given in Patten gymnasium, Northwestern university, but the program was spread over ten days. The experiment was not regarded as successful.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

The reception committee for the French delegates to the Eucharistic congress gave a dinner party last evening at the Ritz-Carlton for the visiting prelates.

The gardens of Mrs. Robert Bacon at Westbury, L. I., will be opened to the public on Thursday from 2.30 until 6 p. m. for the benefit of the wayside home for girls.

Shiny nose?
Here is a chance to prove for yourself that you CAN get rid of that oily, shiny look which ruins so many complexions.
A wonderful new cream called Vauv does it! Put it on in the morning, powder over it—and for hours your nose will keep just that dull, velvety look you want it to have. One girl says: "I have tried nearly every cream on the market, but Vauv is the first one that really does get rid of shiny nose. The longer I use it the less I have to powder. My skin seems to get smoother every day, and blackheads have disappeared."
Try it for yourself. Go to any drug or department store and get a 50c tube of VAUV. Use it for one week as directed. Then, if you are not entirely satisfied, mail me the tube and I'll refund your money and postage.

Leopard Changes His Spots and Bids Mate Follow Suit

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Mrs. Vance is a righteous, home loving woman, mother of three young children, and married to a man who is ambitious in a social way. A recent lucky stroke of fortune on the market leaves the man with money to spread out with. And he is "spreading" in directions not conformable with Mrs. Vance's more conventional viewpoint. In fact, he has cultivated a set in which Mrs. V.'s presence is considered in the light of a damper. They move a trifle swiftly for a woman who has some old fashioned ideas about mothers and wives and their duties. Drinking, smoking, risque story telling, and flirtations go on in the group and try as she will Mrs. V. cannot bring herself to accept them as a necessary part of her existence.

Mr. V. cares for his wife and children in his own way, but he is one of that type of men that leans toward the gayeties. A good enough sort—but a handful to manage, if you know what Mrs. V. means.

She managed him quite well until this stroke of fortune precipitated him into the life for which he always had a longing. Now his idea is to make her over to conform to the standards prescribed in the new social set. And she simply is not equipped lightly enough for it.

Because the other women all smoke, Mr. V. urges his wife to try her hand at it. Because the others drink, he'd like her to show a little more sportsmanship and step up to the punch bowl along with them. O, naturally he does not want her to be a chimney stack, nor a drink emporium—but just to be—well, a better fellow than she is.

The woman says she simply is not the type to fall in line and she cannot do it. She has learned not to be a killjoy, yet she is outside the ring, as it were. She has gone in for dressing better, as her husband requested and generously enough provides for. She loves the irresponsible darling and to hold him she believes she will have to sacrifice some of her fine ideals and step right along with him.

I don't think any woman ever held a man by sacrificing her better self. When a man marries a woman with ideals he does so because of those ideals. And they are what will hold him to the end, if he can be held.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

No Need for Exertion.

"Dear Miss Blake: I went steadily with a fellow who suddenly began acting indifferently. Should I wait until he makes the first move toward a reconciliation, act indifferently also, or still keep on being friendly?

"MAE."

'Twould be silly not to speak when you meet, dear. Greet him as you would an acquaintance, but I shouldn't put myself out to be friendly, Mae.

Elmer Debates Sax vs. Violin; Strings Victor

Though Moans and Toots Have Their Place.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Certain broadcasts last evening presented much material for thought, reflection, and discussion.

The problem of symphony orchestra versus saxophone orchestra and classical music versus syncopation arrangements of classical selections was literally thrust upon us in the first of a series of summer concerts by the Novelty orchestra, W-G-N, from New York, 8 to 9.

This orchestra probably does not differ materially from any modern dance orchestra, and there would have been nothing in particular noticeable about it had the announcer not asked us to note how effective this new instrumentation is when interpreted by a modern jazz-dance-syncopation orchestra.

From the several semi-classical compositions played it is plain that a saxophone dominating choir does not win over a violin dominating choir. Saxophone tones are not pure; violin tones are.

Violins give to an orchestra a life and a finesse that no combination of saxophones can equal.

It is clearly apparent, however, that a limited number of saxophones do add a smoothness, mellowness, and a body to orchestral music that cannot long be ignored by strictly classical symphony orchestras.

Incidental to this, the immensely popular Oriole orchestra, formerly of WEBH, was primarily a saxophone orchestra. Its successor, the Edgewater Beach orchestra, is a modified symphony orchestra. It can play classical selections with great purity. Its fox trot and Charleston playing must have been a revelation to many a listener last night.

For a record marking radio's musical progress we must hand it to the Whitney instrumental trio, WMAQ, 8:40, for playing Weber's only string trio (G Minor). Perhaps a bit old fashioned, but very pleasing.

Whatever one may say pro and con, Charlie Erbstein, WLIB, 9 to 10, is a magnetic drawing card. Among other reasons, it is apparent that we find with him the always effective dramatic situation of suspense and anticipation.

In the Tuskegee male quartet (colored), WMAQ, 9:25, we heard Negro Spirituals sung in a rugged, robust way that contrasted strongly with the smoother, more sentimental interpretation of our northern singers. Those who missed this program missed much.

FOLLOW PREXY'S CAR; HE GETS SHERIFF GUARD

Madison, Wis., June 15.—(AP)—Four students, desiring a pathfinder, were the innocent cause of President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin seeking protection of a sheriff's convoy in southern Wisconsin last night, it was disclosed here today.

Sheriff George Harrington, Walworth county, said Frank reported when he reached Elkhorn about ten o'clock last night that an automobile had followed his car from Lake Geneva. Frank and his wife were returning from Evanston, where he was honored with a degree of doctor of laws yesterday. The sheriff and two deputies escorted the Frank automobile to Fort Atkinson, about thirty-five miles distant.

John Irwin, Minneapolis, learning of the convoy, said he and three other students from the University of Arizona had followed Frank's automobile because they did not know the route to Madison.

YOUNG LAWYERS GIVEN COUNSEL BY CARLSTROM

That was the plea and advice of Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom last night to the graduating class of the Chicago Law school at the thirtieth commencement exercises of the institution held in the Oriental consistory auditorium, 919 North Dearborn street.

While not citing examples, Mr. Carlstrom hinted that many lawyers practicing criminal law were unethical in the defense of their clients.

"Should you choose to practice criminal law, do not align yourself with a set that has consistent disrespect for law and order," Mr. Carlstrom said.

The degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Mr. Carlstrom by Chancellor J. J. Tobias.

It's Easy to Peel Off All Your Freckles
The contrast between the freckles and the clear skin usually is so great that no bleach can be more than partially successful in obliterating the disfigurements. Mercolized Wax is far better; it literally peels off the freckles. Get an ounce of it at the nearest drug store and tonight spread on enough to completely cover your face; remove it in the morning with warm water. Repeat daily until every freckle has disappeared.
Rough, blotchy, pimpled skin, common at this season, may be entirely gotten rid of by this method, without discomfort or inconvenience. The effort is decidedly worth while, the new complexion obtained being so clear, smooth and youthful.

Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion
By IRENE CASTLE
Copyrighted 1926 by P. O. Beauty Features
Take Care What Kind of soap touches your face
The kind beauty experts use themselves—how to use
TO endanger a good complexion with an unproved soap is a folly. The only kind of soap to use on your face is a true complexion soap. Some soaps that are excellent in many ways are too harsh for the skin.
Launder, scrub, with any soap you wish. But if guarding a good complexion is your aim, take care. Use a soap made to protect it.
Thus Palmolive is so widely urged . . . a soap made solely for one purpose: to protect the complexion. A soap made by experts in beauty to be used freely and lavishly on the skin.
The accepted beauty method today is the simple rule that follows—Nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion." Leading skin experts urge. Thousands of beautiful complexions prove its results.
Follow this rule one week—Note the improvement that comes
Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.
Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.
Get real Palmolive

Discretion Is the Better Part of Both Valor and—Reducing

by Antoinette Donnelly

It would be a woman thirty pounds overweight and looking for a good excuse to continue being lazy who'd be heard loudly proclaiming that reducing was going to be the death of this country yet. Her sense of humor was not quite so keen as that of her fellow guests at a tea at which she was indulging inordinately in frosted cakes.

She had been reading in the papers, it seems, about the medical men getting together to see what they could do about this crazy reducing fad. And the only trouble with the profession, as she saw it, was that they didn't say half enough about the folly of fasting.

If it had been the guest seated down at the other end of the davenport who had done the talking, none of us present would have been surprised. It had been whispered about that she had reduced so far below normal that she was at present under medical care for the several disorders accruing from her folly. And hers was folly—the thing the medical profession is protesting against in connection with reducing.

It isn't the overweight individual they want to protect from the ravages of undernutrition. She can't be protected from what she is in no danger of. It is the woman whose normal weight should be 135, say, and who adopts a strenuous diet or goes in for pills, pellets, and drugs to make her silhouette the duplicate of young flappers.

Overweight is too serious an impairment to be encouraged by any body of men interested in health. The gravity increases with each additional pound.

According to the report of the Actuarial Society of America, mortality records prove that: Between the ages of 20 to 24, an excess of ten pounds is desirable. Toward 30 the weight should begin to taper. From 30 to 40 the weight may be slightly below the normal weight at 30, at least it should not exceed the weight at thirty. After 40 the weight can be 30 to 40 pounds below the average.

If the reducing program is carried out by healthful methods the woman over 30 can bring her weight down to normal without any danger whatever beyond having to take in her seams a few inches.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MRS. G. H.: MANY AUTHORITIES contend that improper diet of prospective mothers and young children is responsible for most of the dental troubles of children. Teeth and bones are made largely from phosphorous and calcium. Foods containing these chemicals are milk and leafy vegetables, such as lettuce, spinach, and cabbage. To develop hard, durable teeth, these foods should be eaten.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

Only Junk.

The most embarrassing moments of my life occurred recently when I, a bride of a few months, was in the intricate mysteries of house cleaning. I was just beginning to see the finish of my efforts when I had a call from my college chum, saying she was coming for a short visit.

As I still had quite a collection of various articles that I wouldn't have time to put into their proper places, I pounced on the hall closet as a place to store them until Ruth had gone.

The first evening of her visit hubby, while searching for something, opened wide the closet door just as Ruth was crossing the hall.

Not wanting her to think I wasn't an immaculate housekeeper, I said, "Close the door, dear. That's some junk to be disposed of, as I no longer want it."

Casting a sidelong glance at Ruth, I saw her staring intently at an object, and, glory, it was a beautiful vase she had given me for a wedding present!

Employing His Time Well.

My dog followed me into a dry goods store one day. While I looked at goods he began sniffing around behind the counter and no one paid any attention to him.

The clerk pulled aside a curtain to bring out another bolt of cloth. There stood the dog licking a platter of fudge which the clerks had set aside for themselves until a convenient time.

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

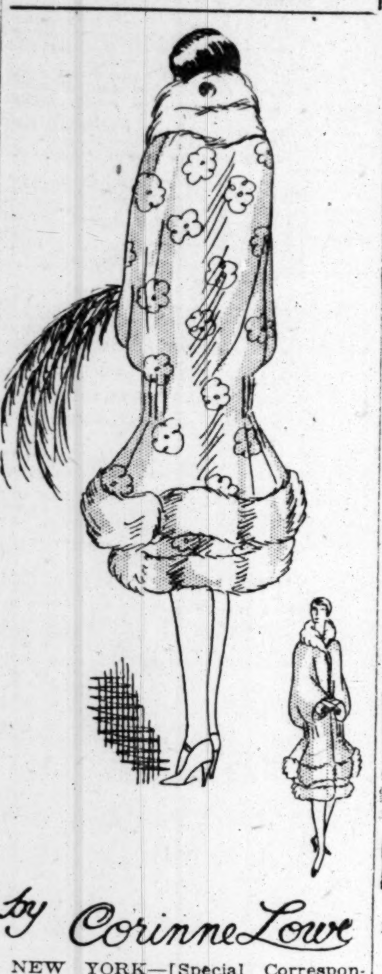
Stop cutting asparagus tips the latter part of this month if you expect to have a full crop of tender, well developed tips next spring. Asparagus is one of the vegetables that believes in laying away something for a rainy day; it stores up a food supply during the summer to use in making tips in the spring.

Too often the beds are neglected from the time the last tips are cut until the following spring. The real care of the bed begins about the last of June after the last cutting. Weeds must be cut in and around the plants. This gives the shoots a chance to grow in to full sized plants; the sun strikes the plants, and food is manufactured by the leaves stored in the roots from which the 1927 tips will spring up.

Asparagus thrives best when there is plenty of nitrogen in the soil. There is more nitrogen in asparagus than there is in either beets, carrots, celery, cauliflower, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, parsnips, potatoes, pumpkins, radishes, rhubarb, tomatoes or turnips. The nitrogen, of course, must come from the soil, which means that manure or fertilizer must be applied to the bed from year to year. A heavy mulching of well rooted plants in early spring furnishes plenty of nitrogen and, in addition, protects the bed in winter. Mulch the bed after the asparagus tops have been cut and burned to prevent the spread of rust. Don't cut the tops until the berries turn red.

Asparagus bettles, a troublesome pest in this part of the country, may be controlled by spraying and hand picking. Experts recommend using six tablespoonfuls of lead arsenate to a gallon of water in spraying the plants to kill bettles.

New Evening Wraps Are Transparent



by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK—[Special Correspondence.]—Summer wraps are a paradox. The more you can see through them the more complex and sophisticated they really are. In other words, the unlined wrap of transparent material is having a tremendous vogue, a vogue which extends from daytime to evening occasions. Undoubtedly the most constantly filmed of such filmy coverings is the black chiffon, which has established itself as being of paramount importance in evening gowns. In fact, one does not know where to look if one would avoid this fabric. It makes many of the smart day-time frocks, where it appears either independently or in combination with printed chiffon. And as for the wrap destined for summer luncheon or afternoon affair, here again black chiffon casts its irresistible spell.

Many of the evening wraps also elect black chiffon, but in this province Hamlet's favorite tone is rivaled by white and color. Many of these chiffon clouds are embroidered in allover patterns of metallic thread and are trimmed sumptuously with fur.

The accompanying sketch chooses exactly this technique. It is made of white chiffon and embroidered in roses of silver thread. White fox forms the collar and the two bands about the hem. Exquisite as are these materials, however, the line which they follow is even more arresting. For here is the dolman theme that is dominating our wrap horizon carried out in daring contours of simulated tunic and of a bloused effect achieved by groups of fine plaits at either side.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Two Coarse Breads.

We got a tip that it would be easier to knead the whole wheat breads and such, if, after the dought was stirred up and well beaten, it should be allowed to stand for ten minutes before the kneading of it. The idea was that it would be less sticky. From our experiment we should say there is nothing in the idea, and we cannot guess when it might be a good plan to proceed in this fashion, but perhaps with some flours it might be an advantage.

Here is the recipe we used in making the test: One cup of scalded milk, one cup of white flour, two cups of some whole grain flour [more or less], four tablespoons butter, one-fourth cup molasses, one teaspoon salt, one yeast cake.

Different flours take up different amounts of liquid for the same measure, and in this case we found that when whole wheat was used two tablespoons less than two cups seemed adequate, while when whole rye flour was used, it seemed to be an advantage to use two and one-fourth cups of it. We found that after either of them has been worked into the batter made with the milk and white flour, the mass is not perceptibly sticky or hard to knead.

Start the milk to heating and when it has warmed to tepid, take out one-fourth of a cup of it, and put the yeast cake to soak in it with a bit of sugar. After the milk is hot add to it the butter when taking it from the fire. When the milk has cooled to tepid, stir in the white flour, then work in the coarse flour and beat well in doing so. When it is well worked, take it out on a bread board dusted with a little white flour, or use whole wheat flour for this. Then knead until it is not sticky, butter the dough lightly, and set to rise. These coarse breads made with as much yeast as above will double in size in a little over an hour in this weather.

When this amount of dough is put into the little tins four and a half long by two and a half wide by about an inch and a half deep, it will make four of these loaves, which we find attract men greatly. Bake a little over one-half hour at 350 degrees. I like the whole rye loaves best when made as above.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK, by Jane Eddington, with menus for thirty meals and with chapters making a brief guide to correct eating, is on sale for 10 cents by mail or at the Public Service Office, 11 South Dearborn street.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Gladys was trying to carry on a conversation over the phone with her father, but she had a bad cold and found it impossible to make herself heard. Finally she put down the receiver and said to her mother, despairingly: "It's no use, mudder; I jus' can't make my words talk." D. F.

Robert and Roland are twins. Bobby is sick in the hospital with appendicitis. He can only see a few people each day.

His sister Eleanor and his twin, Rolly, were scrapping over which one should see him first. There was a great deal of argument. Finally Eleanor was about to give the final thrust, "I am oldest."

"Well, what if you are?" comes the quick retort. "I guess I am a closer relative than you are." R. H.

An Unusual Opportunity for Real Estate Salesmen.

Honestly and sincerely speaking, this is something far beyond subdividing, as usually done and commonly known.

It has all features to make it a remarkable opportunity for the salesman. FIRST AND FOREMOST YOUR PROSPECTS DEFINITELY IN SIGHT THROUGH A RECENT ORDER OF THE I. C. R. R.; advance in values definitely assured and obvious to any one. Highest grade improvements possible to obtain included in present prices; building activity now under way; the first highly attractive suburban development out of the city on the I. C.; a whole community, not merely the subdividers' organization, working with you and for you through the tremendous growth and expansion now under way (not merely contemplated, not "perhaps") of the entire town in which the property is located.

These are facts. Investigate and judge for yourself. Whether you are now engaged in selling real estate or have had no such experience, don't miss this opportunity. Put yourself in a position to make money on the coming I. C. electrification; in effect July next. REMEMBER, WE CAN SHOW YOU YOUR PROSPECTS. THE PROPERTY IS IN DEMAND. See F. M. MILLER, 332 S. Michigan-av., R. 543.

ARE YOU THE MAN?

DO YOU WANT $150 TO $500 WEEKLY.

If you have ambition and energy to step into the BIG MONEY class and can show A1 references, we can MAKE A REAL FUTURE for you.

We are always on the lookout for men of such type. If we haven't an opening now we'll file your application, investigate your references, and call you for the first vacancy. Call at Information Desk, 1201, 332 S. Michigan.

ARE YOU A CLOSER?

If you feel you have ability that is not being used, if you feel that you are not making the money you should be making, if you have not had the opportunity to show others that ambition is there to make good, backed up with the confidence in yourself, come in and see me. Ask for W. M. Anderson, Room 818, 160 N. La Salle-st., Burnham Bldg.

THE AQUITANIA

AT 5000 NORTH.

ENVIABLE LOCATION.

The location of the Aquitania is one of the unusual features about this splendid building that makes it a really fine place to live. It is situated on the very shore of Lake Michigan, where it has the advantage of the cool and refreshing breezes which are constantly blowing off the lake. And because of its clean and refined atmosphere and the freedom from noise and congestion a home in the Aquitania will contribute largely towards your physical comfort, and mental contentment.

DISTINCTIVE.

It can be truthfully said that this single word expresses a woman's preference for the Aquitania Apartments; a preference so firmly established that this beautiful, fifteen story building is today, rightfully regarded as one of the truly fine apartment residences in Chicago. And the apartments are distinctive, not merely because they have one or two outstanding features, but because they have been planned and arranged to give immeasurable pleasure, comfort, and happiness to those refined people who make them their permanent homes.

EQUIPMENT.

The high standard of the mechanical equipment is noteworthy in itself. High speed electric passenger elevators; automatic service elevators; modulating vapor heating system; garbage chutes to incinerator; modern laundry equipment; electric fireplaces; electric refrigeration; water filtering system, are part of the equipment provided.

CADILLAC

A Car You Can Be Proud Of

No Cadillac owner ever feels that he must apologize for the car he drives. He is proud of it—proud of its comforts, its appearance, its smooth riding.

Particularly in the V63 reconditioned Cadillacs, the qualities which would make you proud to own them are very real. These cars are next-to-current models, smart in appearance with brand new Duco finish and new tires. Mechanically they are A1, because they have been made so by Cadillac mechanics in the Cadillac service shop. V63s have the compensated crankshaft that absolutely eliminates vibration. Driving them is like coasting.

Back of every reconditioned V63—provided you buy it from Cadillac Motor Car Co.—is the regular NADA 90 day new car warranty. This is protection for the money you invest.
